Son of Early Settler

Witnesses in federal court may attract more publicity but a good saw filer makes three times as much in wages, according to Charles Aiken, of Brookings, who appeared in the case of Brookings-State bank against Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco. Aiken draws $9 per day as saw filer for Brookings mill but $3 per day was the most the court would allow, says the News.

Charles Aiken is the son of Andrew Glenn Aiken, one of the early settlers of the Coquille Valley for whom Glenn Aiken Creek, three miles up the valley, was named. A view of the high railroad bridge on the Chaney logging road up Glenn Aiken creek is presented elsewhere in this issue.

Coquille Wins Its Third

Team	Standing	W	L	PC
Coquille	3	0	1,000
Powers	3	0	1,000
Arago	2	0	1,000
Myrtle Point	1	2	.333

Bandon	0	3	.000
North Bend	0	3	.000

Either the Coquille basketball five was not up to standard last Friday night when Bandon was played in the city by the sea, or else the team there is developing new strength, for Coach Leslie's boys had the hardest game they have had this year. At the end of the first half Coquille was leading by a single point, 14 to 13. The game ended 23 to 15 in Coquille's favor.

Earl Rice, who had not been in the game for a week preceding, did the stellar work for Coquille, getting six of the field goals.

The same night Powers maintained its tie with Coquille for league leadership, winning from North Bend, 20 to 16.

Arago proved that it was very much in the running as a contender for the title by burying Myrtle Point under an avalanche of baskets, 40 to 8. If Coquille wins out this year the fast and husky Arago team is the one which must be beaten.

The hostess served dainty refreshments and the guests returned home at an early hour, after having spent a delightful evening.

New Bridge on the Highway

The state highway bridge gang has nearly finished constructing a practically new bridge over Shingle-house slough on the Coquille-Marshfield highway. The feat was accomplished without stopping traffic except for half hour periods now and then. The crew is now decking the new structure.

All the old beams under the bridge were replaced—in short, the whole structure down to the piling was renewed. The job was done by placing a wooden truss span over the part of the bridge to be renewed. Traffic passed over the temporary span while men were working below.

White cedar was used in the construction.—Times.

The silver tea given at the home of Mrs. C. T. Skeels by the Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon was a decided success, twenty dollars being realized for the Student Loan Fund. Mrs. Fred Lorenz gave two readings, which were much applauded. Mrs. A. W. Bell and Mrs. Geo. Leach ponored at the beautifully appointed tea table and were assisted by Mrs. C. J. Fuhrman, Mrs. O. C. Job is in sandy soil and rain has to be pretty heavy to make operations suspended.

The crew last week lost half a day on Wednesday, but just to make up any lack of procedure they worked a half day on Sunday and made this week a full one.

About sixty employees are engaged in the work which extends from Hauser to a short distance beyond Eel Lake, near Clear Lake, where the City of Reedsport wants the survey changed so that the water supply from that lake may not be polluted.

The area beyond Eel Lake is of a character which does not permit grading in winter time, being clay.

When the crew cannot grade there it is kept busy farther this way, where sandy stretches permit of work.

The road is passing Lakeside to the westward between half a mile and three-quarters, and to connect with the thoroughfare, the county awarded Lakeside a county road to be gravelled. This will give the Lakeside district access to Coos Bay. The clearing has gone well as has the job, and contractors who know the area believe the firm of Solberg & Gates will make money on the job.—Harbor.
