Coquille Wins and Loses

The Coquille high school basketball team with Will Oerding as coach, went down to Bandon last Friday and defeated the high school team there 22 to 20 by good playing. The score at the end of the first half stood 20 to 12, but in the second half Bandon took a brace and scored 8 points to Coquille's two.

Saturday evening the local boys met the strong North Bend team at the high school gym here and were defeated 50 to 9. This game demonstrated very clearly—that the framers of the schedule used poor judgement in arranging for games on successive evenings. North Bend had played Marshfield a hard game the evening before, which they won, and after 15 minutes of fast playing they were compelled to ask the referee for a breathing spell. They were winning from the first jump but the locals were fast enough to run the visitors off their feet although they couldn't throw baskets. Many time Coquille boys threw for a basket which failed to land, while North Bend's accurate shooting seldom missed.

North Bend scored practically all of its free throws, following fouls, but Coquille had very few opportunities along this line—fouls weren't called on North Bend.

The nerve (it could be called by a stronger name) of the local boys in attempting to rough it with the full grown youths who represented North Bend was something everyone could and did admire, but they were not large enough to cope with their more mature opponents.

Wilbur Howe was the only one injured in the game, receiving a kick on the thigh in the last half that prevented his standing on his feet for some time. He, as well as the whole team, played a plucky game against overwhelming odds and though defeated, they were not disgraced. Coquille has now won two and lost one game, being tied with Marshfield for the same percentage. Myrtle Point has won one and lost two, while Bandon has lost three games.

Much of the credit for the showing the Coquille team has made this year is due to Raymond Ardbald, highway engineer in charge of the bridge building here, who has perfected a machine such as Coquille has not had in years. He has drilled the boys until they are all playing together for victory and not attempting to each win a little personal glory for himself.

The girls' game at Bandon resulted in a victory for the city by the sea over Coquille, but the next evening the Coquille girls met the North Bend girls here and the home team walked all over the bay girls and won by 18-8.

High School Notes

Russell Morgan has been teaching in the high school for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormack have returned to school. Mr. McCormack has fully recovered from the small pox.

The Liberty Theatre let the high school sell tickets for the photo play, "Black Beauty," the high school receiving five cents for every thirty-five cent ticket sold. This money will be used for student body expenses.

All those interested in school work are urged to visit our schools regularly. It will help you, the teachers and the school if you take an active interest in school work.

Dr. Richmond will speak to the high school Friday afternoon. This is the first address to be given this year by a patron of the school; however, we hope to have several more speak during the term.

The Coquille basketball teams will play North Bend at North Bend, Saturday evening.

Friday, February 10th, the Bandon negative debate team will meet the affirmative team of Coquille at the local high school building. Della Sherwood and Claud Brown will represent Coquille. At the same time the Coquille negative team, Lawrence Moon and Lorin Schroeder, will debate Marshfield's affirmative team at Marshfield. The question for debate in both instances is, "Resolved: That Oregon should adopt the essential features of the Kansas Industrial Courts Law." No admission will be charged. Your presence will encourage the students in their debate work.

Seventeen freshmen and two seniors enrolled for the spring term. Several who dropped out the first term have returned again this term.

Mr. McKee, of Walla Walla, Washington, spoke to the high school Wednesday morning.

Miss Milam Going to China

Many former students of O. A. C. will be interested to learn that Dean Milam of the school of home economics at Oregon Agricultural college, is to organize a home economics department in the University of Pekin. An exchange suggests that it sees where bird's nest soup in the celestial kingdom will have to give way to modern cookery, a la Oregon.

Will Not Be Put to Vote

At last week's meeting of the county court the matter of calling an election to vote on the county unit plan of putting all the county school districts into one big district was taken up and decided adversely.

The outstanding feature of this plan is that under its provisions all of the property in the county outside the city districts would pay school taxes at the same rate. Thus the districts which now have large timber holdings and get off with a very light tax, would pay to help the others. On the other hand the districts with small assessments would not have to be assessed as high as they are now and would be able to keep their schools running without straining themselves financially. This would be eminently fair and just to all.

But at the same time the county unit system does away with home administration of schools altogether and puts all hiring of teachers and other details of school business in the hands of a county superintendent. The people of the Coos River Consolidated were up in arms against this feature of the law and sent the principal of their school, E. R. Coad, down here to put up a fight against it in their behalf. This he did so effectually that the court declined even to call an election and give the people of the county an opportunity to vote on it.

It is also to be noted that if a vote is taken as the law now stands the voters of the cities who are not directly interested as the rest of the county would be able to decide the question for the outside districts where alone the law would operate.

Letter from Christine Laird

The Sentinel is just in receipt of a chatty letter written by Miss Christine Laird at Honolulu. She says she supposes we are glad the University of Oregon beat the University of Hawaii there and also the navy. Spike Leslie, she adds, certainly made a fine display of his art of punting. She quotes Mr. Copper, the manager of the U. of H. team, as saying that Leslie was "a fine chap."

"We go in swimming every day," she writes, "and are always able to say, 'the water's fine.' I am certainly improving in swimming and Pauline is a real nice diver now."

"The Hawaiian prince died a week ago and we crowded for two hours and a half to get in the church to see his body lying in state. It was certainly wonderful. The army and navy paid him the same honors as if he had been a general or an admiral."

"I certainly miss all my Coquille friends and will be glad to return there in about two years."

Liljeqvist at Pendleton

We learn from a Pendleton special in the Journal that our friend, L. A. Liljeqvist, now assistant attorney general, has been busy for a week there, conducting a grand jury investigation of charges of crookedness against W. R. Taylor, chief of police, and Robert Sinclair, who was associated with him in handling booze cases. It was charged by the Pendleton Tribune that these officials and others were not enforcing the law as they should, but after examining 125 witnesses the grand jury exonerated them in a report of great length respecting the law enforcing agencies of Umatilla county, which, of course, was prepared by Mr. Liljeqvist.

Within twenty-four hours after the grand jury had declined to indict the officers named, they had each filed libel suits against Harry L. Kuck, editor of the Tribune, claiming to have been damaged to the amount of $10,000.

Normal Rain Again

It seemed more like Oregon weather when the rain began to fall steadily last night. The temperature rose at once and everybody felt better, (the people who didn't need't bother to register a kick, for they certainly are few in number.) Hence we were surprised that though it was still raining this morning the wind was from the north. We have often observed that in Oregon a south wind is never a hot one and a north wind is never a wet one, but there are rare exceptions to the latter rule. It didn't take long, though, for the wind to get back to the south.

The Hazards Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hazard entertained with bridge Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Branstetter, who are leaving tomorrow for California. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by the company, the playing continuing for some time after lunch had been served. Mrs. Hazard was assisted by her daughter, Adrienne, in serving a very tasty luncheon. Those present besides the honor guests and hosts were Messrs. and Mesdames P. L. Greenwood, L. J. Cary, H. A. Young, Mesdames J. A. Collier and H. W. Pierce and Mr. H. H. Seville.

Grandma Snyder a Guest

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church met in the church parlor Thursday afternoon for their first Missionary Tea, with 23 in attendance. After the business session and an interesting program the ladies enjoyed a pleasant time together.

The ladies also planned a pleasant surprise for Grandma Snyder, it being her 75th birthday, who, as all know, has been "shut in" for so long, and it was through the courtesy and thoughtful assistance of Bro. Goss, she was enabled to attend the meeting and participate with the others in the pleasure planned for her. After all were seated at the tables the president presented "Grandma" with a lovely decorated cake, and a beautiful bouquet of carnations. In behalf of her mother, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, thanked the ladies for their thoughtfulness in bringing this little bit of sunshine to her. After doing justice to the delicious luncheon served by the committee for the day, the meeting was adjourned and all went away feeling that it had been good to be there. Proceeds from the tea were $3.00.

Bridge School Notes

The high school has an addition of three pupils for the new semester, who have been detained from school on account of sickness and business. We are expecting another pupil, who will be in the junior class, Fred McMullen, from Roseburg.

Those in the school who have been neither absent or tardy this semester are: primary department, Irene Rookard; grammar department, Geneva Fredenberg, Ardyce Rookard. Those in the grammar department who have only one tardy mark against them are: George Brownson, Matthew Brownson, Neva Brode, Aileen Brode and Shirley Laird.

Mr. Murray has been appointed major general of the Spade brigade for Arbor Day. He is collecting spades and intends to have quite a bit of work done on that day.

Rease Endicott, a sophomore in English, has written an excellent resume of George Elliott's book, "Training for an Effective Life." It will be published next week.

Those having one hundred in spelling in the primary department are: Averill Laird and Wilma Gribbins, both second grade pupils.

BRIDGE BRIEFS

Ben McMullen is going to move back on his place soon. He is now residing in Roseburg. He has quite a large fruit ranch here at Bridge.

The birthday party at Murphy's last Saturday night for Walter Billings and Joe Laird was a great success. The evening was spent in singing and playing cards and at a late hour those present were served chop suey.

A great calamity befell Frank Fish one day last week. His men were breaking a log jam on the falls at Al Rice's place when the horses went over the bank and one of them was killed. The other one escaped with some injuries.
