

MINOR MENTION.

Telling About People and Events in the City and County

S. M. Nosler made a business trip to Broadbent and Myrtle Point Wednesday.

See the Liberty Theatre program on page three.

Genuine Ford Parts kept in stock all the time at Gardner's Garage. Phone 46J.

If you want plenty of pep, strength and energy, take Tanlac. Fuhrman's Pharmacy.

A hundred and fifty steel lockers for the students have just been installed at the Marshfield high school.

Mrs. Ed. Cunningham tells us that last year thirty hens laid 6,000 eggs for her. That seems like a big average.

Auto repairing a specialty at Graham's Garage. Satisfaction guaranteed.

See the Liberty Theatre program on page three for a line-up of pleasing entertainment.

Dr. Everett Mingo has been induced by the County Court to serve two months longer as county health officer.

Phone 508x if you want good dry wood. They have plenty and will give you quick service. $2.50 per tier delivered.

Money to Loan on City Property. No Commissions. W. G. Wright. 386f.

Orders for shrubbery and trees from the Washington Nursery will be received by W. G. Wright, at the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. office.

All kinds of Machine Work and Auto Repairing. Every job leaving the shop must be right or we will make it right. Gardner's Garage.

Bring your chickens to Migge's Meat Market. Highest cash price paid. We can use all you've got. Bring them in any day. 524x.

No waiting for your hemstitching when taken to Bonnie Walker's Millinery Store. Service and neat work is our motto. Let us convince you.

Mrs. H. N. Butler came up from Prosper Monday afternoon to attend the bi-weekly meeting of the Bridge club, which met with Mrs. Ed. Loren at that evening.

Rex Ingram of the "Four Horsemen" fame has done it again. See his latest, "THE CONQUERING POWER" at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Another dance at Goulds' Hall tomorrow night. Mrs. Eula Perrotti's orchestra and Ferrari, the popular accordion player, will furnish the music. Don't miss it.

The Sentinel and the Oregon Farmer both for $2.15 a year.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church is going to have a Fish Pond in the church basement on Sat., Jan. 21st, from 2 to 5 p. m. You are invited to come and enjoy the fun.

Tanlac is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks, because it creates a healthy appetite for wholesome food and strengthens and invigorates the digestive organs. Fuhrman's Pharmacy.

Acetylene welding, blaxing and machine work at Graham's Garage.

Spectacles and eye glasses quickly and skillfully repaired. Broken lenses duplicated. Optical repairs of all kinds done while you wait. Glasses fitted. By V. R. Wilson, "Optometrist." Coquille, Oregon.

Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino, who played the stellar roles in the "Four Horsemen," will appear in "THE CONQUERING POWER" at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday. See the program on page three.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rose were in from their Brewster valley ranch the first of the week. The steering gear on the car broke on Fairview mountain as they were going home Tuesday and they had to return to town, going out again Wednesday.

Dr. James T. Walls Sr., pioneer physician of Portland, died suddenly Sunday at the home of his son, Dr. James T. Walls Jr., dentist at Powers. Dr. Walls, who was 70 years of age, had suffered from paralysis for the past two years, and in June came to Powers to be with his son.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Story, formerly of Indiana, who have been in Coquille for the past two weeks, passed through Marshfield this morning on their way to Canby, where they will now make their home. "This is a fine climate," they declare and they like the country so well that they are going to change from the severe winters of the east, they say.—Times.

Byron Jackson came in Monday afternoon for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson.

Dr. W. H. Voss, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, will be at the Baxter Hotel on Wednesday, January 18th.

If you are feeling all worn out, if you can't eat, sleep or work with any satisfaction, you need Tanlac. Fuhrman's Pharmacy.

Irving Lamb has been quite seriously ill this week, with some typhoid symptoms, although Dr. V. L. Hamilton thinks it is just a severe case of grip.

Yesterday's Coos Bay Times "corrects" its story of the riot at the Methodist parsonage here last week by republishing the Sentinel's account of that affair.

Lois Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kay, who was reported to the county health officer last week as having scarlet fever, is very much improved now.

Miss Thora Peterson, one of the teachers at the high school building, has been confined to her home this week with a hard cold, which threatened pneumonia.

Austin Hazard did not return to the University when he went out to Eugene last week but came back home in a couple of days. He will remain at home until next fall.

The Coos County Business Men's Association has changed its methods somewhat and will be in charge of Mrs. Frances McLeod hereafter, A. E. Seaman having resigned.

Postmaster Leneve is in receipt of a letter from R. S. Knowlton at Fruitvale, Calif., in which he says that he has been quite seriously ill but that he is improving now.

Automobile owners have a week yet to provide themselves with 1922 licenses; but if they don't get them by next Friday, Jan. 20, they will be liable to get into serious trouble.

Hemstitching by Anna Morrison. Straight work, 10c; other work, 12 1/2c a yard, thread furnished. Prompt attention given to Mail Orders. Machine in Robinson's Store.

See "THE CONQUERING POWER," directed by Rex Ingram, the artist responsible for the great film masterpiece, "The Four Horsemen." See the new creation and be royally entertained at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday.

R. E. McCormack, of the High School teachers, has been out of school this week being down with typhoid fever. He is improving, however, and many not be out more than a week longer.

There are two cases of smallpox in town as reported by Dr. V. L. Hamilton this morning. Carl Lund, 19-year old son of Mrs. Wm. Zimmer, and Hazel Myers, daughter of Wm. Myers, of Lee, who is staying in the north end of town.

H. A. Koeppler, father of Mrs. L. L. Turner, of this city, came down from Portland yesterday for the meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers & Merchants Bank. He returned this morning.

Grandpa and Grandma Sweet, of this city, were delighted to learn that the roster of their descendants was enlarged on the 3rd by the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sweet, of Langlois.

Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino, who played the stellar roles in the "Four Horsemen," will appear in "THE CONQUERING POWER" at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday. See the program on page three.

The state examinations have been occupying the pupils of the higher grades yesterday and today. The sixth grade takes the examination in physiology, the seventh grade in geography and the eighth grade in the rest of the subjects.

Hemstitching done while you wait. Compare work with others. Satisfy your own curiosity. All work guaranteed. Prices 10 and 12 1/2 cents per yard. Mrs. Maybelle Ford's Millinery.

See "THE CONQUERING POWER," directed by Rex Ingram, the artist responsible for the great film masterpiece, "The Four Horsemen." See the new creation and be royally entertained at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Earl Leelis came in this morning for a four days' vacation at home. He arrived in San Francisco Wednesday from Honolulu, where the U. of O. football team played two games during the holidays. He expects to return to Eugene Monday evening.

John A. Jackson last week traded his 60-acre ranch out in Fairview for an 80-acre ranch nine miles south of Grants Pass. G. W. Wilcox, of Marshfield, is the man with whom he traded. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson intend leaving in a week or ten days for their new home, going overland by way of Okeburg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Ames left today for Klamath Falls, where they expect to make their home in the future.

Dr. V. L. Hamilton this morning reports Warren Davis as very much improved and practically out of danger.

Raymond Burns came down from Eugene last Monday for a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Burns.

Emile Caravita, of Marshfield, was adjudged insane in probate court this week and this morning was taken out to the asylum at Salem.

Friday, the 13th, was the day Dr. R. M. Brumfield was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Dennis Russell, but pending his appeal to the Supreme court for a new trial that event will not occur today.

M. W. A. and R. N. A. Install

The Modern Woodmen of America and the Royal Neighbors of America held a joint installation in their lodge rooms over Brandon's Confectionery last Tuesday evening with nearly fifty in attendance. Mrs. Edna Kelley was installing officer for the R. N. A. and M. O. Hawkins for the M. W. A. Those installed were:

Royal Neighbors
Oracle—Mrs. Belle Ellwood.
Vice Oracle—Mrs. Emma Oeding Chan.
Recorder—Mrs. Mary Kern.
Receiver—Mrs. Laura Brandon.
Marshal—Mrs. A. H. Oden.
A. Marshal—Mrs. Vera Peterson.
Musician—Mrs. L. E. Coats.
I. S.—Mrs. Jerry Peart.
O. S.—Mrs. Nola Finley.
Manager—Mrs. Violet Loren.
M. W. A.
Consul—C. D. Hodson.
Vice Consul—Guy M. Kelley.
Banker—M. C. Tozier.
Clerk—N. C. Kelley.
Escort—Guy Finley.
Sentry—Lloyd Mael.
Watchman—W. A. Keller.
Managers—Henry Belloni and Geo. Battey.

Physician—Dr. G. E. Low.
The Royal Neighbors put on a drill which elicited warm praise for its precision and perfection, and they also provided a banquet to which ample justice was done.

Organize For Quarter Million

The Coos Bay Union Realty company, with a capital of $250,000, has just been organized at Portland to take over the Kinney properties at North Bend and put them on the market. It begins like all the others by proposing to "compromise" the $125,000, or such a matter, taxes and penalties now due on the lands in this tract, and so help capitalize the scheme with a donation from the taxpayers of Coos county. Why not clean the slate by paying up like men instead of pleading the baby act?

New Year's Meeting

On Thursday of last week the Ladies Aid of the South Methodist church held their first meeting of the New Year.

After several weeks without a meeting roll call showed 18 members and several visitors present. The first part of the afternoon was spent in a business meeting and a very decided interest shown in the work planned for the coming year. Two of the visitors decided to become members.

At the close of the business meeting a very delightful luncheon was served by Mrs. Pendleton.

League Auxiliary Meeting

There will be business of importance to transact at the meeting of Auxiliary No. 36 of the American Legion here next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock and all members are requested to be there—Ida Oeding, Secretary.

Special Rates Now

The Portland Oregonian can now be obtained in connection with the Sentinel at the following rates.
Sentinel one year and the Daily Oregonian until Nov. 1, for $5.00.
Sentinel one year and the Daily and Sunday Oregonian until Nov. 1, $6.50.

Important W. O. W. Meeting

W. O. W. meeting Saturday evening, Jan. 14th, 1922. All neighbors come.
J. W. Leneve, Clerk

Barred Rocks For Sale

Barred Rock Cocks for sale. I have a few cocks hatched from eggs from E. B. Thompson, New York; W. D. Holterman, Ind., and Oregon Agricultural College, which I will dispose of very reasonably.
521x M. H. Hersey.

Own Your Home

Coquille City is a good place to build it. Sengstacken can furnish you the sites at a low price and upon your own terms.

FOR SALE

My Black Saddle Horse.
L. P. Branstetter.

THE ANSWER

By MOLLIE MATHER.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

Hayes leaned back in his chair wearily. He was tired of this constant rhapsodizing upon Bert's part concerning the girl. Almost, it seemed, he might recognize this creature of young love's dream, were he to meet her upon the street. Bert had described her in glowing terms. He himself was a satisfied and conceited bachelor. Perhaps Hayes had reason to be self-coulted, for he had achieved much, and was sought as both friend and adviser. Now, Bert in his eager enthusiasm looked up at his older friend.

"Jim," he suggested, "why don't you go out to Cedar next week with me, and see Rhoda; you can judge how fortunate I am." "Of course, I haven't asked her in so many words to be my wife, but she must know it's coming." The man in the desk chair nodded smilingly.

"And going without the little luxuries of life in order to provide them for her," he said. "How much have you saved up against that joyous wedding day, Bert? You've been tireless in your service here, working until all hours of the night. I think we will have to raise you again, you—earn your pay."

The young man's face shone. "Jim," he answered jerkily, "you are the best friend a fellow ever had. Sometimes I wonder that a girl did not find the big heart hidden under your calm, and drag it forth."

Hayes laughed. "Some dragging," he said cryptically. He arose and stood looking whimsically down on his young friend.

"Girls never measured up for me," he said slowly—"disappointing."

"You will go out with me to see Rhoda on Saturday?"

"All right," the big man nodded good humoredly. "I will go to give Rhoda my approval, for my disapproval would not have the slightest weight," he said. "Not the slightest," Bert laughed back.

Rhoda was different. Hayes attentively admitted the fact after his first talk with her. She seemed a very worth-while young person. Bert was fortunate. His sacrifices and strivings would not be in vain. Hayes, studying the girl in the soft twilight, reflected bitterly upon a fate which had brought no such maiden to his path.

Then, as weeks passed and his visits were repeated, sometimes in Bert's companionship, sometimes alone, as he drove his great car through Cedar valley—it came upon Hayes that youth and love might not be yet gone for him, after all.

Young women frequently felt for older men an admiration the younger could not inspire. His own achievement could never be accomplished by youth. She accepted several times his invitation to ride at his side in the beautiful car; she listened with flattering attention to his easy, interesting conversation. She liked, she told him ingenuously, his distinguished appearance. Hayes knew that he had an air, what amused him was the fact that the mere opinion of a girl could give him such pleasure. Bert looked pale and worn these days. His eager face lost its happiness. He worked late at the office, he was secretly planning to offer to Rhoda a ring worthy her acceptance.

Rhoda loved diamonds, he had once heard her say. And Rhoda of late had been absent cool in her greetings, unreluctant, relieved, it seemed, at his early departure. Bert could not understand it all. Troubled, he went to his confidential friend. Hayes, his eyes turned down to the point of his cigar, considered Bert's problem. Also, he came to his decision. He would ask Rhoda to marry him. Here, of course, was reason for the change that Bert had found in Rhoda. His (Hayes') experienced wooing had won the girl's heart. He was sorry in an impersonal way for young Bert's coming disappointment. The boy had worked hard, and he had dreamed his dream. Well, others had a right to dream, too. All was fair in love, as in war. Hayes was certain of his own love for the girl; no other had so filled his fancy. He arose abruptly.

"Time and fate will bring your answer, Bert," he said. "Now I—must get to business."

Slowly and heartlessly, the young man found his way out to Rhoda's home in the "Cedars."

She was there, as he had hoped, in the garden. She looked more than ever desirable, the little white frock suited exactly her simplicity. But—Jim Hayes was there before him. Bert noted the fact with apprehensive pain. Jim, looking distinguished, and responsible as usual, Rhoda and Jim had been talking, seriously, Bert could see that.

The girl came to meet him—there were tears in her eyes.

"Bert," Rhoda greeted. "I have something to tell you. I am engaged to marry Jack Benton. You remember meeting Jack here, last summer? Afterward he had to go away. We are to be married, Bert, next month. Aren't you glad—for my sake, old chum?"

Jim Hayes and Bert walked home later in the chilling moonlight.

"I told you, my boy," the older man said evenly, "that time and fate must answer your problem."

For Good-Looking Hair Use

NYAL HIRSUTONE

It frees the hair of dust and oil.
A clean, healthy scalp grows hair better. Get a bottle today.

HUDSON'S DRUG STORE

CHADWICK LODGE

No. 68 A. F. & A. M.

Special, Tues. Jan. 17

Work in M. M. Degree

Special, Tues. Jan. 24

Work in F. C.

Look Here Farmers

Make and keep that New Year's resolution NOW. Buy your Clover and Vetch seed now or at least place your order with your local dealer as wholesale prices have advanced and will go higher yet. Stocks are limited and eastern dealers want all our red clover they can get. Order now but be sure your dealer bought our seed.

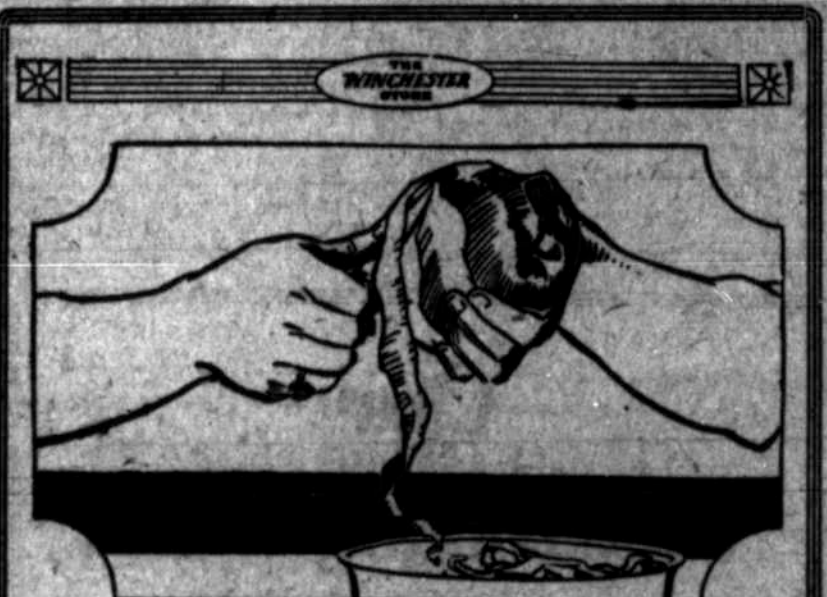

Lee L. Herahberger, Hubbard, Ore. 5112

That price of $2.15 for the Sentinel and the weekly Oregon Farmer will not be withdrawn. It is good for 1922, and well worth thinking about when you wish to renew for the Sentinel.

Rex Ingram of the "Four Horsemen" fame has done it again. See his latest, "THE CONQUERING POWER" at the Liberty next Tuesday and Wednesday.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS OF DRAINAGE DISTRICT No. 11.

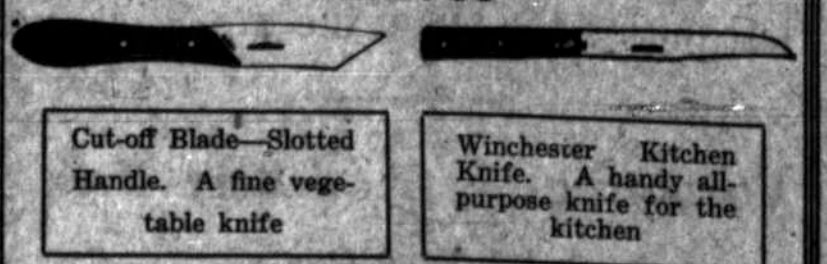

Pursuant to Resolution of the Board, sealed bids for Bonds of Coquille Drainage District No. 11, issued by virtue of Section 7270, Oregon Laws, to the amount of $12,000.00, bearing interest at 6% per annum, payable semi-annually, and maturing at annual intervals in equal amounts of $2,000.00 each year from and after five years after issuance to and including ten years after issuance, will be received by the Board until February 18th, 1922, at 10:00 A. M. of said day at its office, Room 2, First National Bank Building, Marshfield, Oregon, (care Goss, Kendall & Murphy, its attorneys). The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any of said bids offered at its pleasure.
Fred Coleman, Chairman.

"So Well-shaped for Paring"

Your hands don't tire using a knife that's correctly shaped. Keen, lasting edges make work faster and easier. For paring and cutting up fruit and vegetables get a Winchester knife. It will save time and labor.

Two Popular Winchester Knives

Cut-off Blade—Slotted Handle. A fine vegetable knife

Winchester Kitchen Knife. A handy all-purpose knife for the kitchen

Other Winchester Knives for Every Use

Coquille Hardware Co.

THE WINCHESTER
STORE