Where Road Funds Are to Be Spent in Coos County During This Year

Below is published a tabulation of the moneys budgeted for road work in all sections of Coos county this year. It is not the court's idea that the entire $619,000 will be spent this year, but the table shows where and from what funds money can be spent. Besides the $545,000 shown, there is $69,309.65 of market road money which the court has not made final disposition of, and $5,000 in the 50-50 road fund.

The three different columns show funds from sale of bonds, county budget and special tax moneys. The bond funds are not yet available and will not be until after the supreme court passes on the validity of the $400,000 issue approved by the votes last summer. The case is to be heard by them during the last week of this month. Practically the entire county is covered by the figures given below:

Old Council's Last Session

Mayor S. M. Nosler and four councilmen—Wiley, Bettys, Bosserman and Ramsey—started in on the last session of the old council Monday evening. C. C. Farr came in later.

There was not a great deal of business left to clean up but it was ten o'clock before final adjournment left the way open for the new officers to take charge.

The lease to the Coquille Chamber of Commerce of the Community Building was approved and the building turned over for that body to manage for the public benefit.

No objections having been filed to the proposed assessment for the paving on Second and Third streets, the assessment was adopted and property owners are given until Feb. 4 to pay the assessment or bond.

The first street sewer assessment was where the real rub of the evening came in and, although there were eight written protests filed, when all aspects of the case had been explained and talked over there was not a great amount of objection. One citizen came prepared to make objection but after seeing the records and map exclaimed, "I haven't anything to kick about," and went home.

One of the bones of contention was on the unequal assessment between lots on opposite sides of the street, where the sewer was not laid in the middle of the street but near the curb on one side. City Engineer Vinton stated that he admitted he had made a mistake in not assessing both lots the same in such case, and favored equalizing assessments in this regard.

V. R. Wilson, appearing for Mrs. Edith Cullin, protested against the assessment for a strip 40x100 feet, back of the place, where he lives, the hundred foot frontage, sixty feet deep on Henry street had been sold, so that the 40 feet length on two lots had no street frontage and he claimed they were not benefited by the sewer.

J. E. Paulson, Leo J. Cary and the heirs of C. M. Volkmar, claimed that the sewer was of no benefit to lots they owned on the south side of upper First street, where Dutch John creek runs close to the street. They claimed they could not connect with the sewer, their property lying so low.

Mr. Cary also objected to the condition in which First street was left, that it was not a finished job. Admitting that it was not, Mr. Vinton mentioned the shortage of water last summer, which prevented puddling for the back fill, resulting in mounds of earth along the street. The contractors, Hillstrom Bros., had promised to remove the dirt dumped on parkings but to date they have not kept their promise.

J. C. Watson, W. H. Mansell, A. J. Sherwood and Dan Brown were others who entered protests, the latter objecting to two sewer connections for one lot where he lives.

Finding the city officials disposed to do the right thing in the matter of adjusting the assessment, there was no ill feeling shown on anyone's part and the council proposed a re-assessment by laying the whole matter on the table for future consideration.

Mr. Vinton has been making the adjustment recommended by the council, this week and further consideration of the assessments will come up at a special council meeting to be held next Monday evening.

Having cleared the table of all business the retiring council was ready to adjourn sine die, and did so.

C. E. Mulkey Honored at Salem

Our County Superintendent of Schools, Charles E. Mulkey, was honored at Portland yesterday by election as president of the state association of county school superintendents.

The superintendents also went on record in favor of a return to the old three-day annual institute and of legislation specifying items to be included in computing the per capita cost of high school education, and including among these items transportation, interest on bonds and depreciation on building and equipment.

Railroad Story from Curry

A Marshfield press dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian says:

A new railroad story comes out of Curry county to the effect that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad proposes to build down the Oregon coast from Seaside to California and thence on to San Francisco, probably to attach to the Northwestern Pacific at its northern terminus at Eureka. The authority for the statement was said to have been a "railroad man who holds a responsible position with one of the transcontinental railroads."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET

organization is spending thousands of dollars to advertise Oregon. They desire our co-operation that we may receive the benefits of their campaign. The preparation of publicity matter and a lot of other things can be attended to by a part time secretary, which a business man has not time to consider, even though he might be secretary, concluded Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Morgan then introduced a motion, which was unanimously adopted, that the chair appoint a committee to draft a constitution and by laws for the chamber, making such alterations in the one now existing as would conform to the suggestions made that evening. The committee is also to act as a nominating body for placing candidates names before the chamber at the annual election which will be held Wednesday, Feb. 4. G. R. Morgan, L. H. Hazard, J. E. Norton, O. C. Sanford and H. A. Young were named.

Others who spoke during the evening were Mayor E. E. Johnson and E. G. Opperman, the latter offering the suggestion in a droll manner, after J. E. Ross had made his talk on cheese, that the Canaries sing, "Blest be the tie that binds."

Since Wednesday evening there has been hearty commendation heard all over town of the proposed changes and more interest manifested in Chamber of Commerce work than has been the case for many, many years.

It was frequently mentioned that the year 1925 shows prospects of being the most prosperous ever experienced in Coos county, with more real tourists visiting this section than ever before, and the need for adequate preparation to meet these new and improved conditions was stressed.

The Chamber has gotten off to a good start and with the hearty co-operation of all there is nothing that cannot be accomplished during the coming twelve months—even the securing of a paper manufacturing plant.

J. E. Ross Is a Vice President

At the annual meeting of the directors of the American Bank of Marshfield yesterday, Cashier John E. Ross, of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of this city, was elected vice president. C. McC. Johnson, formerly of this city, was similarly honored. The current report of the American bank shows that, after being in operation for nine months, it now ranks third in resources among the four Marshfield banks.

Badly Hurt at Cunningham

Earl Cunningham was most severely injured at the Coos Bay Logging Co. camp on Cunningham, last Monday, when the whistle punk gave the signal before he was ready. He was rushed over to Mercy hospital where it was found he had several bones broken, his face badly mashed and his nose literally torn off.

Another Slide on Highway

Last Sunday the Roseburg highway was blocked again at Sugarloaf, when nearly 10,000 cubic yards of earth fell just where the road was rendered impassable by a previous slide in November. The river here Tuesday showed how the abundant rains of the first of the week were spreading over many square miles of bottom land on the other side.
