City Council Doings

The slide on Spurgeon Hill last winter, which took out sections of sidewalk in front of the Ira Johnson, E. E. Drake and W. H. Winger places on the south side of Spurgeon street, was considered by the city council Monday evening without any decision being reached as to who should pay for the repair.

City Engineer Vinton, after examining the slide, gave as his opinion that the water soaking through the macadam pavement there had caused the damage. He stated there were three methods by which repair could be made—either by a retaining wall varying from four to twelve feet in height, a toe wall four feet high, or by piling on that side of the street. He recommended the last plan as the cheapest and most satisfactory. It will require about 500 yards of earth to fill the street at a two to one grade on the slope.

The property owners there are naturally unwilling to pay for the repair, as it happened through no neglect of theirs.

The street committee was requested to make further investigation and recommend to the council how the repair should be made—and paid for. It is dangerous to pedestrians at present.

The light committee was authorized to have a police signal light installed in the intersection of First and Taylor streets. The committee estimates the cost at less than $45 and the telephone company will make no charge for operating it.

On the same committee's recommendation, the light north of the Jas. W. Laird residence, on the Fairview road, was ordered moved to a point 100 feet south of where it is now located.

The matter of $219—back taxes, interest and penalty—on the Myrtle Grove was brought up by City Attorney Stanley. When the tract was bought in November 1920 by the city, the former owners—Mrs. J. J. Lamb—had paid all taxes due and given a warranty deed. The 1920 assessment had been made March 1st of that year but as the taxes were not levied until the following January or February, they could not pay the 1920 taxes at the time of giving the city a deed.

As municipal property is exempt from taxation, no thought was given to the taxes for 1920 and interest and penalty had amounted to $75 before the city was notified by the sheriff's office that there was a lien on the park.

There being nothing else to do the council ordered the $219.18 paid.

Sale of improvements bonds for unpaid assessments of $4463.94 on the First street sewer, and of $7137.47 on the Second and Third street improvement was authorized by ordinance. A call for bids on these bonds appears elsewhere in this issue.

F. G. Leslie made a talk to the council on the condition of First street and the unfinished state in which the contractors, Hillstrom Bros., have left it. He figured that the damage to his car was more than the sewer improvement cost him, and urged the council, in view of a possible hard surface in pavement of that street this year, to have the ditches, or rather the mounds of earth where the pipe was laid, puddled.

The street committee approved his suggestion, and the street commissioner was instructed to secure what help is necessary to get the earth there settled to a firm condition.

J. J. Stanley told the councilmen that he hoped they would make some move this spring toward resurfacing Second street, from the Sentinel corner west to his place, in order to preserve what is left of the original pavement.

This brought a suggestion from Councilman Fuhrman that the city should have a standard specification for street improvement—hard surface—so that after a street has been improved according to such specifications, the city will be under obligation to keep it in repair—much as the state highway commission treats the highways in the county. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

There is much to commend itself in this suggestion, for after property owners have paid for having a street graded and hard surfaced, it should be up to the city to keep it in repair.

There has been some agitation among various clubs for a more strict observance of the curfew law, and even for a resumption of the nine o'clock bell. Marshal Hollenbeck told the city dads Monday night that he frequently ordered children to go home after nine o'clock but that he couldn't go with them to see that they went, and that some parents seriously objected to his warnings.

Mayor Johnson gave it as his opinion that the enforcement of the curfew law should begin in the home—that the parents are the ones who should take the greatest interest as to where their children are and how late they are out.

Marriage Licenses

Feb. 28—Frank P. Cowan, of Coquille, and Audrey Schaffer, of Marshfield. They were married the same day by Rev. T. H. Temple at the Bay.

Feb. 28—Louie McGuffin, of Coquille, and Lillian Smith, of Bandon.

March 4—Hugh H. Kimble and Pauline Swift, both of Bandon.

March 5—Lester Bowman and Mrs. Hazel Noe, both of Marshfield.

M. E. Church Society

The M. E. Church Society met at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones Thursday afternoon for their regular business meeting. But the principal event of the afternoon was a surprise birthday luncheon in honor of Mrs. Cassie Richmond. Thirteen ladies were present, and after the regular business session, Mrs. Richmond found her plate heaped with sandwiches, which proved to be many beautiful handkerchiefs. The lighting of the birthday cake and the lovely luncheon served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Jones, completed a very enjoyable afternoon.

The society will meet at the home of Mrs. W. A. Ireland next Thursday. A welcome to all.

Along the Highway

Louis and Edwin Lund left Wednesday morning for Fairview where they will be employed in building road.

Louis McGuffin joined the line of benedicts Sunday, when he was married to Miss Lillian Smith. They will make their home for the present with the groom's parents. Friends of the young couple extend the usual good wishes and congratulations.

G. E. Raymond is out again following a severe attack of chicken pox. He says he does not feel very strong yet.

Eleanor, eldest daughter of Alex Petersen, has been very ill with the flu but is slightly improved at this writing.

Harry Varney Sr. is grandpa again since the stork deposited a little girl at the home of his son, Joe Varney, and wife. Mother and daughter are doing fine.

Backed Through His Garage
 Bob Robbins had a very fortunate escape from serious injury up at Chaney's camp on Glen Aiken creek Sunday evening. He was backing his car into his garage but after getting inside the car did not stop but went on through the back wall, turning about 15 or 20 feet. The car struck turtle and landed bottom side up, but Robbins crouched under the steering wheel and escaped without a scratch.
