Oleott Defenses State

Oregon Journal

Describing Oregon as the scene of "deeds of violence" and declaring that, as a result of the passage of the compulsory school bill "leading and prominent citizens were taking steps to leave the state," Governor Oleott drew a dark picture of conditions in Oregon in his address before the governors' convention. Governor Oleott was almost melodramatic in describing the "blight" which, he said, the Ku Klux Klan had brought upon Oregon.

The Journal holds no brief for the Ku Klux Klan. It thinks that organization should go out of business. It does not think there is any need in this country for an "invisible empire."

Nor does The Journal think Governor Oleott should paint the direful picture of Oregon, a picture of "deeds of violence" and "leading and prominent men taking steps to leave the state" which he drew before the assembled governors and with all the attendant publicity of big headlines on the first pages of all the newspapers in America.

There are a great many safe and sane people in Oregon. It is doubtful if there is another state in the union that has a larger percentage of very steady and very well poised citizens.

To the whole body politic, the Ku Klux Klan is in a very small proportion. To claim, as Governor Olcott does, that the Klan has corrupted, or is about to corrupt, the whole mass is absurd. There is not the slightest possibility that the people of Oregon are going to be led by the Klan into any wicked or disreputable action to "blight" the state.

Contrary to the impression given by the codftry by Governor Oleott's speech, the Klan did not bring the compulsory school bill before the state. That was done by the higher-up Masons. It was supported by the Federated Patriotic societies, composed of Free Masons and many other fraternal organizations. It was a bill that ought not to have been passed, because there is need in every state of every possible form of school and college training. But the bill was supported by a great many very excellent people, and to say that they have "Russianized" the state, as Governor Oleott declared in his speech, is nonsense.

If high officials in Oregon are to spread broadcast word pictures of deplorable conditions here, if they are to herald it abroad that the state is "Russianized," if they are to give the impression that Oregon is the scene of "deeds of violence," if people elsewhere are to be told in all the newspapers by the governor of the state of Oregon that "leading and prominent citizens are taking steps to leave the state," if they are to be told that Oregon is under a "blight" and under a "menace," those who are striving to raise a $300,000 publicity fund to advertise the state to get strangers to come here and settle, will work under a serious handicap.

The Jericho Road

By W. B. Hinson, D. D.
 There are just four men in the world.
 Only four—no fifth.
 There is the Hurt man!
 And he is robbed, stripped of much,
 and sorely wounded.
 There is the Hurting man!
 Christ called him a thief—I am thankful for that.
 There is the Heedless man!
 He passed by on the other side, and he said, "Safety First!"
 There is the Helping man!
 Who went to the hurt man and took care of him.

The Hurt man must soon be helped.
 The Hurting man—God takes him in hand.

The Heedless man must be aroused.
 The Helping man—God bless him.

Will you Help?

Here is the story that has the four men in it:
 A certain man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves who stripped and beat him and left him half dead.
 A certain priest and a Levite saw him and passed by on the other side.
 A certain Samaritan came where he was, saw him, had compassion, bound up his wounds and took care of him. Luke X.
 The Hurt man is in the Near East!
 So is the Hurting man. And again I say—God takes him in hand.
 The Heedless man—beware, brother!
 The Helping man—Dot it now—
 Now.

Married Live Longer

Married life not only seems longer than that of bachelorhood or the spinster's mortality threat, but it actually is.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York city and soon to be United States senator from New York, has showed with charts and figures that married adds to the span of years and the free lance is broken early.

The answer being the affirmative and indisputably backed by figures, the next question is "why?" and Dr.
 Copeland specifies:

Married people live in better homes and under more normal conditions than those who have no mate.

The married man has his wife to take care of him. During the flu epidemic even single men died than married men for that reason. But more married women died than single women and that was because the married women had to look after families as well as themselves. They died that the families might live.
 But the mortality rate among widows was lower than that among married women, because the widows had no husbands to care for and to worry about.

Dr. Copeland points out that the average life span of New Yorkers is about 53 years. Fifty years ago it was only 43 years. This seems to hold good throughout the country, he says. Americans, because of their strenuous life, must be wary after 45 and up to 80. After that, the rest is easy, and 100 years should not be unusual. There are more than 2500 men and women in the United States who are over 100 years old, Dr. Cope-land's figures show.

Helping Service Men

A program of active co-operation of Washington, Oregon and Idaho state colleges with the United States Veterans' Bureau in furnishing disabled veterans training in agriculture on their own land projects with expert instruction is announced by L.
 C. Joseph, Seattle, district manager of the Veterans' Bureau. Instruction units are being formed where 15 farm trances can be found within a radius of 20 miles, it was stated.
 Mr. Joseph announced that three college instructors have been assigned to instruct veterans taking project training in the state of Washington, two in the state of Oregon and instructors will be furnished ex-service farmers in Idaho as soon as the demand warrants.

"This plan of having college experts visit various land projects which are being developed by disabled World War veterans was initiated recently in this district and is being copied in other parts of the United States," said Mr. Joseph. "The agricultural expert paid by the state college visits the veteran in his particular district at least once a week for a period of two or three hours, each instructor having from 20 to 25 land students. It means that the disabled veteran learning the business of farming is going to receive instruction on the latest methods of scientific and intensive farming without leaving his project."

Announcement was made that there are more than 200 project trainees in the Pacific Northwest district and a total of approximately 600 training in agriculture of some kind.

In an effort to have all compensation claims of hospitalized war veterans in the Pacific Northwest adjudicated before Jan. 1, a campaign has been started by the United States Veterans' Bureau to make a survey of all service men in hospitals and push the claims of those who are able to connect their disabilities with war service. Mr. Joseph also announced four federal officials were assigned to the task in this district.

There are now 856 ex-service people in hospitals of this district, he stated, an increase of about 40 in the last 10 days.

Church of Christ Notes

The services on last Sunday were as usual, with a well-filled house and the mixed chorus of 50 voices, men and women, certainly was the finest yet. Watch adds for the next startling announcement. Next Sunday night is honor of our Risen Lord, we celebrate His birth with the "White Gifts to the King;" for it is more blessed to give than to receive. Don't miss this program of human pictures portraying the birth of Christ, showing the Wise Men, the Shepherds, the Angel as it appears and the Christ Child in the manger. At 7 p. m. next Sunday night at the Church of Christ. Everybody welcome.—Church Correspondent.
