EAST FORK NOTES

Mr. Hart, the Raleigh man, was doing good business in the extract, soap and notion line on the East Fork last week. It is about a year since he was up this way. He and his wife had a long siege of sickness last spring and that knocked him out of much trade.

The teachers of the East Fork, after taking in the institute last week at Marshfield, are back on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood were at the Coquille Canoe Club grounds for a few days. They are putting an addition on to their summer cabin. May be there is a prettier camping ground in Coos county than the club has—haven't heard of it, though.

The rains made the road slick for rock hauling with the truck. Three or four teams are on the job now.

$3,310,000 appropriation for harbor improvement on Coos Bay is a great deal bigger advertisement for Coos Bay, for Coos county, for the state of Oregon, for the United States of America, than to have a Coos Bay man candidate for governor.

Last Saturday night the boys at Lawhorn & Summerlin's camp heard that some fellows down below were going to raid the melon patch in the garden at Mountain Glade ranch. The boys thought they would take a hand in the game and give assistance. They gave it with good will for when those fellows showed up to steal melons a gun commenced to bark. Say, those things forgot all about what they were after and were only interested in leg ball for security. It is funny why those melons should be a temptation; there are only two rows and we have not sold or tried to sell a melon this year.

James Stillman, that New York banker, who tried to make out that his own baby boy was sired by an Indian, got left in trying to defame his wife's character; had the tables turned on himself by having it proven that he had been laying up with another woman and had two children by her, one living. My father had a saying that seems to me just fits that James Stillman of New York: "He is not fit to carry guts to a bear."

The Salem Journal says enough walnuts have been grown on shade trees in yards and parkings in that city to give each resident 2 1/2 pounds. The estimate is 48,000 pounds, or twenty-four tons, valued at $12,000.

McQUAY-NORRIS PISTON RINGS, PISTONS & PINS

Renew Your Motor's Power

Every once in a while your motor has to be reworked. You know you can't have horse-power without horse shoes. Now, isn't it reasonable not to expect horse-power from the motor of an automobile, truck, tractor or engine that has worn parts in it? When the pistons and piston rings are worn, the motor wastes gas and oil and can't produce power. It doesn't mean that you need a new machine. Thousands of added miles of car life and many added hours of power usefulness can be given most motors by renewing their piston rings, pistons and pins. If these three vital units in your motor are worn, gas and oil saving alone will usually pay the expense of installing McQuay-Norris Piston Rings, Pistons and Pins. Wherever you plan to have the work done, you can secure prompt service by ordering McQuay-Norris products.

The Eskimo's Secret. Scientists and travelers have been at a loss to explain the vigor of the Eskimo in view of the fact that his system of eating is directly opposed to what we regard as a desirable diet. Dr. John Marquis, a missionary and explorer, has gone into the Far North for the express purpose of investigating this matter. The healthy condition of the Eskimo is attributed to the fact that they eat almost every part of the animal that they kill. What little they cannot eat is made into tools and coverings, but the bone and skin is about all they do not consume; often the skin has a narrow escape.

Pictures Improving

In a recent issue of the New York World we find the following very gratifying statement by Quinn Martin, a distinguished dramatic critic: It is not the fault of the millions of persons in this country who make the motion pictures their only form of amusement that they have fallen from the beginning been chary about their praise for the cinema play as a whole. But it does seem to us that even the photoplay ought to be given credit where credit is due.

We have made an investigation and a comparison of the quality of films being shown throughout the country at this time, as alongside those exhibited a year ago, or two years ago. We were prompted to do this because of a statement made by Will H. Hays in Minneapolis a few weeks ago, in which he said, in part: "This new program has been under way less than six months, but the results are already showing. This season's run of photoplays will indicate plainly the results of a sincere effort and desire to make better pictures."

When we started in to dig out the truth about the statement, we snickered to ourself, because we had a feeling we were going to be able to pin upon the cinema chief the brand of exaggeration, egotism and inaccuracy.

The fact of the matter is that after looking over reviews, criticisms and comment upon films written even as late as one year ago it is found that there not only is a great deal in what he says, but the evidence confronts us with the fact that today there are being exhibited in the theatres and put together in the studios a class of photoplay which, on the whole, ranks high above the class that was being turned out prior to the beginning of the present year. Naturally we are not in a position to say to just what extent the influence of the former Postmaster General has gone in the matter, but we are prepared to say that within his six months as Director General of the Photoplay there has been a remarkable betterment in the product.

This change has been most marked in the matter of the moral intent of the various pictures being made. Two years ago criticisms of films were taken up to a great extent with protests against the sickening sex play stamp placed upon society dramas and the like. We find that within the year of 1922 we have not felt called upon more than a half a dozen times to refer to indecency or obscenity in pictures.

This does not mean, of course, that we have found any considerable number of pictures which have come up to our idea of what the ideal picture ought to be. This may best be expressed by saying that we never have seen a photoplay that was as good as we thought it ought to have been.

But it is apparent that in intent and effort, in desire and ability on the part of the producers, there is a very decided change for the better.

We have visited the New York censorship bureau to learn whether in the last few months that body has been called upon to slash into many films in order to remove the "dirt" which crept into so many films in other days. We are told that the censors' scissors have been comparatively idle for months. So that it appears the wilful desire to present objectionable matter in the films has been cut off to a great extent at the root—in the studios.

A Family of Captains

Here is a family of steamboat captains—Captain W. R. Panter, who is now living on his farm between Coquille and Bandon, has six sons and every one of the six is a licensed captain to operate river steamers. William is also a licensed engineer and is the present engineer on the gas boat Charm which makes two round trips daily between Bandon and Coquille. All the boys except Stacy are employed on the Myrtle Point Transportation company's boats which ply between Coquille and Bandon. The names of the boys are as follows: Walter, William, Allan, Stacy, Albert and Archie. It isn't often you find a whole family following the same profession. Stacy is also assisting his father on the farm.—News.

Unbreakable glass is a recent invention it is claimed. The inventor has been experimenting for 18 years and if he has succeeded, as it is claimed, it will henceforth be entirely safe to give the baby a hammer and a looking glass to play with.

The School Monopoly Bill has a misleading name!

YOU have an interest in schools? Then be sure to understand the true meaning of the School Monopoly Bill which is called on the ballot the Compulsory Education Bill

The reason that this name is misleading is because we already have compulsory education under the present existing law, and we already have compulsory teaching in English in all schools.

What this bill really proposes is to substitute state control over the education of your children for your control.

The people of Michigan have already overwhelmingly defeated this measure, because it attacked the freedom of education.

Protect your rights which are being endangered—do not be misled by the name of this bill. Read the proposed bill carefully. Read the campaign literature. Find out the intent of the bill which is disguised by the title.

You will find that that they propose school monopoly. A hidden attack upon freedom of education.
