Visitor at Sentinel Office

The Sentinel senior had a very pleasant call Tuesday from Ira P. E. Reynolds, who is special agent for a London Assurance company, and who used to be a neighbor of ours—living in an adjoining county in Illinois, and up the Verdigris, a couple of counties north of our Kansas home. Of course, we recalled many common acquaintances, among them the Munger family, now represented by the Marshfield laundry-man, Geo. M. Munger, in this section. Our caller used to live in the same Kansas county as J. E. Ross, of the Farmers and Merchants Bank here; and we spent a very interesting, half hour chatting about Kansas and the Kansans we both knew.

Burkholder Finishes Job

Frank Burkholder, who had been here for six weeks taking the Agricultural Census of the Coquille district, left Monday evening for his home in Eugene. He said that the work had been a pleasure, the almost unflinching courtesy and co-operation of the ranchers making it easy to obtain the statistics desired. These include the value of all farm property, improved and unimproved lands, buildings, implements and machinery, poultry, the various kind of crops, their quantity and value, and anything else that would help provide statistics as to the agricultural resources of the country.

Tom Wimer Breaks Leg

Tom Wimer had the misfortune to break his right leg in the blacksmith shop Tuesday evening and Dr. Richmond says it will be six weeks before he can remove the cast and that Tom can't walk on his foot then for some time.

He went in to work after supper, and accidentally stepped into the pit from where they work beneath cars. He supposed it had been closed and did not see the hole. Both small bones were broken and the joint in the ankle was cracked.

The Publicity Paid

Manager Larson of the Coos Bay Mutual creamery says the advertising fund for Melowest cheese will run to about $5,000 for the year 1925. That is a cent a pound on a half million pounds of cheese. This will not cost the producer anything because the advertising makes the cheese bring a premium of more than a cent a pound above the price for unknown brands.

Something like $20,000 was spent for publicity for the Melowest brand in the days of the Dairymen's League. That money will not all have been spent in vain if the brand is established on the market and made to mean something to the consumer. Already there is a demand for all the cheese made under Melowest regulations.

Melowest winnings in the last three years include seven blue ribbons and four second prizes. They were taken at Oregon, Washington and Idaho state fairs. A silver medal was also awarded the Coos county product at the national dairy show at St. Paul.

This year the first prizes at Salem and Portland went to the Coos Bay factory while Broadbent won both second places.—Bandon World.

Coquille Girl in the Game

Winema club of Waldo hall at the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, carried off the championship in the women's intramural basketball series by defeating the downtown girls last night, 24 to 14. Both teams have been strong in teamwork and ability to shoot baskets from the beginning of the series. The downtown girls were last year's champions. Credit in exceptional guarding goes to Florence Bryant, center for the downtown team, and to Clarabel Mintonye of the Winema team, for basket shooting. Four of the members of the Winema team are freshmen who have played on high school teams.

The Winema team was composed of Myrtle Klamp, captain; Clarabel Mintonye, Opal Sims, Elizabeth Curry, Irene Riechel and Helen Rostvold. The downtown girls' team included Helen Moser, captain; Carol Chapman, Florence Bryant, Ivy Shearer, Itha Clinton and Bessie Harndenberger.

Longer Service, More Service

In a letter received this week from Senator Stanfield, he says: "Oregon has never received the earnest and favorable consideration of both Congress and the Board of Engineers that it has during recent years when Oregon's representation in Congress has been harmonious among themselves and in accord with the Administration. Length of service, acquaintance and strong committee positions attained by Oregon's members are controlling factors in securing appropriations for rivers and harbors, reclamation and highways, all of which aid materially in the development of our State."

Married Sixty-nine Years

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stillwell, of Bandon, last Tuesday celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary. He is 87 years of age, and she is 83, so they must have been married when she was 14 and he was 18. They are probably the oldest wedded pair in the state—old enough to have celebrated their golden wedding in 1906—nineteen years ago. The World says he has been ill for some time and is very low.

Marriage Licenses

Jan. 17—Geo. G. Ford and Goldie Belle Shea, both of Powers. They were married the same day by Justice J. J. Stanley at his office here.

Jan. 17—John H. Hoerster and Elvina Hester Carlile, both of Myrtle Point. They were married here the same day at his residence by Rev. Chas. S. Bergner.

Jan. 19—Andy Anderson and Stella H. Kjelland, both of North Bend. They were married the same day by Rev. W. E. Sanderson at his home in North Bend.

Representative Dal M. King, of this county, has introduced a bill at Salem to prohibit fishing with seines in the Coquille river.

At Portland Wednesday Henry Frock, a laborer 49 years old, died of heart failure after cranking his engine for 20 minutes.

The Sentinel and the Oregon Farmer both for $2.25 a year.

Coquille River Secures Aid

The first step toward securing a new federal improvement project for the Bandon harbor was completed Friday when the rivers and harbors bill, including authorization for survey of the Coquille river bar and entrance, passed the house. Word to that effect was received in a telegram to the Bandon Chamber of Commerce by Senator R. N. Stanfield.

The project for which a survey is desired includes the extension of the north jetty 1500 feet seaward by rebuilding 500 feet of the old jetty which is now submerged, and the building of 1000 feet of new jetty.

The movement for securing the survey was launched a year ago through the medium of the special harbor edition of Western World, a copy of which was delivered to each member of congress.—Western World

Almost a Centenarian

Mrs. George Farrier, of Denmark, whose death was recorded in the last issue of the Western World, would have been one hundred years old in September of this year. Mrs. Farrier was born in Nova Scotia. She settled first at Port Orford about 60 years ago, later removing to Coos county and then back to Curry. Mrs. Farrier had been in exceptional health for one a century old and was ill only a short time before her death. Mrs. Farrier had been the mother of eight children, but only two survive, Mrs. Neils Nygren, of Bandon, and Mrs. Neil McKenzie, of Ontario, Canada. There are numerous grandchildren and also great grandchildren.—Yesterday's Bandon World.

Have Yet to Learn Much About Disease

What is disease? Everybody knows that disease involves a physical injury to tissue cells, but what and how? The truth is, we are really only at the beginning of our knowledge of the cause of disease. We must be able to measure exactly the injury, the vitality and the degree of recovery of body cells to find the answer, writes Paul H. De Kruif in the American Mercury.

Recently a man named Osterhout, obscure name among biologists, has made a step toward answering the question. Working with a common sea-weed, lammaria, he has begun to give exact meanings to the hitherto vague terms, vitality, injury and recovery. He has found that normal weeds possess a certain resistance to the passage of an electric current, that this resistance may be accurately measured, and that it is always of exactly the same order of magnitude for the cells of healthy lammaria. But take the cells out of their natural environment in sea water and put them in solutions of different content and density, and their resistance to the electric current falls at once. The greater the damage to the cells the greater the fall.

The coincidence of the fall in resistance with the degree of injury has enabled Osterhout to construct equations which predict the exact amount of injury that the cells of lammaria will suffer. He can write down just how much and how long a cell can be exposed to damage and still recover completely. In brief, Osterhout measures injury, vitality and recovery. "That is the beginning of science. That is the real beginning of the answer to the question: 'What is disease?'"
