Later in the evening a big clothes basket heaped with beautiful presents, the gifts of those present, was presented to Mrs. Corthell, who is a recent bride. After the presents had all been admired, delicious angel food cake and brick ice cream were served by the hostess.

Buckingham of the cost is approximately $97,000.

Dr. Gillis' New Machine

The diathermy is the name of an electric machine for the treatment of many diseases which was developed, or brought to a stage of efficiency, during the war.

Dr. J. B. Gillis has just installed one of these machines in his office in the Farmers & Merchants Bank here, at a cost of $800.

Particularly in this treatment machine effective in pneumonia cases. By the use of electrodes, applied to front and back, the heat can be applied to the flesh and the temperature between them raised to the limit of human endurance without any undue warmth on the skin touched by the electrodes.

Many human ills are treated with this machine, but it has been especially successful on ex-soldiers since the war, a report in 1923 stating that a quarter of a million were treated in army hospitals monthly.

The application can raise the temperature of the body treated to 140 degrees, but the endurance of human flesh to withstand such fever is limited, less than 120 degrees being all the body can stand.

In and Out at County Jail

Five escapes and four incarcerations is the record at the county jail for the past week. Last Thursday Jack Sterling and A. M. Laird left Geo. Davis' road camp crew and on Friday Lloyd Tompkins and Russell Foster gave leg bail.

On Wednesday of this week, F. L. Dean decided he didn't care for road work any longer and quit. He was placed in jail on June 15 for non-payment of a fine assessed last December in a liquor case.

The new arrivals were Chas. Christianson, assault and rape, last Sunday; Freeman Fowler on Wednesday from North Bend, for contributing to the delinquency of a minor; and Henry C. Christensen, arrested at Marshfield Wednesday on a warrant charging non-support. He is being held for the sheriff of Multnomah county.

Nels Justensen, of Coaledo, recently released, was caught again with two skills running in his house, and brought here to jail last Tuesday.

Golden Gate Revue Sunday

Frances Ferguson's Golden Gate Girls Revue will be at the Liberty Sunday. A miniature musical revue with the showing of a most beautiful display of costumes and pretty young talented girls, extraordinary because this attraction does not feature any one artist, as every performer is a clever, versatile artist.

Their display of amusement is far above the average and is presented in a clean, high class manner. This company is without a doubt, the classiest and most up-to-date show of its kind on the road today. Good voices, wonderful dancers and musicians with an all lady orchestra.

Don't forget the date, showing at the Liberty Theatre Sunday afternoon and night.

Give Plaintiff Nothing

The case of Wm. Archer vs. G. W. Gage and J. W. Chaney was started in Circuit court last Friday and finished about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the jury brought in a verdict giving the plaintiff nothing.

The suit was for $7500 for the death of Mr. Archer's four and a half year old son, who was killed when a Gage & Chaney jitney struck him.

The evidence showed that the car was running about six miles an hour when making the turn around at Bunker Hill. The driver did not see the boy at all when he darted from behind a building just in front of the jitney, and a passenger on the front seat said he saw the lad jump in front about three feet from the wheels.

Lingo and Hart Sentenced

W. E. Lingo and Arthur Hart last Saturday changed their pleas before Judge Kendall in Circuit court on the charge of owning and operating a still, and pleaded guilty.

They were both sentenced to one year in the penitentiary, but in Lingo's case a stay of execution was ordered for 60 days, during which time he will remain in the county jail. After that he will again appear before the judge, who will consider an application for parole.

The leniency shown by Judge Kendall was induced by the grand jury which indicted the two men. They recommended leniency for Lingo. Probably the fact that he had a family to support and had previously borne a good reputation also had an influence.

Hart, it is said by the sheriff, to have been one of the original owners of the still site and became a partner of Lingo when the latter paid $200 for a share to the others who helped dig it.

Operating Still Again

Nels Justensen, Coaledo moonshiner, was again captured by the sheriff's force last Sunday while operating two stills back of his home in the wilds southwest of Overland. With him was his 14-year old son.

Justensen waived his hearing this morning before Justice Stanley and was bound over to the grand jury. His bonds were fixed at $2500 which Mrs. Justensen is now trying to secure.

The boy was turned over to Juvenile Officer Morrison.

On May 8, 1924, Justensen began serving a 30 day sentence for possession of a still, with which was coupled a $2,000 fine. He paid $500 of the fine, after lying in jail 30 days, and gave the district attorney a chattel mortgage on his goods to secure the balance of $1500. None of the balance has been paid.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from Theodor-waicher's funeral home. Interment will be in Sunset cemetery with Rev. J. E. Snyder of North Bend conducting the service.

Vacation and Study on Beach

A bunch of Oregon University students, nearly all of them from Eugene and Marshfield are now taking a summer course in natural history, while living in four cabins at Sunset bay, eleven miles from North Bend and half a mile from Cape Arago. They are to put in eight hours a day in their studies and will spend five weeks in that wonderfully attractive section of the Coos coast, piling up credits in their zoological work. The schedule for this summer course is fixed by the tides, so that the first session often comes before breakfast.

Piper Praises Coos County

In its article about the meeting at Bandon last Friday to welcome the members of the state highway commission and other members of the party, the World says:

The people of this section are doing for themselves what no one could do for them, according to E. R. Piper, editor of the Oregonian, who made one of the inspiring addresses of the evening. The splendid spirit of progress that exists among the people of the coast of Coos and Curry counties is responsible for the great development that is coming here, he said, and he lauded them highly for their contribution to the success of the great state of Oregon. He reviewed some of the historic incidents in connection with the growth of this community and pointed out the great wealth that exists here in natural resources. Friendly remarks between Mr. Piper and Editor Irvine of the Journal, added considerably to the amusement of the evening.

Roderick L. Macleay, president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and head of the Macleay estate at Wedderburn stated that he had been informed by prominent officials of one California's largest automobile association and tourist bureau that as soon as the Roosevelt highway is completed they would route as high as 3000 automobiles a day over this route from southern California alone. They urged that the cities and towns along the route get ready with camps, hotels and resorts, in order that they might entertain these visitors and make it interesting for them.

He urged some definite action looking to the reduction of the present gradual tax increase. As an example he stated that when the Macleay estate bought the 15,000 acres of land in Curry county their taxes were $2,400 a year. Last year they were close to $12,000. He urged that the chambers of commerce work together to accomplish tax reduction.

Don't worry about your battery when you can take it to an expert at the Coquille Service Station and have it inspected.

where will you go—when your home burns?

GRANTED that you have your home insured against fire, but how about the rest you will have to pay until you rebuild? Here is the proposition: you pay a small amount now and we'll pay you rent from the time your home burns until it is rebuilt. The cost of this Dwelling Rental Insurance is insignificant—often only $1 a year.

All the Neighbors News

There's more than one way to handle a father-in-law

SOMEONE had told Dick Stinson's father that Folger was harshly extravagant, and, to one of his persistent objections, that was enough. So when they were married he gave them a check to furnish the living room. Two hundred dollars! That strong Folger into action. She simply hunted the second-hand stores and old farms. Every day found her with a new piece of furniture. Mr. Stinson looked a little surprised when he saw the room, and still more surprised when Folger told him that she had put the one hundred dollars left over into a fund. Now, when anyone comments on Folger's new dining car, she says "Oh, that's one of the things Dick's father gave me before he left."
