Riverton School Notes

LAST WEEK'S NOTES The school month of the high and grade schools held a business meeting Tuesday at the high school building. Mr. Tucker ordered the official ball suits for the boys' team Friday. The suits are to be white with white "E's" on them, while the socks are to have a wide white stripe. Since the "Imperial" has been taken off the Coquille-Bend morning run, the high and grade students from up the river have been coming to school in automobiles to Mr. Loring's, where the school bus meets them and brings them on down to Riverton. The sophomore class has begun the study of "The Kings of the Ancient Nations." Hallowe'en was not observed in the high school but in the primary to a very appropriate program was given under the direction of Miss Georgia Lee. It was attended by a large number of people from the community.

John Hubert Flagg: "When I, how much I just can't keep off my feet." Julia Handrick: "White feet." Wilbur Williams: "Head-painted china is expensive." Jim Watson: "Yes, and head-painted America keeps me broke." Daisy Philpott: "Are you a home doctor?" Mr. "Yes, what can I do for you?" Karl Alpine (singing): "I wish I was in the land of cotton." Fred C.: "Well, I wish you were there, too." Nell J.: "Gee, there are a lot of girls that don't want to get married." George Smith: "How do you know?" Nell J.: "I've asked 'em."

Myrtle Point Was Again For the first 15 minutes of play last Saturday afternoon, the Coquille high team was in a tussle and Myrtle Point scored at will, making three touchdowns, for 15 points, before the local boys realized there was a game on. And it was enough. Coquille came back in the next three periods and showed the smart football they were capable of, by scoring two touchdowns for 12 points, and holding the visitors safe at every point. Eddie Nuber made the first touchdown before the quarter was half over on a 25-yard end run for which he had good interference. Line backs, and ends and a 25-yard pass put the ball within striking distance of the Coquille line and Kallner carried it over within a few moments of the first touchdown. Nuber completely fouled the Coquille team on the third try-out run. With the ball on Coquille's 20-yard line and near the side line he dashed down the side line while all except Curtis looked on in surprise. Hulley stopped him but the ball was kicked over in four more plays.

With Call, Pomeroy and Watson absent from the game, the C. H. S. team showed that it has good reserves, for they began the second quarter like a different proposition. Lester Wilson was the ground-gainer for Coquille and after a 20-yard run through the line and a 15-yard pass, with the ball on Myrtle Point's 5-yard line he handled the players in front and punted the ball over. Coquille's second scoring was done toward the end of the game. A 20-yard pass, line backs and runs gave Les the chance to score again. One of the greatest exhibitions of aerial work ever pulled by Cass county high school teams was that of Coquille for the last three quarters. From all the way from two to thirty yards were completed and very few falled. Art Puffer scored most of them out of the other, and Regis Richmond grabbed several. Ted Finley was playing the game from the first to last whistle and many a block was stopped through his efforts alone. Harper also played a whiz of a game, and so did all the rest of the team after the first quarter.

Coquille does not play tomorrow but will meet North Bend at the Bay next Saturday, Nov. 20. The season will close with the Thanksgiving game at Marshfield. Bendon, wrapped and going strong, held North Bend to a 6-0 score down there last Friday and the

THIS WEEK'S NOTES The girls' basket ball team met Tuesday and elected Ruth Philpott captain. The girls also decided to have equal size socks crisscrossed with white bands. They decided to have the blouses with white bands around each end sleeve. The blouses will have their numbers and an "E" on the back and front respectively. Filed in both grades and high school closed Wednesday in observance of Armistice Day. Soccer play practice has been progressing as well as could be expected. They have most of the first set and have started to practice the second James Watson has taken Harold Wolfe place as Marshall could not come to practice. Mr. Tucker has written the Hart Deford and Langdon basketball teams for games. They have arranged games for the last of the month on both the boys and girls are practicing hard. This is the first game and these games is being taken by the community and school.

At a student body meeting held Nov. 18, it was decided to have a high school party next Friday evening in the gymnasium. The following committee was appointed by the president to have charge of the refreshments: Fred Berg, Ruth Philpott, and Julia Handrick. John Last--a fountain pen by a boy full of ink. Return to Fred Berg. Georgia Lee, referring to some boys for do you get on a gallon? George Smith: "It all depends on what's in the gallon." Karl Alpine: "I have my expensive handkerchief pocketing." Fred Watson: "Yes, that must have been some day." First student: "I wonder how old you that is?" Second student: "Quite old, I imagine, they say she used to teach dance."

visitors were likely to win at all. The big game tomorrow will be between Myrtle Point and North Bend at the Bay. Pleasant Surprise Party Last Saturday night a very pleasant surprise party occurred at the home of H. C. Krantz in honor of Mrs. Krantz' birthday. When Mr. and Mrs. Krantz returned home from the show they found the following guests making themselves at home: Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ireland and Mr. Hall Mrs. Krantz was rather "blissful" and said she wished she had known as she could have had a cake. It turned out, however, that the guests had provided a large angel-fond cake covered with pink icing and with the appropriate number of candles on it. A pleasant time was had playing progressive "500" and at a late hour, after the cake was just as reluctant, the guests journeyed home all vowing "yes" a good time.

Speakers to Be at Institute Cass County Teachers' Institute The instructors for the County Institute which is to be held in Marshfield, November 24 and 25 are as follows: J. F. Beach, A. M., of the Oregon Agricultural College. Alfred Brown, of the University of Oregon. B. F. Halley, of Portland. E. C. Seymour, of the Oregon Agricultural College. T. A. Gault, of the Oregon Normal. Emma Hinkle, of the Oregon Normal. Mary Ekerson, county school superintendent of Marion county. Mable Conroy, of Portland. A splendid musical program is being arranged for the assembly opening and a program and reception to be given the evening of the 24th by Marshfield.

When Did It Happen? J. E. and Walter Phillips, of Coquille, Ore., spent Saturday and Sunday in Portland attending the stock and horse show. They are large number dealers in Cass county and report conditions as good. They were accompanied by their wives. The party registered at the Capital-Congress. Are congratulations in order, Willard? Calling cards 100 for $1.50.

Red Ears at Corn Show While at the Coquille Corn Show last week the other night I saw five ears of sweet corn that surely were all right. I looked them over closely and found the thing that seemed so queer among those ears of sweet corn I find there's one red ear. Now if they'd just stuck sweet corn then you'd never miss the ear you'd surely find that red ear that then you'd get a kiss. That while they entertained the crowd in their costumes mostly worn I never heard such singing. Come out of ears of corn. I've travelled far from east to west I've been roaming around for years that I have to head it to Coquille for producing sweet ears. -O. F. Smith.

Weather Forecasts Oregon farmers are being warned against placing faith in forecasts of an extremely cold winter ahead to be followed by an unseasonable summer in 1926. The winter may be extremely cold and the summer unseasonable, but scientists have no means of telling it at this early date. A week is the longest slip possible into the weather future. While the weather is constantly changing from one year to another, big climatic changes are too gradual to be observed in the lifetime of one or even a hundred generations. Scientists figure that the climate of this continent has not changed in some ten million years, not since the passing of the glacial period, and probably will not for another ten million.

Ministerial Association Officers Rev. J. W. Stevey, of the Marshfield Methodist church, was elected president of the Cass County Ministerial association at Marshfield Tuesday, when officers for the new year were elected. Rev. E. N. Turner, of Coquille, was elected vice president and Rev. A. G. Shriver, of Marshfield, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting of the association will be held at Coquille, December 3. The newly elected officers will act as a committee to investigate an evangelism campaign planned for the county.

No Reserve 30 Per Cent The Bankers people who had their money in the First National Bank of that city when it failed last April, are, of course, glad to wait for the 30 per cent of their money now being assigned for them, even if the government, to make all things safe, does require about a month longer to have their checks signed in Washington, D. C. Looks as if there ought to be some found in the city by the men who could be trusted to do that work, though.

Gives Chance to Regay The contents of Ione Dickson, also known as Arlene Perkins, of Marshfield, for fraudulently accepting government funds was continued Tuesday until December next year in order to give her opportunity to repay $482 she admitted having taken. The woman pleaded guilty to the charge of accepting government payment to her deceased husband, J. L. Perkins, after she married W. E. Dickson.
