Radio Receiver

The Superior Qualities of this Receiver

1. Sensitive
Places a whole continent within its range. Gives good reception, on average evenings, within a radius of 2400 miles
2. Selective
Brings in a distant station free of annoying interference from a local broadcasting station.
3. Simple to Tune
Tunes as positively and as accurately as the combination of a safe is worked.
4. Stable
Holds a station indefinitely after the dials are once set. Does not generate howls, does not generate squeals, and in fact does not radiate in any manner.
5. Distortionless
True and rich in tone over a very wide band of frequencies ranging from the bass notes of the pipe organ to the shrill notes of the piccolo.
6. Sonorous
Gives a surplus of the volume necessary for loud speaker reproduction on all but extremely distant stations.
7. Economical
Uses only 50 per cent of the "B" battery current that is required in many five-tube type of receivers.

It carries the trademark of a firm with over 30 years' manufacturing experience and with a world-wide reputation as the builder of fine telephone and radio apparatus.

Middle Forkers

Ed. Roberts & Co. have their railroad about completed for better logging.

Big Creek has its farming land about all plowed and seeded.

A number of new houses are going up in the vicinity of Bridge.

Mrs. Brode has a wonderful crop of potatoes. They must have been planted in the dark of the moon, small top and large potatoes.

Bobbie Radiker has bought a new blue and green suit for his house and garage.

Chauncey Lucia is happy now he has a Ford.

Ben McMullen is building a garage for his new auto.

Bill Ocheltree and a log got mixed up. Ocheltree got the worst of it.

Vern Magill has made a number of changes with his cage. Wonder who the bird will be?

Chauncey Lucia is happy now he has a Ford.

Mr. Gilmore and family plan on leaving shortly for California.

Tom Brack is out at his homestead slaughtering some very fancy veal. Lou Spencer and family are moving to Langlois.

T. M. Stover gathered his last roasting ears this week.

Jim Guerin, our road man, is busy hauling wood.

Geo. Guerin is out at the Stock Show.

Milton Hoffman sleeps with one eye open. Some time ago he caught a man in his cornfield gathering corn.

Last week he caught a man digging potatoes. Thanks to the man he had two sacks dug. Stover has not been quite so lucky. All he has caught is a collar button and the coat left of a woman's coat.

The chicken, corn and potato thieves have reaped a good harvest this season. Some day they may get more lead than they can carry.

Lou Miller, of the Garret ranch, is busy putting in his winter crop.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoffman attended the corn show.

From the amount of green corn and tomatoes at the corn show, the editor of the Coquille paper should state locality as to the killing frost. The Middle Fork has not had any frost this season up to date.

(Didn't it hit you yesterday morning?—Editor.)

The corn show was real nice. All that it needed to complete it is a corral, a few plow horses, and a vaquero or two.
