Furniture Department

We are opening a Second Hand Furniture Department in conjunction with our fine new Furniture Store on First Street.

If you have any furniture that needs repairing, repainting or upholstering, come in and see us, we will either do your repairing, or will pay you the best price possible on an exchange for New Furniture.

We have with us a first class upholsterer and repair man, who has had several years' experience in this line of work.

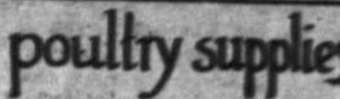

Our Used Furniture Department will be in the old building next door to the Gould Building on First Street. Let us make you an offer on your old furniture and furnish your home with nice, new up-to-date furniture.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS

Ed. Aasen, Reedsport lumberman, was in town on business Monday.

M. and E. E. Eimerson, Bandon watchmakers, were Myrtle Point visitors Sunday.

J. O. Langworthy and daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Edwards, were visitors in this city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burtis were called to Portland Friday by the death of Mr. Burtis' grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Colman and their son, Lester, of Forest Grove, arrived Saturday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Jim Guerin, of this city.

R. H. Lawhorn, of McKinley, was in town Saturday on business.

Rev. H. M. Branham, Roland Bowers, John Lewellen, and J. D. Barklow went to Empire Friday fishing. They had good luck, catching some perch, flounders, sea trout and crabs.

Dr. and Mrs. James Richmond and children, Barbara and Jimmy, of Coquille, were Myrtle Point visitors Sunday.

Lafe Compton, of Coquille, was in town Saturday.

Frank Leslie was a visitor in this city from Coquille Saturday.

Allen Terry, of North Bend, was in town to attend the track meet Saturday.

Mrs. Gus Hamilton and Mrs. Pearl Sykes spent Monday and Tuesday in Marshfield shopping.

E. L. Vinton, county surveyor, was in town Saturday.

Pete and John Miller, of Coquille, were Myrtle Point visitors Saturday.

Clyde Gage was in town from Coquille Saturday.

R. H. McCormack, principal of North Bend high school, was a visitor in this city Saturday.

Wayne W. Wells, of Marshfield, was a Myrtle Point visitor Saturday.

Miss Margaret Belding, of North Bend, spent the week end in this city.

Lester Meadows, of North Bend, was in town Saturday.

Pullets 2 months old, from trapped White Leghorn hens, $1. each. E. E. Leeper, Bandon. 15th*

Lenora Wilson, of Powers was in town Saturday.

The Junior Bible Class of the M. E. Sunday School were entertained at the home of Mrs. Percy Peel with a "kid" party Tuesday.

A dual track meet with Roseburg will be held at Roseburg Saturday. It promises to be very good as Roseburg took second in the southern Oregon track meet and Myrtle Point took first in the Coos County track meet. Roseburg defeated Myrtle Point in the dual meet last year and the Myrtle Point boys are out for revenge.

Fred Mast, of McKinley, had his leg broken Tuesday while hauling stringers for a county bridge near McKinley. He was brought to the Mast Hospital here by Ratliff Lawhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierson and daughter, Frankie, of Tangent, Oregon, were visiting Mrs. Pierson's sister, Mrs. A. A. Schriber of this city, this week end. The Misses Florence and Jessie Jenks accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Clinton were Marshfield visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. O. H. Clarke gave her annual Costume Recital at her home here Saturday. The players were costumed to represent their pieces. All numbers were announced by a page in costume. The Hi-School Hawaiians gave several songs in costume and little Miss Frankie Pierson gave a reading.

Myrtle Point won the Coos County Track and Field Meet here Saturday with 54 points a lead of 12 points over North Bend, the nearest opponent. The victory was largely due to Mast, the captain of the Myrtle Point team, who scored 23 points alone. Nosler, who was counted on to place in the pole vault and sprints, was injured during the preliminaries and was not able to compete in the afternoon.

The Myrtle Point Commercial Club Monday awarded Clayton Mast, Myrtle Point track star, with a $30 wholesale suit of clothes for his performance in the track meet for the four years he has been in high school and especially for the last year. He has been high point man every year since he has been in high school.

Mrs. O. H. Clarke gave a recital at Powers Wednesday. A number of her Myrtle Point pupils and the Hi-School Hawaiians took part in it.

"50-50" Was a Scream

The presentation of the Senior Class play, "50-50," at the Liberty Theatre last Friday evening drew a capacity house, the class netting something over $180 from the performance.

And the crowd thoroughly enjoyed the whole show. The funniest scene was entirely unprepared for by the members of the cast. The two leading characters, Henry Brown, an artist, played by Allen Young, and his pal, Paul Green, an author, by Clare Lehmanowsky, split everything they had—clothes, money, debts and eats—50-50. With one suit between them and a bath robe, they had to effect a hurry-up change of apparel and retired behind a screen, stripping there to their union suits. They did not realize, however, that a looking glass, hanging on the side wall of the room, revealed their changing to the audience, and were greatly surprised at the shrieks of laughter which accompanied their exchange while thus secreted. The house roared and shook while the two innocent causes of the merriment proceeded to get into their clothes.

Both of the boys did exceedingly well. They had by long odds the heavy work of the action and dialogues and they carried it off with credit to themselves. Clare seemed to be right at home in jollying the landlady while they were broke, or in selling Brown's "mahogany sea" to an art connoisseur, upside down. Marguerite Hersey, who played Mrs. Podge, the landlady, had a typical housekeeper air and her make-up was entirely in keeping with her part. She was clever, too, in her acting and insistence on receiving the rent.

Harry Varney was the janitor who looked the part and performed his duties as naturally as though to the job born.

Sophie Bland, a dancer, in love with Brown, was played by Lola Ball in a most meritorious manner. She and Maxine Paulson, an enthusiastic newspaper writer, with whom Paul fell in love, were responsible in large measure for the successful way in which the comedy was presented.

The others, Iva Baker, Eugene and Wilfred Laird, and Margaret Beyers, made but short appearances on the stage, but that little helped make the show a success.

Miss Gertrude Ellis and Miss Mary Druley, who directed rehearsals and presentations, are also entitled to a great deal of credit for the splendid way in which the actors took their parts.

Senior class plays suffered no loss of reputation from the efforts of the class of 1925.

Myrtle Point Won Meet

Myrtle Point won the Coos county high school track and field meet here last Saturday by a wide margin. That school scored 55 points; North Bend, 43 1-2; Marshfield, 34 1-2; and Coquille, 21.

Coquille won first in but two events, Harold Simmons winning both the half and the mile events. His time was 2:09 and 4:55 minutes respectively.

North Bend won the grade school meet, with Marshfield second.
