started prize fight promotions here and next the organization of an athletic club. He pulled off a few bouts and finally induced a number to pay their athletic club dues in advance. Then he disappeared and had not been heard from since. Smith disappeared from here about three years ago, shortly after Tex Vernon, who was then fighting here, sustained some bad burns in a still fire at Lakeside.

Luke S. May, the detective who is responsible for the Dovere murder charges, was here and attained a lot of publicity in connection with the solution of the murder of Mrs. Covell at Bandon.

Smith is said to have been angry because Dovere and others interfered with his prize fight promotions. Then, too, according to May, Dovere was supposed to have been carrying considerable cash that was raised at a meeting to defray the expense of carrying on Mayor Todd's recall campaign.—Coos Bay Times.
