Probate Court Items

A petition for the administration of the estate of Floyd J. Rice, who died at Powers, Oct. 31, last year, was filed in probate court yesterday. His estate consists of $500 in real property and $4500 in personal.

Volley Ball Notes

A very enthusiastic but small crowd appeared for the game on Monday evening on account of other attractions.

A number of the High School boys played to fill in and made such a creditable showing that the Earwigs are considering benching some of their men and injecting some new blood in to their team from the new recruits.

Of course, there is no thought of benching consistent players like Alton Grimes, Pete Miller and Jumbo Elrod for they carry a great deal of weight with the team but the idea is to build up an organization around these players that will do justice to the community at the banquet to be given late in the fall.

Next Monday there will be a big game and it is hoped that the boys will all be out.

Don't worry about your battery when you can take it to an expert at the Coquille Service Station and have it inspected.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Paul Van Scoy and Mrs. F. L. Greenough entertained with a one o'clock bridge luncheon at the home of Mrs. Greenough Wednesday. The rooms and the luncheon tables were beautifully decorated with sweet peas. Covers were placed for the Mesdames R. W. Morrow, J. T. Sullivan, W. S. Wells, Wm. Chandler, of Marshfield, Mrs. C. W. Parker, of North Bend, Mrs. Parker, of Fargo, S. D., Mrs. M. J. McKenna, of Bandon, and Mrs. E. H. Harnden, Mrs. H. A. Young and Mrs. J. A. Lamb. Mrs. Chandler held high score.

For the pleasure of the Misses Alice Dell Johnson, Dorothy Bell Endicott, Janice Larson and Mary Endicott Johnson, who are to enter the U. of O. this next year, Mrs. Phillip Johnson entertained Thursday afternoon at a 1:30 bridge luncheon. Her other guests were members of the Tri Delta sorority as follows: Misses Della and Helen Sherwood, Kathryn Nicholson, Mrs. Paul McElwain, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Homer Gant. A color scheme of silver blue and gold was used through the rooms.

Mrs. W. V. Glaisyer entertained at a one o'clock luncheon Thursday afternoon, the guest of honor being Mrs. Caroline Lorenz, W. G. M. O. E. S. of Oregon.

The guests were seated at small tables, covers being placed for the Mesdames L. P. Maury, C. C. Evland, C. T. Skeels, Roy Neal, F. C. McNelly, Julius Ruble, R. F. Miller, J. W. Elmer, J. W. Miller, G. Earl Low, Bert Peterson, E. L. Vinton, H. S. Norton, B. J. Smith and Misses Edna Robison and Dana Ellingson.

Complimenting their house guest, Mrs. Hall Montgomery, formerly Miss Doris Peoples, Mrs. Viola Collier and Mrs. T. B. Currie entertained with a tea Thursday afternoon. Greens, sweet peas, and lighted candles made a charming setting for the beautifully appointed tea table, which was presided over by Mrs. Clarence Tuttle, Mrs. Jas. Brady and Mrs. A. O. Walker. Miss Alice Collier assisted about the rooms. Those invited were: Mesdames A. J. Sherwood, C. J. Fuhrman, J. E. Paulson, Bert Peterson, C. C. Evland, Elton Brady, Z. Strang, Fred Belloni, Frank Leslie, Earl Leslie, R. H. Mast, Jas. Brady, D. D. Pierce, Hal Pierce, L. P. Maury, J. S. Barton, L. J. Cary, Wm. Candlin, Clarence Tuttle, Robt. Kramer, H. C. Getz, W. V. Glaisyer, L. H. Hazard, J. A. Lamb, J. S. Lawrence, Roy Neal, H. S. Norton, C. T. Skeels, Fred McNelly, A. O. Walker, Julius Ruble, Alice Schroeder, Jas. Watson, Ed. Lorenz, Helen Sperry, Nels Osmundson, Sarah Wickham, H. Lorenz, G. E. Low, Chas. Ashton, Frank Thrift, A. B. Collier, E. P. Ellingson, S. M. Noelzer, Chas. Crouch, Caroline Lorenz, S. S. Norton, M. J. Hartson, George Lorenz, John W. Miller, Jas. Laird, R. F. Miller, Misses Maxine Paulson, Edna Robison, Pauline and Camille Lorenz and Marian Young.

Kronenberg's Narrow Escape

Jack Kronenberg, well known Bandon business man, is laid up with some painful bruises to his side and knee as a result of being struck by an auto while in Marshfield.

It seems that Mr. Kronenberg averted across the street at Broadway and Central, Marshfield. A woman driver became excited in the traffic and stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake and crashed into him. In falling, he caught hold of the bumper and was dragged over 100 feet on the pavement before the woman was able to stop her car. Mr. Kronenberg was able to walk away and did not even obtain the name of the woman. Although painful, his injuries are not serious.—Times.

Ordered to Wed

An ultimatum to wed within 24 hours or face a statutory charge was given Roy Hubert, plumber, by District Attorney Beddingfield and Justice Rust Thursday afternoon.

Hubert was arrested by Marshal Jackson and others on complaint of Prudence Garvin, of North Bend.

The officers were informed that Prudence Garvin divorced a man named Depps on Hubert's promise that he would divorce his wife and then the two would wed. Hubert got a divorce but divided his time between his ex-wife and Prudence, the officers said.

There were other tragic features that led the officers to the above solution.—Times.

Special Notice

On account of a ruling by the post-office department we can only furnish the Oregon Farmer at the low rate we have been charging for it when $1.00 is paid in connection with a Sentinel subscription—but this really doesn't increase the price at all, as we furnish it for five years for the dollar.

3500 PAPERS TO ADVERTISE PARAMOUNT WEEK

The power of newspaper advertising is revealed by the fact that 3500 newspapers, daily and weekly, will serve as the first line trench when the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation tells the world about the eighth annual Paramount week, September 6-12. More than $100,000 will be loaded into its big advertising guns that will be fired simultaneously on the first day of the week, one of the largest sums ever spent by any organization in American newspapers in a single day.

In the background, as a sort of reserve, will be the advertising guns trained on weekly and monthly magazines.

Thus will Paramount be the most widely advertised movement of its kind this year as it has been in the past seven.

Coming as it does in conjunction with the inauguration of the Greater Movie Season, Paramount Week will be given added impetus this year. Exhibitors are looking forward to its advent because in the past it has proved a week of unusually good business and has attracted thousands to the theatres who do not attend regularly.

Paramount Week has come to be watched for by the public. This does not mean only the public in larger cities. In the past Paramount's advertising has been placed exclusively in daily papers, but within the past few years more and more country weeklies have been added to the list. It is a tribute to the power of the rural press.

It is a custom each year to review the past and forecast the future during Paramount Week. The record of the 12 months prior to this year's Paramount Week are impressive. To the film world Paramount gave such names as "The Covered Wagon," "The Golden Bed," "Thundering Herds," "The Ten Commandments," "Manhandled," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "Feet of Clay," "Merton of the Movies," "North of 36," "Peter Pan," "The Goose Hangs High," and "Madame Sans Gene."

That was a difficult record to even equal. And yet Paramount, by mobilizing all its resources, by buying the best literature for screen purposes, by signing up the most noted authors, by employing the leading artists, has not only tied the last year's output, but has gone beyond it, as a review of the releases that are to come shows clearly. The list is long and the promise great.

Paramount now has 47 branches located in important centers and from each of these offices a corps of men has been busy making preparations for Paramount Week. This newspaper has been chosen the official movie guide for this vicinity. It may be found listed all of the Paramount pictures from Sept. 6-12 shown at the Liberty theatre.

Paramount Week in reality marks the beginning of the regular fall season for motion picture theatres. More than 8000 of them will be showing Paramount pictures during the seven days. Millions of people will pass within the theatres.

Wants Mayor and Council

Oregon City, after experimenting for two years with the commission form of government is tired of it and proposes to do away with its business manager, and to go back to the old mayor and councilmen system, with this change that the councilmen shall receive a salary. Just before the Sentinel people came west the city, in which the Sentinel's senior had lived for forty years changed to the new system of three salaried officials, which has been in operation ever since, with three paid members of a city commission, each drawing a salary of about $1,000 a year. Portland has the new form of city government, and after debating the matter for five years the council has just authorized the construction of the first $2,000,000 unit of a new waterfront development project which is one of the largest enterprises the city has ever undertaken. Suit has, however, been filed in the circuit court to enjoin the city from carrying out the project. It is expected that the case will be carried to the supreme court of the United States.
