County Court Fixes Salaries

The county court was in session here last Tuesday at which time the following monthly salaries for deputies, clerks and employees at the court house were fixed, as follows:

S. A. Malehorn, deputy sheriff, $150.

Geo. O. Leach, deputy sheriff, $175.

Eva M. Lenox, deputy sheriff, $120.

Nels Osmundson, clerk sheriff's office, $150.

A. H. Bender, deputy clerk, $150.

Jno. W. Leneve, bookkeeper, $150.

Maxine Kistner, deputy clerk, $120.

Maudie Pierson, deputy clerk, $110.

Mary Griener, recording clerk, $90.

W. M. Way, clerk treasurer's office, $75.

Mary Bennett, deputy assessor, $120.

A. A. Selander, draftsman, $175.

Eva J. Haines, stenographer in school superintendent's office, $110.

W. C. Rose, janitor, $75.

Quite a bunch of lots was sold to the Bandon Beach Realty Co., for $50, and another lot to the city of Bandon for $58.48. These were lots bid in by the county for delinquent taxes.

The Daily News and Coos Bay Times have been made the official county papers, which carries with it the publication of the monthly county court proceedings.

The Sentinel was given the publication of the delinquent tax summons at its bid of $190.

The old voting precinct of Catching Inlet was re-established as No. 59, parts of the Coos River and Sumner precincts being used to form the new one.

Pictures of Log Drive

To obtain motion pictures of a record log drive in the Coquille river Saturday (tomorrow) and the discharge of the 40,000 pound powder blast at the Hauser quarry on Coos river next Tuesday, Fox Film company camera men will arrive on Coos Bay by automobile Friday, according to word received by Earl W. Gates, president of Marshfield chamber of commerce today.

At a special meeting of directors of the chamber held today, Captain George Mayo, U. S. engineer, was asked to delay enforcement of an order closing lower portions of Coos river to log rafting.

It Was Not J. F. Boyle

The J. J. Boyle, whose funeral was held last Sunday at Brownsville, Ore., was not the son of Mrs. Myron Wickham, of this city. His initials were J. F. The mistaken idea was aroused here by the press dispatches which stated that he was formerly a brakeman on the Marshfield-Powers branch of the S. P. in this county. Mrs. Wickham's son left here early in January for his home in Washington after spending a month visiting here.

J. C. Mull a Good Worker

J. C. Mull, who has been associated with the Sentinel for the past month in preparing the special write-ups for Coquille business houses, has proved himself a dependable co-worker, straight in every particular, and one with whom it is a pleasure to have business dealings. He has had years of experience in this line of work and we recommend him to any of the fraternity who are contemplating an edition of this kind.

Tides Affected by Eclipse

Both last Saturday and Sunday tides were affected by the eclipse of the sun which took place Saturday morning but which was visible only in a limited area extending from Minnesota to the Atlantic coast and over a strip about 100 miles in width. The tides here on both days were two feet higher than the normal high tide while the ebbs were extremely low.—Bandon World.

Two Held for Burglary

Chet Vining and Chester Johnson, two North Bend young men, were placed in jail here last Saturday and are held in default of $1,000 bail each. They were bound over to the grand jury on a burglary charge following their being caught in a residence at North Bend. They claimed they just wanted to play the phonograph but the rumaged household effects told another story.

Restaurant to Open Saturday

Phil Carpenter expects to open his restaurant, "Phil's Place," in the building in Front street, next door to the Lorenz store, tomorrow. He has spent considerable time and money fitting it up and has a first-class place. He plans on running three shifts.

Chevrolet Chassis on Display

Graham's Garage announces that a chassis of the new 1925 Chevrolet will be on display in their show room on Front street on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2. The public is cordially invited to come in and inspect it.

DUCK BANQUET WAS ENJOYED BY NINETY

We cannot give even a synopsis of the individual talks but all of them were interspersed with a lot of humor.

Geo. Johnson's story of a conversation between Arthur Ellingson and Ira Johnson was good. Those two were discussing the meaning of the word "garland." Arthur said it was a wreath of flowers, but Ira insisted that "garland" meant a "goose rooster."

M. J. Hartson had nothing to say about how long after sundown it is before the sun goes down, but told story of a man who lost a button off his trousers while at a dance. Accompanying his wife to a rest room he removed his clothes while she sewed it on. Hearing voices, the madam pushed him through a door, supposing it to be a closet, and locked it. Immediately he began 'pounding on the door.

"You wait there," she ordered.

"But, Mary, I'm back in the ball room," was his horrified rejoinder.

Alton Grimes, Coquille's most confirmed bachelor among the younger men, was the butt of many a joke as he sat in the midst of a bevy of femininity and seemed to be enjoying himself.

Arthur Fish, district game warden, in his remarks, dealt primarily with the matter of game conservation and was commendatory of the sportsmen in the duck club, who have usually assisted him in every way to see that the game laws are obeyed.

J. A. Lamb gave a humorous account of the trials and tribulations of a duck hunter, beginning with a five o'clock breakfast at the restaurant where, if you smiled sweetly enough at the waitress, you secured a bite to eat.

"Yes," came back the toastmaster, "and when the rest of us left for the marsh, Mr. Lamb was still sitting there, smiling sweetly."

This third banquet was the most successful, though, it could hardly be said to have been more enjoyable than the two which preceded it, and is an event pleasurable anticipated by those who are annually invited to be present.

Following is the list of those who sat down for this annual feast:

Messrs. and Mesdames A. J. Sherwood, Jos. Hartson, Geo. Lorenz, J. W. Miller, R. F. Miller, Fred Sample, Ray Long, Chas. Ashton, G. E. Low, M. J. Hartson, H. W. Pierce, A. W. Chapin, Fred Hudson, W. E. Bosserman, Geo. Battey, Geo. R. Johnson, Ed. Lorenz, H. A. Young, F. L. Greenough, J. A. Lamb, Henry Hess, Paul Van Scoy, J. S. Houck, Alf. Johnson, J. S. Lawrence, L. H. Hazard, A. N. Gould, Fred Lorenz, Henry Lorenz, Walter Bever, Mesdames Henrietta Morgan, J. E. Ross, Anna Rooney, Misses Pauline Lorenz, Marian Young, Martha Seebaum, Alpha Achenbach; Messrs. Hugh Harlocker, E. H. Harnden, Arthur Fish, Alfred Miller, Ira Johnson, Jas. Caughell, Robt. Stewart, Wm. Bettys, Jas. Watson, Dr. C. A. Rietman, Robt. Ross, G. Russell Morgan, Alton Grimes, Arthur Ellingson, Denton Ellingson, Herman Ellingson, and Messrs. Henry Schroeder, Chas. Harlocker, Wm. Lundy, and Harry Dement, of Myrtle Point and Elmer Droste, of Portland.

Bankers' Quarterly Meeting

The Coos & Curry Bankers Association met here for their regular quarterly session and banquet at the hotel Tuesday evening. There were twenty-three in attendance, each city in the county being represented. The past year's officers were re-elected as follows:

President—John H. Grevas, of North Bend.

Vice president—O. C. Sanford, of Coquille.

Sec.-Treas.—John Ferguson, of Marshfield.

Tractor Demonstration

For Friday, February 13, the Coquille Motor Company, the local representatives of the Ford Motor manufacturers, have arranged to stage an entirely novel event at their immense garage across the street from the Sentinel office—a Fordson Tractor clinic. The Ford company is sending in a specially trained crew of men, who will completely tear down and dismantle one of the Fordson tractors and at once rebuild it, while a demonstrator will explain every stage of the process as they go along.

The program will begin at 9 a. m. and continue throughout the day. Seats will be provided for spectators, and every one who wants to know more about the construction of his tractor and the way to handle it in making repairs is cordially invited to be present.

Special Chicken Dinner at the new Coquille Hotel every Sunday.

Calling cards, 100 for $1.50.

The Unification Movement

According to advices received at the headquarters of the "Friends of Unification" movement, at Nashville, Tenn., Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the M. E. Church, South, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee on organization of the movement, which is formed for the purpose of creating sentiment favorable to unification of northern and southern branches of the Methodist church.

For the prosecution of this work Bishop Cannon announces that he has opened an office in Richmond, Virginia, and that those interested may address him on this subject at P. O. box 605.

Advocating the widest discussion of the proposed plan of unification, pro and con, the committee of which Bishop Cannon is head, announces its purpose of placing before the people, through the printed page, by public speech and private conversations, facts concerning the responsibility of Southern Methodists for the unification of American Episcopal Methodism and the facts concerning the proposed plan, its advantages and disadvantages, wherever the people desire it.

Many Accidents at Bay

The old proverb, "it never rains but pours," was illustrated Wednesday and Thursday mornings when accident reports were sent in to the Keizer hospital from many sources, no two from the same place.

Lee Neely, of the Western White Cedar company, had his toes badly crushed by getting them in the way of a loaded lumber truck.

Fred Vane of the Stout Lumber company at Eel lake, had a piece of steel driven into his hand from a wedge he was holding. The steel was removed Thursday morning.

Millie Abramson received treatment for a strained back sustained while lifting lumber at the Coos Veneer plant.

Olaf Bjerke, of the Empire Logging company, was struck in the side with a falling butt. His face and scalp were badly lacerated and his ear punctured.

G. V. De Janvier, Stout mill A., received a fractured and bruised toe when an iron bar was dropped on his foot.—Coos Bay Times.

Mrs. Morgan Entertained

Tuesday evening Mrs. Inez Chase entertained a large number of Pythian Sisters in honor of Mrs. Henrietta Morgan, of Hillsboro, who has been prominent in the grand lodge of that order. The evening was spent in sewing and conversation. The hostess was assisted in serving a delicious lunch by Mrs. C. C. Williams and Mrs. Theo. Clinton.

Those present were Mesdames John Belloni, Cecil Elwood, Geo. Gilman, Joe Heckert, S. A. Malehorn, W. L. Kistner, Geo. Davis, A. O. Walker, Roy Watson, Alice Schroeder, Warren Davis, A. J. Detlefsen, Fred Hickok, Otto Davis, Theodore Clinton, C. C. Williams, Miller, Simmons, Jim Gage, of Marshfield, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Chase.

Error in Historical Sketch

The corrected proofs of the early day history of Coquille did not get back to the printer in time, so some of the mistakes went uncorrected. Two dates are given for the great fire of 1892, but the correct date is May 30. The old log school house burned which necessitated a new building. John T. Moulton purchased lots 2 and 3 in block 1 of the Willard plat February 18, 1873, and Mrs. M. W. (Charlotte) Miller purchased lots 1 and 12 of the same block on May 18, 1873. C. Andrews erected his building in 1872 instead of 1827 as printed.

Ferry Contracts Let

Contracts for ferrymen have been awarded by the county court during the past ten days.

John Graham and his brother were named as captain and engineer of the ferry, Roosevelt, at salaries of $160 each a month.

Jas. I. Watson was the successful bidder, of two applicants, for the Riverton ferry job, at $100 a month.

David W. Holden was given the contract for operating the ferryboat, Transit, across Coos Bay, at $550 per month. There were four bidders for the position.

Cabin Boy Dies

John G. Stomer, 18-year-old youth, died at the Emergency hospital. Stomer was cabin boy on the steamer Brooklyn and became critically ill of Bright's disease while coming up on the boat trip before last. The boat lay off the bar four days and by the time the boy entered the hospital he was running a temperature of 105, and was unconscious most of the time.—Bandon World.

Tom Bennett at Portland

T. T. Bennett, attorney of Marshfield, says the mountain drive from that city to Grants Pass is more interesting in the winter than in the summer. "I just completed the trip to Brookings via Grants Pass and found the roads good and the scenery a revelation. I have several times made the trip in summer, but was never as pleased with the journey as this time. And I took this route only because the coast road is difficult to traverse." Mr. Bennett said that Marshfield will soon begin the erection of a hotel which he thinks will vie with the new hotel at Ashland as the finest between Portland and San Francisco. "The stock has all been subscribed, the site selected, and contracts will be let in the near future," he said. Mr. Bennett is at the Imperial hotel.—Oregonian.

Improvements at Bandon

Mrs. Clara A. Miller, Bandon realty dealer, reports the sale of the Dyer homestead property known as Circle City, a total of 40 acres, to Mrs. Mae Techtman, of Portland, the consideration being $1,000. The property has several small houses on it that are to be improved. The new owner, it is understood, has quite extensive plans for improvement. She has been here to look the place over and will return with her son in the near future to begin the improvement.—Western World.
