Point visitors Sunday.

day for Beaverton, where they will ifornia, but formerly of this city, was stage at Crescent City, California, spent the week end with his family here.

Mrs. Myrtle Clinton, who has been living in Corvallis, was in the city daughter, Miss Itha, was graduating.

She was a guest at the C. C. Carter

The farm home of Geo. Hermann, of Broadbent, was burned to the ground Monday afternoon. The farm had formerly been owned by Mannet Hermann, of this city. Jim Stinson Sr. had been running the ranch and living in a small house on the place. The fire started from a defective flue in the small house, which was burned. The flames then spread to the larger house and by the time the Myrtle Point fire department arrived on the scene, the house was beyond saving and the barn had caught fire. By hard work the barn was saved but the houses are a complete loss. The damages were partially covered by insurance.

A. E. Case, of Marshfield, is working in the E. C. Barker Jewelry store this week. Mr. Barker has been short-handed since Elmer G. Brown left to take a position in Portland.

The Coos County Road Boosters association met at Coos Bay Tuesday evening. Among the Myrtle Pointers present were C. H. Nosler, E. J.
Schneider, and Henry A. Schroeder.

resent Myrtle Point on the executive committee.

Mrs. M. D. Evans left the latter part of last week for Kanas, where she was called by the death of her sister and the serious illness of her mother.

EAST FORK NOTES

It gave the neighborhood a big jolt when the news came that little Walter Roth, who was visiting the Royers at Lakeside, had his hand blown off by a dynamite cap, which he picked up from the ground after having uncovered it in his play. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roth have been living at the Lawhorn camp for two years or more. Here is one of the whys that puzzle me. As the report goes, that cap had been buried in the dirt no one knows how long. Walter goes to Lakeside, is playing in the sand, uncovers it, picks it up and gets his hand blown off. Why?

The report is now that Jack Mayse drew the first blood in the strife with Lloyd Leatherman, over the land squabble, according to Judge Wolver-ton's ruling. The interest now in the next round of the battle for if Lloyd has sand and nerve that is worth a whoop, he is not knocked out of the ring, but takes another bout with a change of umpires.

Posters are out announcing Independence Day celebration at Bennetts' Grove, Gravel Ford. The place is centrally located and the grove is one of the best. The roads are good and there is no reason why it should not be one of the most satisfactory and least tiring celebration in the county.

The people in Brewster Valley have posted their farms against trespassers; irresponsible hunters and fishermen were too much for their stomachs.

People below Brewster Valley may have to do the same thing, with the latch string still out for friends.

Sunday about 11 o'clock a collision occurred between Walter Laird's truck and James Benham's car, on the sharp curve this side of the Rose place, where Joe Albina is living.
Walter's truck lost the front wheels and two people were scratched a little. No damage was done to Mr. Ben-ham's car or occupants.

Al Bezosky and crew, who are running the rock crusher, put 763 yards of rock on the road the past month; total cost per yard, which included taking up plank, preparing road bed, cutting brush and spreading the rock, $2.00 plus a small fraction. This report is a good showing.

Mr. Dawson, of Albany, who is selling fruit trees for the Albany Nursery Co., was on the East Fork last week, went on up as far as Brewster Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Neely and daughter, Myrtle, of Fairview, and Guy Kelley, of Marshfield, were among those who took dinner at "Jungle Bank" Sunday.

Mr. Watters, the itinerant spectacle man, was on the East Fork last week and took in its whole inhabited length.
He spent the winter in Florida, Georgia and other southern states. The Puget Sound country or any part of the coast country of Oregon and Washington is for him the almost perfect country in which to live, and he knows all parts and portions of the United States.

Is it my imagination? It seems to me that the birds are more numerous and their songs more jubilant this spring and summer than I have ever known before.

It may be there is a more beautiful and fragrant meadow of Alsike clover than ours, but I have not seen it.
R. A. Easton.

lah Parks visited at the J. D. Laird years of age.

day afternoon.

People of Brewster Valley are trying to replenish the stream with fish as they used to be in the olden days, by stopping all fishing for a time.
Meanwhile fish will be planted as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. Polly Nickason and Mrs. Mary Laird are each owner of a new Hawaiian steel guitar. Mrs. Nickason just entered the class. There are six or seven taking up the music now.

Joe Laird and wife, of Coquille, came up to visit his mother Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laird came up from camp also.

Miss Parks gave a picnic the last day of school. The children voted on a picnic or program and naturally they took the eat.

May 19th to 26th

Mrs. J. D. Laird has been staying nights and part of the days with the Alfords, helping care for Grandma Shepherd, who is quite low.

J. D. Laird worked Monday of this week at the Dora cemetery.

Supt. Mulkey and wife, Miss Lelah Parks and her mother, of Creswell came up into the valley on a picnic one day of this week.

The Myrtle Leaf club met with Mrs. Nickason Thursday. The afternoon was spent in sewing, music and conversation. Late in the day Mrs. Nickason served refreshments, after which the members visited a while before returning to their homes.
Those present were Mrs. Moore, Stella Crowley, Zilphia Krewson, Callie Benham, Verna Laird, Flossie Wilson, Daisy Laird, and our new neighbor, Mrs. Parks, and Mrs. Nickason.
Perley Crowley came up Saturday evening from Port Orford after his family, who moved down for the summer.

Elmer Wilson and wife, Mrs. Nickason and Mrs. Ivan Laird made a business trip to Myrtle Point Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Halley Laird made a business trip to Coquille Saturday afternoon.

Polly Nickason visited at the Wilson home Sunday.

The Sentinel and the Oregon Farmer can still be obtained for $2.15 for one year.
