

Better Cooking--- Electrically

BETTER COOKING is cooking freed from all uncertainty as to results—cooking that is done in comfort—cooking that is clean and that permits clean surroundings—cooking that is economical and that prevents shrinkage while retaining the finest flavor and the whole food value of each dish. These are the characteristics of electric cooking—and they are best exemplified in the

Left Her to Burn, to Death

Knocked unconscious, robbed of $100 and then left in a building which had been set on fire at five different places, Mrs. H. A. Wells, well known North Bend restaurant proprietor, was rescued Saturday morning by John Swing, Empire logger. Swing dragged Mrs. Wells to safety and then succeeded in extinguishing most of the flames before the arrival of the fire department. Mrs. Wells is in bed but beyond being bruised her condition was not serious.

Mrs. Wells had just opened the cafe Saturday morning about 6 and had just lit the coffee urn when a roughly dressed man came in and sat down at a table. He ordered a cup of coffee, adding he was in a hurry. She turned away and then he struck her on the head, using a black jack, the exact nature of which is not known. Then he dragged her to a lavatory at the rear of the building, tying her down by her overcoat, which she was still wearing. Returning to the front of the cafe he rifled the cash register which contained the receipts of the previous day and then started five fires at separate spots, using paper and several white oily mops for some, while to make other blazes start he resorted to breakfast food and its containers. He left by the front door after locking it.

Lying dazed in the lavatory, Mrs. Wells was only vaguely conscious of what was transpiring.

The building started to burn and the smoke drifted upward. Over the cafe is a rooming house and John Swing became aware of the flames drifting in. He called to the landlady to turn in a fire alarm and then dashed down stairs going down by the rear of the building. He saw smoke pouring from the back door of the restaurant and entered, the robber having failed to lock that entrance. Swing started to fight the flames when he heard a groan coming from the lavatory. Investigation showed Mrs. Wells lying in there helpless. He extricated her, taking her outside and then went back to fighting fire. In the meantime the fire brigade arrived on the scene and broke through the front door. They had little to do as Swing had the flames practically under control.

Boy Scouts at Broadbent

Seven boy scouts of Broadbent troop passed their second class tests at a court of honor held in the school house last Friday night. The boys were: Frank True, William Forrest, Alden Warner, Troeman Hartley, Thomas Lever, Everett Robbins, Earl Davenport and Lester Moll.

Comprising the court were F. C. True, L. E. Lackey and H. Ricksecker, county scout executives.

The session was attended by a number of spectators who manifested much interest in the proceedings. It is the first honor court to be held in Broadbent, all the boys hitherto being tenderfoot scouts.

ITS FAME GROWS

Melowest Cheese Advertising Carries Name of Coos County Up and Down Coast

Last Friday night there appeared simultaneously in Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers the first advertisement of the Coast-wide campaign featuring Melowest cheese. In this campaign, the name of Coos county and its fame as a dairy products country is being prominently featured. The campaign is laid out for an entire year and reaches more than a million people in and adjacent to the cities named.

This advertising campaign on Melowest Cheese is the first effort made by the Coos County creameries to emphasize the incomparable quality of this Coos county product to the world at large. The quality of Melowest cheese has more than sold the output from year to year without the necessity of advertising. But it is believed by the directors of the Coos Bay Mutual that the time is ripe to begin the fostering of even greater markets against the time when the output of Melowest will naturally have expanded to many times its present production. The record of Melowest Cheese compels every consumer who buys it to realize and appreciate this fact.

Melowest Cheese won highest honors at the Oregon State Fair in 1924, and then again at the Pacific International Dairy Products Exposition took both the Gold and Silver medals, meaning that first and second prizes were awarded Melowest quality. In spite of this fact, which the public at large has not had forcibly brought home and continually kept before it, the cheese of a sister Oregon county has commanded a differential over and above Melowest on the market simply by virtue of the fact that it's name and merits were constantly kept before the public by advertising.

By advertising and extraordinary position occupied by Melowest, it is believed that at least an equal appreciation in price can be established on the market, giving to the Creamery and thus the dairymen the higher rate of return.

Inasmuch as the newspaper advertising campaign being conducted, another campaign is being aimed at the dealers through trade magazines in the cities in which the newspapers are being used. Undoubtedly the results of the Melowest campaign will not only tend to return greater ultimate proceeds to the dairymen but will build a foundation which should be able to keep demand constantly in excess of production, which is the ideal marketing condition to work for.

Oregon is recognized as the best cheese producing section of the West, and with Melowest, the cheese which is uniformly grading to a higher standard, there is no reason not to optimistically feel that this cheese and Coos county can be made to acquire the prestige of standing foremost in high quality of production.

Melowest advertisements are scheduled to appear every Friday night on the market pages of the Portland, Journal, News and Telegram, the Seattle Times and Star, the San Francisco Call-Post and the Los Angeles Herald. While the space will not be large, it will have that regularity and continuity which keeps a product ever before the consuming public.

M. E. Church

All services at the usual hours Sunday. Prayer meeting Wednesday. You are welcome.

Morning sermon: "To Whom Shall We Go?" John 6:67. God puts a new life first. No use to baptize and take a dead man into a church. Christians walk after birth, not before. You have turned to this and that but "there is no rest to the wicked, saith the Lord." The Holy Spirit desires to convict, save and sanctify. Do not count the cost, nor let anyone explain away, but have these experiences. Then "be ye filled with the Spirit."

Evening sermon: "Words that Create Life Eternal." John 6:63. Religious flesh is the cradle in which Satan rocks lost church members to sleep. Most church-work never rises above the flesh. It hurts me to say this; for I know it is true. But the spiritually dead can do no better. The Holy Spirit is the "new creature" through the life-giving word. "We shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The truth hurts, then liberates.

J. S. Penix, pastor.
