EAST FORK NOTES

Last week for wind and rain was the winter of the season, and this week's Monday morning gave skinnings of ice as thick as thin window glass. It would not do to have all winter days balmy days.

The people of road district No. 14—every one in that district lives in Brewster Valley except Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rose—are circulating a petition to be presented to the new county court asking that E. A. Krewson, of Brewster Valley, be appointed road patrolman for road district No. 14.

A letter from a friend who is one of the office force at the University of California, in answer to the question as to the women smokers among the students, says, "In four and one half years' time I have never seen any girl smoking on the campus, in doors or out."

Another employee, who has been at the University ten years, said she had never seen any herself but knew that plenty did.

One of the pessimistic students estimated "close to fifty per cent of the girls on the campus smoked, she had seen an occasional co-ed smoker indulging on the campus in the day time."

The following paragraph tells the story: "There are five thousand women here and some of them do come to try out all the fads and fancies of the day. But a large percentage of them work their way through, either partially or wholly, and they keep expenses and things that drain their energies down to a minimum."

A clipping from the San Francisco Chronicle states that the student affairs committee of the University of California rules against the cigarette habit and extends the campus to take in the whole world.

The press dispatches recently mentioned two girls who tried the cigarette stunt at Wellesly College; those two feminine highbrows lasted quick.

It is the same today as it always has been. The male or female mental scavengers are not the ones who add to the permanent forces of life.
