EAST FORK NOTES

Last week Wednesday the county agent accompanied by Mr. Harnden, of Fat Elk, was taking in Brewster Valley. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Harnden and daughter were on the East Fork and took home a purebred Shropshire ram. The cut worms did some damage at the Harnden place. He told me the Hess place got hard hit, damaged several thousand dollars.

L. L. Thomas and daughter, of Marshfield, were at Marcy's for a few minutes on election day and in the conversation about worms and where they come from, he said he was camped between Arago and Norway one evening and there was a continuous stream of moths flying up the river. As he put it, "There were millions of them." And the question was, did these cut worms come from the eggs of those moths.

An editorial in the Oregonian said that 25 years ago there was a visitation of worms and also 50 years ago. So if worms only come as a pest once in 25 years they are not as bad as they might be.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Abernethy make a trip to Forest Grove this week to visit his mother and see his sister, Daisy, and her children, who are on from the East.

H. J. Thurman, of Lothair, Mont., and Frank W. Dygert, of Myrtle Point, were up Saturday. Mr. Thurman came up to look at timber land on Sec. 6 owned by his neighbor, Mr. Widner. Mr. T. has about 700 acres of wheat, crop is fair and they expect a good price, that is a price with a profit.

I had a part of a day and a night in Marshfield, but only saw the nights by daylight. One of the things I did was to go into the Times' office to get a view of Mike and Dan Maloney for I had a curiosity to see whether they wore horns, each of them wore good hats, but I did not see any horns. I looked at their feet and their shoes were shaped like the shoes which other folks wear. I had never seen either of the men before, and I told them what I came in for and then we laughed. Dan showed me through the plant and I met Mr. Bailey, the linotype operator, and Mr. Hicks, a printer. As I saw the papers come off the Cox Duplex Printing press and was shown some of the workings of the linotype machine, I could not but think that I was seeing the working of the fingers of the brains of man.

Isn't that Times a red hot Roman Catholic outfit? If not now there have been as high as three sons of Methodist ministers, one Presbyterian, one Lutheran, one Baptist, on the job and at least part of that theological mixture is on the job now. It said to M. C. Maloney, "I can not see why you have not as good a right to be a Catholic as I to be a Presbyterian; or I as good a right to be a Presbyterian as you to be a Catholic." He said he could not see why either. In my judgment it will be a long time before the Kluxers get a monument planted over Mike and Dan Maloney. R. A. Easton.

Quarantine Against Potatoes

A quarantine to protect western and Central Oregon from the Colorado potato beetle will be declared within the next two weeks against Idaho, Washington and several counties in Eastern Oregon, has been announced by C. A. Parks, quarantine officer of the state board of horticulture. Morrow, Malheur, Umatilla and Wallawa will probably be the Oregon counties ruled against.

It is proposed to require all shipments of potatoes from the restricted districts to be accompanied by a certificate of a state inspector declaring the potatoes have passed over a sifting screen and that they are free from beetles.

Fractured Skull From Fall

Clyde Kinnicut, 9 year old nephew of City Marshal Peter Culver, of Myrtle Point, is in Dr. R. H. Mast's hospital with a fractured skull, a broken hip and a fractured arm as the result of a runaway accident on the Mike Summerlin ranch three miles out of Powers Tuesday. The lad was still unconscious. The boy was riding a mule when it took fright, reared and threw him against a piling. Dr. Mast was called to Powers and the boy was carried on a stretcher one mile to the railroad and brought to Myrtle Point on the Powers speeder.

One of Earliest Pioneers

One of Oregon's earliest pioneers—William Jenkins—was buried last Saturday in the Enchanted Prairie cemetery near Myrtle Point.

Jenkins, who died Thursday at the age of 94, arrived in Oregon November 1, 1844, from Hopkins county, Ky., where he was born September 8, 1830. He was among the first arrivals on Coos Bay, settling on the middle fork of the Coquille river about sixteen miles above Myrtle Point, August 15, 1871. He had lived on the bay for fifty-four years. His marriage to Emeline Eillen took place in 1859.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. J. S. Chambers, Marshfield; Mrs. J. H. Giles, Ventura, Cal.; Mrs. George Mullen, Myrtle Point; Henry Jenkins, Yakima, Wash.; W. P. Jenkins, Yakima; John Jenkins, Glendale, Ore.; and Edward M. Jenkins, Glendale.—News.

Judge Mast at Portland

"Coos county can now pay the state highway commission the $290,000 it owes for co-operation," reported R. H. Mast, county judge, yesterday, at the Imperial. "The bond issue to meet the obligation for the state was carried by about 3900 to 700 but the rest of the bond issue, for a bridge and other improvements, carried by about 700, being quite close. The plan is to build a bridge across Coos Bay, which will cost about $250,000 and will require three spans and a lift span. The highway commission agreed to complete the Roosevelt highway through Bandon, if the bonds carried, and we can now proceed to clean up the situation in Myrtle Point. There still remains a little work to be done in Coquille, but that will be attended to later." This was about the fourth time that the bond proposition to meet the obligation to the state was taken up.—Oregonian.

State Park at Hunter's Head

Cape Sebastian in Curry county, also known as Hunter's Head, has been purchased by the state highway commission for a park, according to information received from Gold Beach.

The place is known for its wild scenic beauty, being a cliff several hundred feet high overlooking the sea. It is understood that the park will be made a preserve for a herd of elk that frequents the cliff.—News.

IS A PEACOCK ashamed of HIS LEGS?

If not, why, when he looks at his legs, does he always lower his tail? Medieval nature-fakers puzzled over this and other entertaining superstitions. Today we know better, and we are fast getting away from other popular superstitions, as, for instance, that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" motor oils merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

Superstitions Pass—the Facts Prove Zerolene's Superiority

As a matter of fact, there is no better motor oil than Zerolene, which is produced right here on the Pacific Coast from selected western naphthenic base crude, refined by this Company's patented high-vacuum process, and submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Experienced Automobile Men Disregard Oil Superstition

Experienced automobile men pay no tribute to superstition—they gauge a lubricant not by price or where it comes from—but by car performance and low maintenance costs. Zerolene is not only successfully lubricating more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made;—it is used and recommended by automobile agencies and big users of such celebrated makes as Cadillac, Chrysler, Dodge, Lincoln, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, who know that true motor oil economy is not a matter of price per quart, but what the lubricant does.

Less Carbon—More Power

Zerolene will improve the gasoline mileage, reduce carbon removal operations and lengthen the life of your car. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less
