The joy riders and other users of the highway paid eighty millions of dollars for gas last year.

A winery in California has 2,500,000 gallons of dry and sweet wines aging in casks awaiting a change in the dry law.

The "Save the Redwoods" League of California has already raised $700,000 for the purchase of groves of those trees.

The most distant object known to science is the Great Nebula of Andromeda, which is some 6,000,000,000,000,000 miles away.

It is interesting to learn that the sun's heat in the tropics which had for the two years past been one or two degrees below normal is back to its former strength again.

The total consumption of wood pulp in the United States has increased from 2,200 cords in 1860, to 5,548,842 cords in 1922, according to Forest Service statistics.

Among the legislative acts, which will go into effect on May 18, ninety days from the end of the legislative session of 1925, is the one providing for the regulation of tourist camp grounds.

The curtailing of logging operations in western Oregon and Washington was tentatively agreed upon at a conference of the Foreland Telegram said last Saturday. Operations will close during June and part of July.

"The third week of June, the 15th to the 20th, is Rose Festival and 'Rosaria' week. Nothing else in Oregon or Washington should be scheduled for that week, which should be left clear for this great pageant of the Northwest," says The Spectator.

It is interesting to learn that a resident of this county can catch a mess of crabs for his own use, without having to pay a license when the new law goes into effect on the 28th. But when it comes to razor clams he must not be too greedy. Three dozen is the limit then.

Fire prevention is the most important single item in securing a new crop of trees on cut-over land, particularly in the Douglas fir region, according to federal forest officers. They point out that repeated burning of young growth makes natural reforestation impossible.

The wealth of the Northwest lies largely in its forests. Sixty-five per cent of the entire industrial payroll of the Northwest comes from the forest industries, according to forest officers. American Forest Week seeks to aid in providing new crops of timber for the future.

The Bible passage which President Coolidge kissed as he took the oath at his inauguration was the first verse of the first chapter of the Gospel of John—"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." The verse was Calvin Coolidge's first reading lesson as a child.

The act to prohibit the driving, running or operating of any automobile, truck, motorcycle or any other motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition or under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the state of Oregon, will go into effect Thursday, May 28. Better leave the bottle at home then and thereafter when starting out for a drive on the highway.

The number of persons entering New York City every day is placed at nearly a million, of which the Long Island railroad takes in about 250,000, lots of whom live out on the Island and go in every morning. The Pennsylvania railroad brings in over 100,000, the Hudson & Manhattan nearly 200,000, and the Flatbush Avenue line in Brooklyn over 100,000.

Probably few of the Sentinel readers have ever seen a crowd of a million people but the writer of these lines attended the World's Columbia Exposition in Chicago one October in 1923 when the number on the grounds was nearer two million than one. On that day the crowd was so great that it was no use to try to see anything else. It was "Chicago day," too.

More than seven hundred families bringing with them more than two million dollars came to Oregon to make their homes last year. The president of the Roseburg chamber of commerce says that Douglas county received more real farmers that had some money last year than in ten years previous. Myrtle Point in this county received a larger immigration last year than was reported from any other point in the state of anywhere near its population.

We heard the other day that there were a thousand print shops in Los Angeles, California, eight hundred of which had gone broke this year and were being run by one of the big paper companies of this coast. Here's a companion item:

Benjamin Franklin's mother-in-law thought twice before giving consent to her daughter's marriage with a printer. Her great objection was that there were already two printing presses in the United States and she doubted whether a third would find enough business.

RUM-RUNNING DOESN'T PAY
The London Daily Mail, which recently told of Sir Broderick Hartwell's misadventure in whiskey running off the American coast, now says he has circularized his supporters to the effect that he lost everything in the debacle. Of the 61,000 cases in the shipment, American authorities are declared to have seized more than 32,000. About 6,000 were sold, and proceeds spent on vessels, coal and other things. Thirty-two thousand cases remain for sale, the circular says, but their disposal is doubtful, the risk of seizure being so great.

TELEPHONE ALARM CLOCK
Scandinavian telephone service is something for us Americans to dream about says the Dearborn Independent. In Denmark it is only necessary to notify the telephone company of your preferred time of rising in the morning; the operator, regularly at the stipulated hour, does the rest. By paying a definite fee, business firms of importance can be called by name, thus eliminating a great deal of thumping of telephone directories. If you desire to go to the theatre, you merely confide to the telephone company your wish. Immediately your desire is placed vocally in the ticket-buying line at the theatre, armed with specific information regarding the location of your seat. If such requests arrive too voluminously, they are filed and filled in order of their arrival; and if the house is sold out in the meantime, the company obligingly notifies you at once, so that you may have ample time to make other arrangements for the evening. And, oh yes—if the line over which your call must go is busy, the operator does not rest with merely informing you of the fact. She continues, "—but I will call you."—And unless you tell her not to mind, she will carry out her promise.

MILLIONS TO OREGON FARMERS
Oregon farmers to the number of 10,007 have availed themselves of loans totalling $30,948,850 and averaging about $3100 each, from Federal land banks, joint stock land banks and Federal intermediate credit banks since these agencies were first established by law, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. During this period the Federal land banks and joint stock land banks had applications for loans totalling $37,096,589 and of this $30,586,250 was granted, the loans being safe-guarded by 1,331,138 acres of land in the state having an appraised valuation on land and buildings of $81,331,092.

The entire range of farm life is covered in the purposes for which the loans were secured, states the Foundation. Seventy-four per cent of the loans were used for the payment of mortgages, 5 per cent for the purchase of land mortgaged, 10.5 per cent for the payment of various debts, 3.5 per cent for buildings and improvements, 1 per cent for implements and equipment, and 2.5 per cent for the purchase of livestock.

Absent Treatment
A special edition of Lord Curzon's newspaper, with a bulletin announcing, "Lord Curzon's recovery certain," was made up and given to him by his physicians in the hope that the "good news" would help him.

If you want to subscribe for the daily and Sunday Oregonian you can still save half the cost of the Sentinel subscription by taking the two papers together.

NEW FISH LAWS

Relating to All Kinds of Fishing in Southern Oregon

The Sentinel is in receipt of a copy of chapter 113 of the general laws of Oregon for 1925 in which we find a number of sections in regard to fishing in the rivers, lakes and streams of Coos and Curry counties, all of which go into effect Thursday, May 28, from which we make the following extracts:

Sec. 88. Elk River. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish in the waters of Elk river, in Curry county, in any manner whatsoever, except with hook and line, commonly called angling; provided, however, that it shall be lawful to fish with setnets only in the waters of said river between the following dates, to wit: From 6 a. m. on January 1 to 6 p. m. on April 1 and from 6 a. m. on September 1 to 6 p. m. on October 31 of each year.

Sec. 89. Floras Creek. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish in the waters of Floras creek, in Curry county, in any manner whatsoever, except with hook and line, commonly called angling.

Sec. 95. Lower Tenmile Creek. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish in any of the waters of Lower Tenmile creek and lake at any time or by any means whatever, except by hook and line, commonly called angling, except between 6 a. m. on the first day of October and 6 p. m. on the thirtieth day of November of any year fishing by means of nets shall be lawful; provided, that fishing by means of nets shall be prohibited within all of the tributaries entering into said Lower Tenmile creek and lake.

Sec. 101. New River and Lake. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish in the waters of New river and lake in Curry county, in any manner whatsoever, except with hook and line, commonly called angling.

Sec. 110. Sixes River. It shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish in the waters of Sixes river, in Curry county, in any manner whatsoever, except with hook and line, commonly called angling; provided, however, that it shall be lawful to fish with setnets only in the waters of said river between the following dates, to wit: From 6 a. m. on January 1 to 6 p. m. on April 1, and from 6 a. m. on September 1 to 6 p. m. on October 31 of each year.

Sec. 125. Licenses Valid on One Stream Only. Licenses shall be valid only for the river or water for which issued; provided, however, that a license for one stream or water may be transferred to another stream or water within the same district upon application to the master fish warden, prior to the applicant beginning fishing operations within the new stream or water. A fee of $1 must accompany each application for a transfer of said license.

Sec. 131. Licensee Must Be Citizen. That it shall be unlawful for any person to fish or take for sale or profit any salmon, sturgeon or other fish in any rivers or waters over which the states of Oregon and Washington have concurrent rights and concurrent jurisdiction, unless such person be a citizen of the United States and has been for one year immediately prior to the time he makes application an actual resident of the state in which he seeks to obtain his license.

Sec. 132. Qualifications of Applicants for Licenses. No license for taking or catching salmon or other food or shell fish, as required by the laws of this state, shall be issued to any person who is not a citizen of the United States and who has not been an actual resident of the state for one year immediately preceding the application for such license, nor shall any license be issued to a corporation unless it is authorized to do business in this state. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the issuance of licenses to minor citizens of the age of eighteen years or over, or to Indians, providing such applicants possess the qualifications of residence hereinbefore required, nor to prevent the renewal of licenses for fixed applicants by citizens now holding the same.

Among the many new licenses to be paid for the taking of all kinds of fish are the following:

- For each license to take crabs, one dollar ($1).
- For each license to take clams and mussels, five dollars ($5).
- For each license to take crawfish, one dollar ($1).
- For each license to long or take oysters, five dollars ($5).
- Retail fish dealers and peddlers, five dollars ($5).

Sec. 145. Possession of Small Crabs Regulated. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation, to take or have in their possession for the purpose of sale or canning, where it is lawful to sell and can same, any male or female crab measuring less than six and one-half (6 1/2) inches from point to point across its back. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation to take or catch in the waters of Alsea bay or river any crabs by the use of rakes or submerged pots or any other device except the regular open crab nets, commonly known as rings or hoops.

Sec. 142. Clams May Be Taken for Own Use. Any person or persons shall have the right to take clams, crabs and mussels and crawfish in any of the waters of this state, for the use of such person, individually, or for the use of his family or guests, at all times, without license; provided, however, that not more than three (3) dozen razor clams shall be taken by any one person in any one day.

Section 20. Tahkenitch Lake. It shall hereafter be unlawful to take or fish in the waters of Tahkenitch lake for salmon or other food fish, in any manner whatsoever, except with hook and line, commonly called angling, except from October 1 to November 30 of each year; provided, however, that it shall be unlawful to take or fish for salmon or other food fish at any time or by any means whatsoever, except by hook and line, commonly called angling, in Lytle creek and Fivemile creek, tributaries of said Tahkenitch lake, and the outlet to said lake, or within the waters described by a semicircle starting 500 feet from the sides of each tributary and the sides of said outlet.

Three Men in a Boat

The following press dispatch published in Monday morning's Oregonian bears a Port Orford date of last Sunday but relates to events that occurred there the previous Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This Sunday dispatch appears to have been written or printed with an intention to conceal rather than inform the public at what time the events narrated occurred:

Three men, bound on an early morning trip to the fishing grounds, became stranded in a heavy sea near Island Rock, finally reached the island and abandoned their partly-sunk open power boat, and then spent the night on the island. The trio were rescued by the gasoline schooner Tramp and a surfboat, after a volunteer crew had been organized by Captain Robert Forty. The men on the island were somewhat exhausted but experienced no injuries.

First news from the men was received by Captain Calvin of the Tramp, which was tied to a buoy in the local harbor Friday afternoon. The Tramp left at once and found Messrs. Earl, Bates and Kincaid on the island around a small fire they had built. Their power-boat was partly submerged. They were maintaining a line to it.

Due to the heavy sea running and fear of further trouble, Captain Calvin proposed that the trio remain on the island through the night, and he promised to return at daybreak for them. He left with the powerboat in tow. Upon his arrival at Port Orford he informed Captain Forty, who placed his surfboat, which had been in storage, in readiness for a daylight rescue. With a volunteer crew consisting of Art Meyers, Nick March, Ed Walley and H. M. Artell, Captain Forty's surfboat was rowed out to the Tramp. The trip to the island was begun at 4:30 A. M. Saturday. The stranded trio were hungry but in good spirits. They were taken aboard the surfboat and then onto the Tramp, and the party arrived in Port Orford at 6 A. M.

Portland's Rose Festival

A tentative program for Portland's 1925 Rose Festival, which is to be much larger and more comprehensive than any previous carnival, is announced this week by O. W. Mielke, president.

Monday, June 15, will see the arrival of the grand old battleship, "Oregon" with the Queen of Rosaria, pageant of 5,000 persons to be presented on a colossal stage in Multnomah Field. The Queen will be crowned in the final scene.

Tuesday is the opening day of the annual rose show, which is to be enlarged for 1925's augmented festival. Tuesday also will be "Rosebud Day" in the Portland parks where children will present dancing and singing programs. The second performance of "Rosaria" will conclude the day's program.

A regatta on the Willamette river with the largest fleet of racing hydroplane boats in the country is the main event for Wednesday, June 17th. The rose show will be continued and "Rosaria" will be presented.

Portland's glorious floral parade, which this year will have "Rosaria" as a rival for popularity, is scheduled for Thursday. The pageant will have its fourth performance on Thursday night.

Friday, June 19, is the final day, and the carnival parade, for which a name is being selected, will end the 1925 festival in an orgy of fun.

Nothing like this brand new feature of the Rose Festival has been produced in the United States. Every entry in it must contain a smile and most of them will be worthy of a hearty laugh. The final 1925 performance of "Rosaria" on Friday night will conclude the Festival.

Sunday School Convention

The State Sunday School convention will meet in Portland, May 11, 12, 13, registration fee $1. Entertainment on the Harvard plan, bed and breakfast. Other information can be secured by writing State Sunday School Convention, Y. M. C., Portland. The names of speakers on the program indicate a helpful gathering, and an effort is being made to secure a large attendance.

Five Millions for University

Hadden Rockley and Lamar Tooze, of the University of Oregon Alumni association, spent this morning in Marshfield checking up on activities of the Gift Campaign, designed to raise five million dollars in five years, for erection of buildings on the campus at Eugene. Tooze reports that, in two and a half years, three millions have been promised, or paid, and that prospects for a successful termination to the campaign appear good.—News.
