Farm Bureau Proves Worth

In spite of optimism and an attitude of genuine satisfaction farmers and business men throughout the country are expressing their appreciation of the work done by Farm Bureaus wherever these organizations have been established.

One act alone that Farm Bureaus have been instrumental in putting over is worthy of their organization—the forming of co-operative marketing associations. In starting soil building programs in every county, Farm Bureaus are also doing a great constructive work of much value to every farmer. Membership in the Farm Bureau being a family proposition, one can expect some real accomplishments along specialized lines such as better preparation, more thorough cultivation, more good livestock and legislation favorable to the furtherance of agriculture and its needs.

It is well known that those who are not members of the Farm Bureau have been benefited by it. They have not benefited to the extent of the members but as in every case the co-operative association has raised the price level and the outsider profited thereby. They have received better grades, lower interest rates on money borrowed, and nearer the market prices for their products. To these things the thousands of members will testify.

The good done by the Farm Bureau is only a drop in the bucket to what remains for them to do and what they will do. The farmer is soon to come into his own. Organization is the force which will place him there. The business man is not the farmer's enemy for the farmer must prosper in order that the business man may make money. It's a get together proposition and association means friendship and understanding, two mighty factors in themselves. A better era is just ahead. But every farmer must do his part to reap the full benefits.

For Army Commissions

An final examination of candidates for appointment in the grade of second lieutenant, Regular Army, will be held during the week commencing June 25, 1923.

This examination is open to all classes of eligibles as indicated here-in and will be held to fill approximately (85) vacancies in the combatant branches, quartermaster corps, ordnance department, chemical warfare services, and finance department.

Each applicant desiring to compete in the examination should submit his application to the commanding general of the corps area in which he resides, or to the commanding officer of the military post or station nearest his place of residence. The application will be submitted on the prescribed form, copies of which can be obtained from The Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C., or from Commanding General Ninth Corps Area, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

The regulations governing the submission of applications and the conduct of the examination are published in Army Regulations, 605-6, copies of which may be obtained by applying to corps area commanders or commanding officers of posts and stations.

Carload of Fords Arrives

Prospects Look Fine for the Coming Year

Although it is yet early in the season the Coquille Service Station, Authorized Ford Dealers, have hardly been able to supply the demand for new Fords.

The last new car in stock was sold Wednesday and the carload arrived Thursday. They have two more carloads following and expect to keep on ordering way in advance in order to meet the demand.

It's not the question of selling them, it's how fast can they get them. The situation is practically the same throughout the country, but the Ford Motor company are increasing their production and are putting forth strenuous efforts to meet the demand.

FISHER'S STRONG PLEA IN PEARE'S CASE

cal and mental condition as he, when I am sixty-seven years old.

As to his daughter, she became insane nine years ago, when she was 26 years old. Any heredity about that? No. The same sort of reasoning would prove us all insane. That blow on the head? If that made him insane twelve years ago, he would be insane today.

As to his dreams, we all have dreams. If that is a contributing cause of insanity, we would all be insane today. As to "paranoia," showing these things, all prove it must be that. If his brother drank and his father drank, and his child became insane, that seems to settle it. He is still dippy on one subject—about his wife. He is a paranoiac on one subject, not about his stepfather or his stepson, Bushnell. He had to be sane on all other things. He must have been insane, if he was insane at all, about these. Williams says Peare knew what he was doing and what he said. He was a periodic drunkard and that sort of drunkenness doesn't produce insanity. Dr. Mings whose ability and reputation are known to us all, says he was sane the 30th of December and is sane now.

Ed Bowman, one of his best friends, says he was just as sane in October as he is now. The state has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that this man is not insane. There can be no doubt about his voluntary drunkenness; or as to his being able to control his delusions.

According to his testimony he talked it over with his wife and they agreed to make a little booze, three years ago last Christmas, again at the time of the fair—four times in all in the past three years. The man who drank on four occasions in the past four years is not suffering from chronic alcoholism. Tell the world that a man can't get drunk and kill his enemies in Coos county, and then plead that he is insane.

It required about three-quarters of an hour for Judge Kendall to read his instructions to the jury. The jury was charged regarding the question of sanity and many of the instructions dealt with this feature in detail.

The question of insanity was summed up with the instruction that the whole matter hinged on whether or not the jury believed that the defendant at the time of the murder knew the difference between right and wrong.

Judge Kendall explained that if the jury found the defendant guilty as charged, which was first degree murder, the crime would be punished by hanging but that the jury could recommend life imprisonment as a punishment for first degree murder.

The court gave the jury six forms of verdict, either of which could be returned. They were as follows:

Guilty of murder in the first degree

Guilty of first degree murder with recommendation for life imprisonment.

Guilty of second degree murder. Guilty of manslaughter. Not guilty on grounds of insanity. Not guilty.

The bailiff, J. D. Myers, was sworn in especially as officer in charge of the jury. It was 5:15 p. m. when the case was finished and the jury retired. The verdict was returned at 7:30 p. m.

Judge Kendall had arranged to remain in Coquille all night to be ready for call in case the jury was late in returning a verdict.

Memoirs now being all the go, a book entitled, "My Twenty Years Among the Poles," is being written by a well known telephone lineman at Sudbury, Mass.

Trading at Home Pays

Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost the city of Coquille by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

Folks who try to save pennies oftentimes lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest values for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living from the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price.

When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices," you should think twice before buying. If you are "stung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once and probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take great care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.

FIGURE IT YOURSELF

Nobody ever added up The value of a smile; We know how much a dollar's worth, And how much is a mile; We know the distance to the sun, The size and weight of each, But no one here can tell us just How much a smile is worth.

BETTER PAY SALARIES

During the war it was common to enlist for a dollar a year. Now the Department of Justice has six of these indicted for stealing as many millions. Jay L. Smith says it shows the government had better paid the less patriotic.

Mother and daughter walking on the boulevard see young lady with unbuckled galoshes flapping in the breeze. Little daughter says, "Mama, is that one of those bootleggers that papa talks about?"

BEFORE LIFE WAS COMPLEX

Prehistoric Woman Whose Remains Have Just Been Found Had Comparatively Placid Existence.

Bones of a prehistoric woman, believed to have been a tree-climber, have been found in the bed of the River Cam, and are being submitted to expert opinion in London, England.

The bones were brought to the surface by a dredger within a quarter of a mile of the famous Fenland inn, "The Five Miles From Anywhere; No Hurry!"

The whole district is one vast forest of buried oaks, which were in existence many thousands of years ago, before the Fens were formed, and it is hoped to recover the complete skeleton.

"The find is a most interesting one," said a Fellow of the Royal society.

"The leg bones are undoubtedly those of a woman, but they are of extraordinary conformation."

"Whoever she was, she had a pretty foot."

"If alive today, she would be a short, deep-chested creature, covered with hair, and with long, ape-like arms and prehensile toes."

"Her home would be a rudely built platform of sticks, with a family likeness to a glorified crow's nest. From this, excursions would be made among the tree tops, she and her mate swinging themselves, monkey-fashion, from bough to bough."

"When on the ground, her gait would be that of a monkey, with the arms swinging to the knees."

PASS UP ALL KINDS OF WORK

Masculine Natives of the South Sea Islands Cannot Be Brought to Do Any Labor.

The natives of the Marshall Islands, 50 years ago, before the advent of the missionaries, were typical savages of the South seas. They lived a natural wild existence, unburdened by clothes, and eating only what nature provided for them—coconut and the pandanus fruit. They had no houses. They lived under thatched roofs, supported at the four corners by poles.

Today the natives wear white linen suits. The stiff white collar seems to make their faces bleaker than they really are, and to bring out the designs of the tattoo marks more clearly. They have schools and hospitals, which were started by those brave missionaries of half a century ago. Their chief is particularly modern.

He lives in a house, and since Japan has taken possession he has a wireless station on his island, the island of Wotje. He even dictates to a stenographer, who sits on the floor with a typewriter between his legs. The natives are not so far modernized, however, that the men will be str themselves to do any work. They do not believe in work. They leave work to the women. The hardest task the men perform is to carry around the babies. They do this so the women will have nothing to interfere with their work.
