For Disabled War Veterans

For the purpose of interviewing all disabled World War veterans of this community relative to government compensation, vocational training, hospitalization and war risk insurance, W. F. Loomis, special contact representative of the United States Veterans' Bureau, will arrive in Coquille Dec. 1 to spend one day and will be in Myrtle Point Dec. 2.

Mr. Loomis stated in an advance communication that all former service people who can prove that they are disabled 10 per cent or more because of war service are entitled to Federal compensation and that those who are unable to carry on their present occupations because of war injuries are entitled to vocational training at the expense of the government. Veterans seriously ill from war disabilities should be hospitalized immediately, he stated. Hundreds of veterans, it is believed, are also ready to re-evaluate their war risk insurance.

"Because of the fact that the Veterans' Bureau is but one year old, there are some things for disabled veterans of the northwest district still undone," stated Mr. Loomis. "However, I believe it is safe to say that rapid progress is being made in developing an organization which will properly care for injured service people and rehabilitate those who are able to take vocational education."

"At the district office in Seattle, we have more than 11,000 claims for government compensation from veterans alleging war disabilities. Approximately 8,000 disabled veterans of the three Pacific Northwest states receive either straight compensation or government allowance, of $80 a month or more. More than a half million dollars a month is being paid directly into the hands of disabled veterans of Washington, Oregon and Idaho through the Veterans' Bureau. "The government is as eager to adjudicate all claims of ex-service people as the veterans are to have their claims passed upon. An important feature of the Veterans' Bureau is the Board of Appeals which reviews all cases brought to its attention by claimants not satisfied with decisions of the Bureau's rating board."

DEVILBISS SPRAYS

Prevent the spread of contagious diseases with the aid of a quality atomizer. Spray the nose and throat.

The cleansing and medication of the nose and throat can best be accomplished by using an atomizer as the spray of the solution is brought in contact with the entire membrane surface.

Spray the nose and throat occasionally. It is a splendid way to treat coughs and colds. The Nose and Throat when sprayed with a medicated oil are protected against the dust and impurities in the air we breathe.

We owe it to your family and to those about you to give the nose and throat attention. Spraying the nose and throat protects health and aids in preventing infection from disease germs.
