

EAST FORK NOTES

Rev. Omer Ideo, the Methodist minister of Myrtle Point, was expected to preach last Sunday at the Dora cemetery chapel.

Mrs. Theodore Easton and baby, Gloria, spent several days last week at Fairview visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Neely and family.

We are still eating tomatoes from vines unharmed by frost.

The right of the board of education and the public school teachers in Portland to circularize parents through their children, is an issue raised in a suit filed yesterday in circuit court by Edwin G. Amme, attorney, against the directors of School District No. 1; Elmer Brown, principal of the Rose City Park school, and Gladys Woldt, teacher in room No. 5 of that school.

The above is from a recent Oregonian. Judging from the complaint, this suit is to find out whether the board of education, principals or teachers have any right to work the parents for money or favors through the children. If I were a gambler and somebody would loan me four and a half, I would be willing to bet that the court gives the using of the children as cat's paws, by the board of education, the principals and the teachers, a black eye.

The federation of labor a few days ago resolved again for the so-called child labor amendment to the constitution of the United States. I never read or heard of the federation of labor revolting against any crime committed by union labor. I have not read that the federation of labor have taken any stand condemning John McNamara for the crimes he has committed before or since he got out of the California state penitentiary and back into union labor again. Not the welfare of the child but a dollar and cent interest for union labor is the interest of the federation of labor for the proposed amendment.

That proposed amendment got a battered face at the last attempt to put it across and the people are no more in the mood to listen to the palavers of union labor or the school machine than then, for they know the father's chief asset is ability to double cross his victims.

Sunday night we heard the services of the First Congregational church, San Francisco. A woman sang a hymn to the length of our days and made the radio a more valuable thing and made me understand something of what one may expect when he hears the music and song in the Holy City itself. For it comes to me that the great songs we have heard over the radio are but the forerunners of what we are to hear when the limitations are removed.

History has been made at Locarno, Switzerland, in the past few days, which increases the joy songs of earth and makes the angels' songs ring out with an emphasized triumphant note for the listening ears of earth. "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace and good will to men."

That song is no myth; even if the world has had to learn to read the notes through eyes dimmed with tears.

Broadbent Notes

Mrs. Pearly Lance and her son, George, from Los Angeles, visited several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Lever, whom she had not seen for sixteen years.

Henry Hayes is busy putting in the crops on the Hayes and Dement ranch.

John Robbins and his wife have moved home from Dement Creek, where they have been logging all summer.

Almos Hartley, from Washington, is visiting friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clausen with Wanda and Mabel Wilcox attended the Eastern Star dinner at Myrtle Point Wednesday evening.

Laurence Parry left school last week and moved to Myrtle Point.

The Ivan Rose family spent Sunday with their parents. Mrs. Rose is now able to do most of her work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank True and Mrs. Newhouse spent Sunday afternoon in Myrtle Point with Mrs. Ida Painter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lackey with Mrs. Rook visited their aunt, Mrs. Ivy Condon on Coos River one day last week.

Vanishing Parties for Hospital

There seems to be a slight misunderstanding about the chain of vanishing parties for the benefit of Wesley hospital, says the Marshfield News. This week the eight women who met with Mrs. Hugh Barclay last Friday, will entertain seven guests each. Those who are guests this week should plan their parties for the week beginning November first and should each entertain six guests. These women who are guests between November 1 and November 8 should entertain five guests each and so on. It has been reported that there will be no more parties after four is reached. This has not been officially announced. The committee in charge is eager to have the chain go as far as it possibly can. All women are urged to be earnest and dauntless in this endeavor, as the need is great.

Record Beats the World

The men and management of the Coos Bay Lumber company are quite proud of the manufacturing record made by the big mill which produced an average of 596,744 feet for five consecutive days, ending Saturday night, with a record breaking cut of 653,400 during this time. The large production was made in the regular order of manufacture on the standard eight-hour basis and is believed to be the largest hourly production of any single unit plant in the world. Coos Bay Times.

Many Duck in Sand Hills

Duck hunters in the Sand Hill lake preserves north of the bay last Sunday got the best shooting of the season. The heavy fog brought the birds within gunshot. R. T. Kaufman and party got 154 ducks. B. E. Chandler and party did well. The great majority of the ducks were canvasbacks.—Times.
