Wrigley and the Engine
 Many retailers have stocked merchandise that was supposed to sell because of a flurry of advertising to appear in local papers. The following story recently told of William Wrigley illustrates the continual effort necessary to keep goods before the public.
 While riding on a train Mr. Wrigley was told by a friend that his product was so widely known he was wasting money by continually advertising.
 "If the engine were to be cut off from this train what would happen?" asked Mr. Wrigley.
 "The train would coast for a while and then come to a stop."
 "Exactly," said Mr. Wrigley. "And if I should cut off advertising my business would coast for a while and then stop."

New Flavor for Ham
 The writer was puzzled as to how to use the juice from his pickled peaches until the idea occurred to her of adding it to hams, either baked or boiled. The entire juice of a quart jar should be poured over the ham before baking or added to the water if the process is boiling.—Christian Science Monitor.

Cleanly Ancestors
 Hygiene has advanced wonderfully during the past generation, but others have been clean before us. Over 2,000 years ago the Gauls were making soap out of the ashes of beech trees and goats' fat. Modern people have not all the virtues.

When Anger Tempts
 Anger makes anger. Quarrels eat up life like a canker worm. So the next time you write a red-hot letter don't post it at once. Read it again the next day, and you will be thankful that it was never posted, except in the nearest fire.

Other Side of the Matter
 Mrs. Boorman Horton—we're kind of proud of her!—says that the American woman is the flower of evolution. But we can't get it out of our minds that she is the thistle of revolution when she's denied anything.—Buffalo Evening Times.

SOCIAL NOTES
 One of the most enjoyable bridge parties of the week was given by Mrs. F. C. Hudson at her home on last Friday evening. Masses of daffodils and huckleberry greens were used for decorations. Each guest drew a small paper hatchet with their table number and each were also numbered in rotation. No. 13 was drawn by Mrs. C. W. Ashton and she was given a beautiful bud vase. High score prize was won by Mrs. H. C. Getz. Those enjoying the delightful affair were Mesdames Viola Collier, T. B. Currie, J. E. Paulson, J. S. Barton, A. O. Walker, C. A. Baer, Neil McGilvery, A. W. Chapin, J. A. Burket, J. E. Norton, H. W. Pierce, G. Earl Low, H. C. Getz, M. J. Hartson, W. V. Glaisyer, Jennie Price, C. W. Ashton, E. L. Vinton, Miller and Bottem.

Mrs. E. W. Lorenz was hostess at the regular meeting of the senior "50" club at her home Saturday evening. Masses of narcissi and daffodils were used in the room. Those enjoying the evening were Mesdames T. B. Currie, Viola Collier, W. V. Glaisyer, C. C. Eviand, L. H. Hazard, Geo. Lorenz, J. E. Paulson, H. W. Pierce, H. S. Norton, H. C. Getz, J. L. Smith, J. S. Barton, J. A. Lamb and Miss Marian Young. Mrs. W. V. Glaisyer received club prizes and Mrs. H. S. Norton the guest prize. Mrs. Lorenz was assisted by Mrs. Geo. Lorenz and Mrs. J. A. Lamb in serving delicious refreshments.

One of the prettiest affairs of the social season was the Martha Washington tea given by the members of St. James' Episcopal guild at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Bell on the Highway Monday afternoon. The spacious rooms were decorated in keeping with the occasion with flags, lighted candles and daffodils and greens.

The guests were met at the door by Jessa Barton dressed as a negro page and in the receiving line were Charlotte Bell as Martha Washington; Pauline Chase as Geo. Washington, and Mrs. A. W. Bell, Mrs. J. A. Lamb and Mrs. L. H. Hazard, dressed as colonial ladies. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. E. W. Lorenz, Mrs. A. J. Sherwood, Mrs. J. W. Miller and Miss Martha Seebaum also dressed to represent ladies of the long ago. In the dining room Mrs. L. H. Hazard and Mrs. A. J. Sherwood served. Miss Eleanor Polson and Catherine Wilson and Margaret Bell assisted in serving. During the afternoon the following program was rendered: an instrumental duet by Mrs. Helen Sperry and Miss Margaret Bell, a recitation and instrumental solo by Anne Barton in costume, a vocal solo by Mrs. J. W. Miller, an instrumental solo by Miss Margaret Bell and a vocal solo by Mrs. E. W. Lorenz.

The Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. H. W. Pierce Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. T. B. Currie, a past president of the club, presided. The club will only meet once a month hereafter, the fourth Tuesday of each month being the date. The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Viola Collier with Mrs. Bert Folsom, Mrs. W. V. Glaisyer and Mrs. J. A. Burket as the committee. The main discussion of the afternoon was ways and means for a library. The club decided to give a May Day dance to raise funds. The following were present: Mesdames A. L. Burch, Viola Collier, Chas. Crouch, Keith Leslie, R. B. Rogers, T. B. Currie, Geo. Leach, Paul Van Scoy, Ed. McKeown, Ida Owen, H. H. Hazard, C. J. Fuhrman, L. P. Maury, Jas. Brady, J. W. Laird and J. A. Lamb. Chances were taken on a cake and Elizabeth Pierce drew the No. 15 from the hat, which was held by Mrs. Paul Van Scoy, who very proudly carried home the cake. At the close of the sessions, Mrs. C. J. Fuhrman, A. J. Sherwood and Ida Owen served tea.

Mrs. H. L. Lukens was the honor guest of a delightful bridge party last Tuesday evening, given by Mrs. E. L. Vinton, the occasion being Mrs. Lukens' twenty-first birthday anniversary. Pussy willows and daffodils were the decorations. Those invited were Mesdames Otto Davis, Ed. Walker, Roy Watson, Benj. Hersey, Julius Rubie, A. W. Chapin Jr., the honor guest and hostess.
 Mrs. Ed. Walker held high score. Later the guests were invited to the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served including a birthday cake.

Mrs. J. A. Burket was hostess at bridge Monday evening, two tables being in play. Those enjoying the game were the Mesdames J. L. Aasen, H. C. Getz, G. Earl Low, M. J. Hartson, H. S. Norton, W. V. Glaisyer and Jas. Brady. Mrs. Hartson held high score.
 St. James Episcopal Guild met with

Mrs. E. W. Lorenz Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Thos. White, presiding. Members present were Mesdames F. L. Greenough, J. A. Lamb, H. W. Pierce, Geo. Leach, Nels Omundson, Sarah Wickham, A. W. Bell, H. W. Miller, Geo. Lorenz, L. H. Hazard, Thos. White, A. J. Sherwood, Paul Van Scoy, J. S. Barton, Ida Owen and Claire Treadgold, of Bandon. The meeting next Wednesday will be held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Bell.

The "500" party given by the "Three Links" club was well attended and those present spent a very enjoyable evening. Mrs. E. L. Vinton and Mr. Jas. Brady received high score prizes and Mrs. Roy Neal and Mr. Alton Grimes were consoled. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served in the late evening.

Waterman Gets Three Years
 Clyde Waterman, ex-school clerk of School District No. 52, Bancroft, pleaded guilty yesterday morning in Circuit court before Judge Evans to the charge of larceny on which he was indicted. He was sentenced to three years in the pen.

His mother was prepared to make good his defaultations but Judge Evans could not see that mitigated his offense and he could see no reason for showing clemency.

The bondsmen, an uncle, a cousin and a bonding company, are ready to make good the $500, which he is short on school records, but they have not been asked to make good the $2,000 of forged warrants which are now being held by Myrtle Point banks.

Until they make a demand for the payment of these warrants the district will not proceed to collect from the bondsmen.

Jas. Watson has been named as attorney for the school district. There are going to be several matters of school law passed upon before all the suits liable to grow out of this case are ended, regarding the liability of school directors and clerks. Two thousand dollars' worth of the warrants issued by Waterman were not authorized by the school directors. Can the district be made to pay them is one of the questions which will come up as the several cases are filed. Another matter to be investigated is a possible shortage in the accounts of Clyde Waterman as administrator of his father's estate. Other phases of his activities will develop later, in all probability, in other suits in the Circuit court.

Typing Contest March 7
 The annual county typing contest will be held here Saturday, March 7, for which six teams have already entered and several more are expected, according to officials of the contest. A silver loving cup will be awarded the winning school by the county athletic association, to be held one year, and which is to become the permanent property of the school winning it three times. The teams entered for the contest are Marshfield, North Bend, Coos River, Coquille, Myrtle Point and Bandon. Powers is also expected to enter.

To Close Highway in California
 The interior highway to California by way of Ashland and the Sacramento valley isn't going to be a good way to travel south from March 1 to May 15, owing to reconstruction work for four miles at Halfway creek, 23 miles north of Redding. The engineer there says that the road will be closed to travel for 16 hours a day and that accommodations for travelers are limited in that section. During much of those two and a half months, however, the coast highway will probably be in fair condition from Bandon down to Eureka.

Honored at O. A. C.
 Rosa Fredenberg, of Coquille, sophomore in pharmacy, has been elected to membership in the Rebekah club. Students are accepted by this club when recommendations are received from home lodges. A dance was given by the club for the Three Link club and friends after the game with Oregon Saturday night.

GRACEFUL AFTERNOON GOWNS ELEGANT BUT UNASSERTIVE

THE simplest afternoon and dinner gowns afford greater opportunities for varying the toilette than their more ornate rivals because they are inconspicuous and allow the use of chic accessories. If one can indulge in an assortment of dresses for afternoon this consideration need not enter into the choice of styles, but the majority of women must limit themselves. They are sensible when they choose (as they usually do) graceful and simple gowns (of first-rate materials) that are elegant but not assertive in design. A beautiful example of a dress of this character is pictured here made of black crepe de chine and adorned with beaded bands, also in black. It tells its own simple but exquisite story and is the sort of dress that its wearer will never tire of. The mode presents many variations of present styles in dresses of this character and naturally many of them are in black. With these gowns sashes, corsage ornaments, scarfs, collars, jewelry contribute means of adding color and variety.

In materials crepe-satin is a favorite because both its surfaces may be combined in inconspicuous decorative effects. Then there are plain, straight-line black velvet gowns, satin and lace combinations and new arrivals in which faille or bengaline silk are combined with kasha or other cloth. Broadcloth is also represented in the displays of afternoon gowns. While we are looking about for dependable and adaptable afternoon garb we run across many tempting interpretations of current styles in combinations of black with a color. Black satin, with side panels and vest of dull-purple georgette, black with an apronlike tunic of tobacco-brown satin, black with vivid green introduced in a sash and black with flesh color.

Gurley Boak Buried Today
 Gurley Boak, engineer on the port tug Killyham at Bandon, died Wednesday afternoon, after having been confined to his bed for over a month, following an attack of heart disease while making a trip to North Bend. He came to Bandon 35 years ago and has held positions as a marine engineer ever since.

An Old Resident Passes
 W. L. Chenoweth, of Denmark, father of the Chenoweth boys, and one of the old residents of that section, died there, and was buried at the Denmark cemetery Tuesday. He would have been 83 years old in September of this year.
 He crossed the plains with an ox team in 1852, in a caravan headed by his father, who had made one previous trip to the Pacific coast by way of Cape Horn. He settled in California and then slowly worked his way to the coast, following the game, until he settled in Curry county in 1885, and where he lived until his death.
 He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, of Cleo, Oregon, and three sons, John H. and James L., of Denmark, and G. D., of Gold Beach.—Bandon World.

Deceased is survived by his widow and four children: H. E. Boak, of the McNair Hardware Co., Mrs. Carl G. Garoutte and Mrs. Ralph T. Moore, all of Bandon, and Mrs. Bert G. Babb, of Valsetz, Oregon; also by two brothers, Thomas and William, and one sister, Mrs. Hattie J. Cooper, of Michigan, the latter of whom had not seen him since he came west but who arrived in Bandon the day before his death. The funeral takes place at Bandon this afternoon.
