"Your Ideal Meeting Place"

Getting Rock for Jetty

Lieut. Bowley, of the government engineering force, says that rock deliveries from the quarry on North Coos River are again coming in satisfactory quantities. The scows were coming down this week at the rate of five in two days and as each carries 400 tons it means a weekly delivery of 6,000 tons.—Harbor.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS

Myrtle Point
 Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Laird have returned from Portland.
 Mr. and Mrs. McLoughlin expect to leave Saturday for a week's visit in Portland if the weather permits.

Miss Lyla Holloway, spent the week end in Coquille as a guest of Miss Lois Morrison.

Mrs. M. H. Dement and daughter, Theresa, attended the Coquille-Myrtle Point game Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Turner and William Turner returned Tuesday.

The Myrtle Point Women's Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. Belle Whitaker, Tuesday afternoon. About eighteen members were present. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The Woman's Club is working for a library for the town. They have given one hundred dollars toward it and the budget committee two hundred. In the drive among the business men Wednesday about two hundred and fifty was secured. With this money to start with, they will be able to have quite a good library.

Walter Corbin broke both bones in his arm Sunday while playing football.

A number of the members of the M. E. church graded the ground for the sidewalk Monday. At noon they were given a Jiggs' dinner at Clarke's.

Perry Lawrence, of Coquille, was in town Monday.

Al Crouch, of Coquille, was a Myrtle Point visitor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fish and daughter, of Powers, were visitors in this city Monday.

Elmer Crouch, of lower Rock creek, came in Monday with the skin of a fine panther, which he killed up there. John Paulson, of Coquille, was in town Tuesday on business.

Henry A. Schroeder and J. M. Bledsoe went to Lakeside Saturday on a fishing trip. They had fine luck. J. S. Whitaker was a Marshfield visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barker, daughter, Aileen, and son, Cecil, were at the game Saturday at Coquille.

Mrs. C. C. Pratt, of Glendale, arrived Tuesday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Leland Linn.

T. A. Walker, of Coquille, was in town Tuesday.

Through an unfair decision of the referee, Nosler's touchdown was not counted and Myrtle Point lost to Coquille 3-0, last Saturday. Friday, Nov. 21, Marshfield plays here. We defeated Marshfield on their field 17-13, how would they be defeated on our field?

Miss Stella Parker, Alice Nosler, Eleanor Meserve, Lila Dement and George Parker were among those representing Myrtle Point at the Christian convention at Marshfield.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carter and Mrs. W. B. Carlson attended the game at Coquille Saturday.

Among the Myrtle Pointers at the Coquille game were: Mrs. Howard George, Miss Ethel Frazier, J. S. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Schroeder, Kenneth Porterfield, Leland Wagner, Errol Knight, Dan Barklow, Oryal Hazelwood, C. H. Got Clue in Coquille

A Portland paper tells how A. M. Dalrymple when he recently visited Coos Bay was in the office of Sheriff Ellingsen and happened to see a picture and circular giving the information that Evans was wanted. Mr. Dalrymple recalled this fact when Evans was at the penitentiary and at once got in telephone communication with Caldwell, Idaho, and the arrest followed as Evans was starting to leave the penitentiary. The girl, who was with him, at first denied that she was Evans' sister but later admitted it.

What Farmers Need

We want to get a Farmers' Market established at Marshfield or North Bend, Ore., to sell our produce direct to consumers and thus save $10,000 that goes to California each season. Fifteen trucks will come daily with fresh produce; 2,000 people will meet us daily and carry away our product.—Farmers.

Notice to Trespassers

We have leased our ranches, across and up the river for hunting purposes to Dan Brown and others and the public is warned not to trespass thereon. Violators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Notice to Remove Log

A red fir log 28 ft. long and 20 in. in diameter, marked P. L. with a circle around the letters washed on to my place near Fishtrap. If it is not removed I will cut it up.
 Grover C. Gouthier.

EAST FORK NOTES

Rufus Howe has commenced to log the timber from his 20 acres.

Lyle Marcy is at the Richmond hospital with his cut foot where he has been for two weeks or more.

Howard Richards, who was badly injured several weeks ago at Robert Ray's logging job is now at a hospital in Salem.

Al Besosky, the road patrol, and Jack Arnold are doing some road work.

A road meeting to vote or not vote a special tax in this road district is to be held at Marcy's place Nov. 24 at 10 o'clock a. m. My vote goes for the tax.

A week or more ago the Leathermens heard coyotes barking and the next morning they found a hog torn to pieces. This Tuesday morning we heard what sounded like a band of coyotes across the river. Lans Leneve, here is a chance for you to get more pelts.

Joe Smith, of Myrtle Point, is camping at Everett Howe's old barn and intends to try his hand at getting coyotes.

Milton Culbertson was four days at the Kaiser hospital. The doctors limbered up the muscles of his leg.

A parent-teacher meeting was held at Corvallis a few weeks ago and they resolved for the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution of the U. S.

At one of the weekly meetings of the Portland ministers, they resolved for the state legislature to adopt the child labor amendment at the coming session of the state legislature.

It may be possible there are some things these resolvers don't know and they might get wholesome information from the following article taken from the Rural New Yorker of Nov. 8, page 1413.

That Child Labor Amendment

In a recent issue of the Cleveland Times, C. A. Dyer has the following to say about the amendment to give Congress power to "limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age." Most of the people favoring this amendment, with whom we have talked, do not seem to know that the present school laws of most of the States give quite enough of protection for children. Most of them have no conception whatever of just what this proposed amendment will mean.

Much surprise is expressed by the National Child Labor Committee at the opposition of the Ohio State Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to the proposed amendment. This committee says, Ohio is one of the outstanding states in the protection of its children. It will be years before the majority of states reach these standards. Why, therefore, should objections come from Ohio?"

This question is easily answered. Ohio is getting an education as an "outstanding state." Under the operation of our present school laws, such situations as the following occur: A father, without help, keeps his able-bodied son at home one day to assist in putting in a necessary crop; a storm is approaching, and, without the son's aid, the crop could not be put in the ground in time; the father is arrested and fined. The growers of small fruit of the state are forced to violate the Ohio laws to pick their fruit; if they did not, their crops would rot, they would be forced out of business, and the urban centers would be without small fruits or import it from states whose laws are not so "outstanding." A mother taken by sudden illness, with no other help, keeps her daughter at home to care for her; by this act this mother becomes a criminal under Ohio's "outstanding" laws. If the parents of Ohio are subjected to such laws by their own home legislature it is a very natural sequence that they would distrust the distant Congress at Washington.

The proposed amendment is socialistic and repulsive to American ideals. It was drafted by Mrs. Florence Kelly Wischniewsky, president of the Intercollegiate Socialist League of the United States and former editor of the Archivfur Sozialgesetzbund of Berlin, Germany. It meets the approval of Bolshevist Russia.

Can any of these resolvers pronounce the name of the authoress of the proposed amendment, does her name indicate that she has any interest in the welfare of the United States?

These resolvers might remember what government owned "educators" did for Germany when Germany was Billie 2 and Billie 2 was Germany. They wrought out her damnation and made her name a stench in the nostrils of men.

That kind of a strangle hold by the schools will destroy any country, it makes no difference whether that country is a Germany or the United States.
 R. A. Easton.
