

Santa Is Bringing Real Baby Carriages To Good Little Girls This Year

Of course, every little girl would like to have a carriage, just like a real baby's carriage, for her precious dolly to ride in. Santa has such doll carriages in his pack this year. If you tell him you want a Lloyd Doll Carriage you will be sure of getting the right kind.

Lloyd Doll Carriages are woven, just like Lloyd Loom Baby Carriages, on a wonderful loom, that weaves a single, endless strand of wicker, around and around, into a graceful bowl shape, without seams or short ends. These carriages are not only more beautiful than ordinary doll carriage; they are much stronger and more lasting. And they are priced very reasonably. Come and see them while our stock is still complete.

L. C. Holm, while returning from delivering a piano at Coquille Saturday night, struck something in the road, which, on account of the density of the fog, he could not see. He hastily added, however, that it was not necessary for him to see as long as he could smell. He claims the fog just vanished before him the rest of the trip. A little later on he struck a mink, but thinks the animal was suffocated before being run over.—Daily News.

McKINLEY NOTES

A number of the ladies of the community gathered at the home of Mrs. Anna Wilcox last Thursday at a quilting. A delicious dinner was served at noon. Those present were: Mesdames W. H. Bunch, A. L. Brown, C. O. King, L. J. Bennett, Arthur Brown, Lyman King, Lee Mast, Margaret Kearnes, George Glenn, Chas. Shepherd and Anna Wilcox.

The dance at the hall Saturday evening was well attended. There will be another in two weeks. The proceeds go to pay for the hall piano.

The McKinley Grange met in regular session Saturday. The business session was held in the morning, and the afternoon was given to the lecturer. Several important matters came up for discussion.

Margaret Wilcox, who has been quite ill for several days, is improving again.

Mr. Glenn, of Idaho, is visiting at the home of his son, George Glenn, of McKinley.

W. W. Smith, who has been in Washington and Eastern Oregon for the past year, has returned to McKinley. He says there is no place quite like Coos county after all.

Walter Laird passed through McKinley Monday enroute to his home in Brewster. Mr. Laird has been working on the dam at Rink Creek.

Wm. Mast and Chas. Rankieff, of Lee, have begun logging operations on the Snow timber.

Church of Christ Notes

All praise to those fifty young people who had charge of the song service last Sunday night. They surely sang in the spirit of the young. The solo rendered by Miss Thora Pederson was appreciated by all, as was the whole chorus. With the fifty young people who sang to an audience of one hundred and twelve the total number present at the night service was one hundred and sixty-two.

The Cradle Roll program at the Sunday School hour was a great success. We were glad to welcome the mothers and the babies to this service. With one hundred and fifty-nine in Sunday School last Sunday morning and thirty-two in attendance at the Christian Endeavor meeting and from twenty-five to thirty at the Wednesday night prayer-meeting, we just give all thanks to Our Savior who hears and answers prayer.

Next Sunday—men's night—don't forget the Men's chorus of fifty voices next Sunday night. Everybody come, all welcome. The Master needs you in His service and you need Him.—Church Correspondent.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS

The Myrtle Point and Marshfield football teams played a sensational game at Marshfield last Saturday. The game was hotly contested and although within striking distance of the Marshfield goal several times, they were unable to score the touchdown which would have won the game and tied them for the county championship. Near the end of the first half the Myrtle Point team, by a series of brilliant line bucks, carried the ball to Marshfield's second yard line and the referee's whistle prevented them from scoring.

The Myrtle Point line-up was as follows:

Mast—end Shull—right guard
Carter—tackle Hall—right tackle
Collerton—guard Schroeder—r. and
Haggerty—center Gant—r. quarter
Barkley—l. half Hazelwood—r. half
Kellner—fullback

And substitutes Bangle and Carver. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ray Clinton spent Thanksgiving day in Coquille.
