Farm Crops Committee Meets

Simultaneously with the opening of the Corn Show at Coquille last Friday morning the farm crops committee of the county agricultural economic conference met in the office of County Agent, C. R. Richards, to further arrange for their important part in the general conference here November 16 and 17. While it was the opinion of Prof. G. R. Mylop of O. A. C., that the exhibit was one of the best ever assembled at a Corn Show here, it is the hope of the farm crops committee to develop a program for Coos county agriculture that will tend to have all crops in the county of quality equal to those on exhibit.

Olaf Aasen, of Arago, is chairman of the committee and presided at the meeting and other members of the committee in attendance include: C. M. Conner, Kentuck Inlet; Jas. Landrith, S. Coos River; Charles Mahaffy, N. Coos River; W. H. Smith, Main Coos River; Arthur Brown, McKinley; Frank McCracken, Myrtle Point; J. M. Wagner, Broadbent; J. B. Moomaw, Arago; T. M. Stover, Myrtle Point; C. W. Dye, Myrtle Point; Alton Kay, Riverton; J. D. Laird, Sitlum; Fred Mast, McKinley; Herman Detlefsen, Norway; George A. Maas, Norway; Bert Petersen, Hauser; Morris Coleman, Lakeside; and David Walker, Lakeside.

The aim of the entire conference is to consider problems now confronting producers and draft a program for future guidance. They will permit the development and expansion of agriculture in the county along most economic and profitable lines. The first goal in any such program, it was developed, should be to produce in Coos county everything that the county consumes so long as such production is relatively profitable. The production of potatoes is but one instance in which this is not being done.

Exhibits at the corn show prove that high quality potatoes capable of competing with those grown anywhere are produced locally, in spite of the fact many carloads of potatoes are being shipped into the county annually. Last year information gathered for use of the farm crop committee shows that nearly 50,000 bushels of potatoes were shipped into the county. Approximately $50,000 went out of the county and much of it out of the state to pay for these potatoes. How much better would it have been if this $50,000 had gone into the hands of Coos county farmers and remained in the county where it originated. This is but one of the many questions being studied by this committee.

The committee on poultry of which J. A. Harville is chairman, and of which Henry Neal, and S. B. Loper, local poultrymen, are members is looming as one of the important committees of the conference. Facts gathered thus far indicate that the poultry industry in the county can stand additional expansion. During certain seasons of the year many eggs are shipped into the county. Some argue that production should be increased to a point at which the supply is sufficient to care for local demand the entire year. This, of course, would provide a surplus during the flush season but there is a ready market for high quality Oregon eggs through the Co-operative Poultry Producers Ass'n.

Increasing the poultry industry should not replace dairying in any way, it is thought, as land not adapted to the dairying can be utilized for this purpose and the country's agricultural income thus increased.

In October 1924, a year ago, 12.32 inches of rain fell at Coos Bay. October this year furnished only a fraction of an inch—20 hundredths. Probably, though, the coming winter will see less rain than the one a year ago, which was a record breaker.

More About Traffic Laws

Your typist omitted one paragraph of my article published last week and there were some other rules I had intended to mention, but failed to do so, and I believe it might be well to repeat these rules briefly.

An operator intending to turn his vehicle to the left shall extend his arm in a horizontal position, for a reasonable length of time, and slow down.

An operator intending to turn his vehicle to the right shall extend his arm with the forearm raised at right angles, for a reasonable length of time, and slow down.

An operator intending to stop his vehicle shall extend his arm and move it up and down in a vertical direction, for a reasonable length of time. (This signal is almost universally given and recognized by extending the arm pointing downward.)

Under the new law, lights should be dimmed at night upon a wet hard surface highway when meeting another vehicle.

In Coquille, and I believe in practically every other city and town, there is an ordinance prohibiting the backing of a vehicle at intersections in order to change the direction of travel and requiring such vehicle to go around the block or to the next intersection where the turn may be made in the proper manner. This law is violated, I think, more frequently, in the small towns, than any other law, but it is dangerous and should not be done.

I am not writing these articles in a fault finding mood, or with any idea of displaying any superior knowledge of the law in these matters. But these matters are brought before me almost daily and from this and my personal observation I feel that I am quite familiar with these rules.

I have traveled over a considerable portion of the western part of Oregon and California and it has been my experience that the vast majority of drivers are law-abiding, cautious and courteous to everyone. I also find much improvement among operators in general, which is due, I believe, to more skill in managing the vehicles and a better knowledge of the rules of the road. This confirms the above statement that the vast majority of operators desire to observe these rules. Nevertheless, there are very few accidents which might not be prevented with reasonable care. It seems that it is up to the careful drivers, who constitute the vast majority, to use their best efforts to prevent being injured by the other few. I once saw a sign which seemed to me very trite: "Drive with care, you may meet a fool."

Homecoming at U. of O.

Plans for Homecoming week-end, November 13, 14 and 15, at the University of Oregon have been practically completed with the announcement of a tentative schedule for the three days.

The schedule does not deviate materially from those of past years. Friday afternoon, November 13, will be given over entirely to the welcoming and registration of alumni and ex-students.

A big student and alumni Oregon rally, set for 9 o'clock at the armory, will be the feature of the Friday night program. The rally will be preceded by the annual "frosh" bonfire at 7 o'clock and the "pajamarino" parade at 7:30.

The alumni meeting has been set for 10 a. m. Saturday, to be followed at noon with the campus luncheon and class reunions. Three thousand people will be at the luncheon, it is expected.

Hayward field will then become the center of activities. The Homecoming football game, this year with the Oregon Agricultural college team, is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. Several stunts are being planned for the intermission.

Saturday will end with the alumni and upper classmen's dance at the Woman's building, with the underclassmen on a downtown floor. These dances will start at 9 p. m.

American Educational Week

American Educational Week will be celebrated in every state in the United States from November 16 to 23. State Superintendent Churchill is urging that the observance be made vital to the schools and community as well, and that where ever possible the local posts of the American Legion and various other community organizations be asked to offer their assistance. A program put out by the office of State Superintendent is being mailed to each school district by the County School Superintendent.

It will be easier and more pleasant to take your Sunday dinner at the new Coquille Hotel.

His 'Fine Was Increased

The Port Umpqua Courier at Reedsport reports that Paul Weiss, a Smith River farmer who is not an American citizen who was in August fined $300 and sentenced to 60 days in jail for possession of intoxicating liquor, but who forfeited $500 cash bail and fled at that time, returned Tuesday morning to take his medicine. This time he was fined $2,000 and sentenced to 60 days in jail, but the jail sentence was remitted.

An Alaskan Hero

Tom Peterson, of Teller, braving 200 miles of the tempestuous icy waters of Bering sea, about 100 miles north of Nome, Alaska, saved the life of a Teller woman, it is reported. Peterson went to Nome in a small launch to get a doctor for the woman, but as the only doctor in Nome was unable to leave critical cases there, he hurried back alone, with instruction and medicine in time to save her life.

H. S. Cotton Stocking Club

The high school girls of Marshfield have formed a cotton stocking club. No Marshfield girl will wear silk hose to school this winter. Marshfield girls have shown more sense than anywhere else in the world. It would be a wise move for other high school girls to take heed. Fashion reviews are all right in their place but not in a high school building.—Springfield Review.

Killed by a Falling Tree

Hugh Jackson, 19-year-old son of Neal Jackson, living near here, was almost instantly killed about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at LaBranche logging camp on Big creek. Jackson was employed on the road crew and was struck by a branch of a tree that he felled to clear the right of way, says a Myrtle Point press dispatch.

Broadbent Notes

The old maids' club gave Mrs. Lever a farewell party at Mrs. Clausen's Thursday evening. The evening was spent in songs and games and at a late hour refreshments were served. Those present were Mesdames Lever, Frank True, John Robbins, Lloyd Lackey, N. Newhouse, Ridings, Lillenthal, Lillie Painter and Wanda and Mabel Wilcox.

Grandma Laird from Brewster Valley spent three days last week with her granddaughter, Wanda Wilcox, the principal of our school, and spent a part of two days in school. She talked forty-five minutes one day to the children on "Pioneer days." She is one of the oldest pioneers in Coos county, coming in '67. We enjoyed her so much. She conveyed to the school the fact that we must care for our bodies while young and continue such habits through life if we wish to be strong, healthy and cheerful at the age of 84 years.

Herbert Beyers, from Canyonville was a Broadbent caller Sunday.

Broadbent was well represented at the Corn Show in Coquille with a booth and many attended the activities which every one enjoyed.

Mrs. Ida Painter spent two days last week visiting Mrs. Newhouse.

Tice Wagner is busy digging potatoes. He has twenty-five acres of dig.

Friday afternoon was a holiday at school. The primary room had a masquerade party and the advanced room a picnic. The children cooked potatoes and roasted meat on sticks.

Robert Lee got his hand mashed quite badly while working for Arthur Hermann.

Verna Hermann, who is teaching in Toledo, spent the week end at home. Naomi Rocelle is improving very fast. She is now able to be on the play grounds as usual.

The Fred True family with Mrs. True's mother, Mrs. Lund, motored to Marshfield Sunday.

52 Years in Coos

The 13th of October Tom Barklow, familiarly known as "Uncle Tommy," celebrated his 52nd year in Coos county. Coming here from Keokuk county, Iowa, "Uncle Tommy" is among the old-timers who have seen this section develop from a wilderness to the prosperous section that it is today.

Being a handy man at many things and the sort that makes friends with everyone, "Uncle Tommy" has come to be one of the indispensable persons of this section. At different times he has been engaged in the grocery business, hardware, drug and other lines, and at present he is connected with with the House of a Thousand Bargains, being a second-hand store. But this is not all he has to his credit in the way of usefulness to the community. From his earliest youth he has been a devout follower of the Christian faith as exemplified in the Church of the Brethren. In the year 1890 he entered the ministry and since then he has officiated at the marriage of 348 couples and has preached just 700 funeral sermons. This record has gained for him the name, "The Burying and Marrying Parson."—Myrtle Point American.

Items From Arago

The Arago Ladies Aid and Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Schroeder last Wednesday. Part of the day was spent in sewing. After luncheon routine business was transacted and the missionary meeting held. The ladies are planning to build a kitchen, to make it more convenient to serve luncheons for the many social gatherings at Arago. The members present at this meeting were Mesdames J. S. Root, John Carl, Frank Fish, G. W. Halter, C. C. Robinson, W. B. Smith, Clarence Schroeder, E. Stenerson, Jesse Robinson and M. Parks.

Last Sunday morning Thomas Barklow preached at Arago. In the evening Dr. G. E. McDonald, of Portland, superintendent of the United Brethren church, preached. There was a large crowd present both times.

Noble Leases Fine Ranch

William I. Noble on Saturday signed a five-year lease on the Lake side dairy ranch of his aunt, Mary E. Noble, of Portland. Mr. Noble recently returned from a year's sojourn in California.

The Lakeside ranch is a 523-acre tract finely equipped and stocked. There are 43 milk cows on the ranch at present and the new lessee plans to increase the herd.

The ranch proved an exceptional producer for Clyde Noble who formerly leased it, and who has taken over a 1,000 acres of grazing land nearby for stock raising.—News.

Dead Drunk—Denatured Alcohol

John O. Bryan, said to be from Klamath Falls, was convicted on a larceny charge in Justice of the Peace Hayden's court at Bandon Tuesday and sentenced to the county jail for 60 days. He stole a gallon jug of denatured alcohol from the office of Dr. H. L. Houston Monday evening. When discovered by officers he was lying on the landing of a stairway at the Wall street entrance of a business building with the jug alongside. He had drunk about a pint of the stuff and was considerably under the influence but apparently still unpoisoned. He was taken to jail Tuesday.—Western World.
