Killed in Auto Accident

George Alvin Loud, of Myrtle Point, former congressman from Michigan, and for the past two years and a half engaged in the logging business on the Middle Fork, was instantly killed last Friday evening at 5:45 when the car in which he was returning from the football game struck a parked truck which extended out on the highway. Mr. Loud was with J. S. Whitaker, of Myrtle Point, who was driving, and lights from an approaching car so blinded him that he didn't see the truck until the instant before striking it. Mr. Loud was struck in the chest and life was crushed out of him. Mr. Whitaker was cut by flying glass, but not seriously. A. W. Cooper, driver of the truck, was endeavoring to get it started and also warn approaching autos. His breakdown was unavoidable and he was exonerated of culpability. The body was taken to Au Sable, Mich. for interment. He left a wife and four children. Mrs. Loud has been in the east since September when she went to Massachusetts to visit a daughter. Although 73 years of age, Mr. Loud had made a fortune, reported to approximate half a million since coming to Coos county in June, 1923. Previous to that he had lost a fortune through unfortunate investments.

Roseburg Boosters Here

A party of six from Roseburg met at luncheon at the hotel here Tuesday noon with Chamber of Commerce representatives from several Coos county cities. The object of their visit was to solicit support for the North Umpqua connection between the Roosevelt and Dalles-California highways. There is at present a 20-mile gap in this road which runs east from Roseburg and the connection east of the Cascades and so the Douglas county men are asking the State Highway Commission to place it in the list of state projects. That such a road would reduce the distance to Diamond and Crater Lakes from this section by 90 miles is considerable of an item and the desirability of direct connection with central Oregon, with Coos Bay as a port and outlet for that section. Ex-Judge A. C. Marsters, Senator B. L. Eddy and Carl E. Neal, supervisor of the Umpqua National Forest, were the speakers who presented their plan. Other speakers at the dinner were F. L. Ballard, state county agent leader, Jos. Larson, of Melowats cheese, J. E. Noeton, A. C. Chass, E. W. Murphy and Anson Rogers.

McKinley Bazaar a Success

The bazaar held by the ladies of the So-So club at the hall at McKinley on the night of the 14th was a decided success, the amount netted from the sale of lunches, fancy articles, candy, the sea-pond and the quilt raffle being $77.00. The quilt went to Mr. Grinnell, who held the lucky number. The ladies wish to thank the many friends who helped to make the affair a success. The proceeds will be applied to improvements of some kind at the hall. The evening's program was under the management of our teacher, Miss Shione, who deserves much credit for the hard work she did to make it a success. The program opened with a skit on the So-So club, carried out in perfect detail by the smaller pupils, and given as an entire surprise to everyone. The old-time numbers were very charming, the minstrel and songs in Colonial costume being certainly the most beautiful things ever given in this hall, in spite of the great difficulties under which they were produced.

Canaries Missed Something

Had the "Red Peppers," who appeared in the Corn Show parade Oct. 30, worn the same costumes they did at a sewing party Monday evening, we will say they would have created more interest than ever did the Beachmen. The Canaries, who accompanied them Monday evening, were unable to catch a glimpse of the revellers, but as the ladies couldn't keep a man out of his own home, we'll tell the Canaries—they missed something.

Cameron Convicted, Paroled

Frank Cameron, publisher of the Sunday Morning Bee, was found guilty by the jury last Friday afternoon of criminal libel, after five hours' deliberation. It was a compromise verdict in that it recommended extreme leniency. Judge Kendall sentenced him to 60 days in the county jail and then paroled him on condition that he publish a retraction of his accusations against Traffic Officer C. C. Williams. Cameron told the judge that it was a prohibition officer by the name of Clarence Williams whom he meant. The traffic officer proved conclusively that he was out of the county at the time the $100 check was given. Judge Kendall instructed the district attorney to sift the entire matter to the bottom and endeavor to bring into court the man who did accept the $100 bribe money.

$750 to the School Fund

Tony Milosevich and Wm. Rodick were found guilty Tuesday evening of conducting gambling dens in Marshfield and were fined $350 apiece, which Judge Kendall said should go to the county school fund. This is something new in Coos county, although the law has been for some time that fines assessed for gambling shall be turned over to the county school fund. E. W. Price, of Powers, pleaded guilty to gambling and he contributed $50 to the school fund.

Four Women Fined

Four women pleaded guilty in Circuit court this week to immoral conduct. Edith Harris, Lillian Howard and Frances Harrison were fined $250 each for keeping bawdy houses at the Bay, and Dot Burns was fined $200 for being an inmate.

Riverton School Notes

General News

Miss Anna Mylne spent the week end at Eugene, where she went to see the Oregon home-coming game with O. A. C. She reported a very exciting game. The high school party in the gymnasium last Friday night was a big success according to the opinions of those present. About twenty-seven persons attended, including members of the faculty. Games were played till ten-thirty when light refreshments were served. At eleven o'clock all went home.

Mr. Tucker, basketball coach, received the trunks and sweat shirts of the boys' basketball uniforms. The jerseys and socks will come later in the week. The suits are royal blue, trimmed with and exactly match, in color, the girls' blouses. The girls' glee club has been practicing a great deal this last week and much improvement has been shown. They are now practicing "Mellow Moon," "I Love You Truly," and the "Barefoot Trail." They will soon start on some selections for the senior play. They also intend to work up some pianologues and pieces for a program to be given some time in January.

Miss Mylne's biology class has been dissecting frogs this week. The class is very much interested in their work and from time to time, the aquarium has been the home of different water creatures which the class has been studying. A student body meeting was held Thursday, Nov. 12, at which the final articles of the constitution were read and adopted. The constitution is based on that of Coquille High and of other schools. Riverton High appreciates very much the kindness with which Coquille lent her constitution to the committee. Mrs. Harvey's English VII class has just finished the study of Ham-

Athletics

The first games that the high school teams have played this season with any other than the second team were played last Saturday night in the gymnasium. The girls first team played their second team with a score of 18 to 8 in favor of the first team.

The boys played a team made up of the young men of the community. The score at the end of the fourth quarter was 23 to 9 in favor of the high school boys. These were just practice games but a good crowd was out to see them. The teams certainly appreciate the backing and the practice, which the community and the young men gave them. Games for both the boys and girls teams have been arranged with Port Orford for next Friday night at Port Orford. Much enthusiasm is being shown by both the students and community as these will be the first real games the teams have played. Each student on the team is working hard to keep up his grades and back work is being made up faster than usual. The line-ups going onto the floor at the beginning of the first quarter will be as follows:

- Girls
 Forwards—Bernice Alpine, Freda Berry.
 Jumping Center—Ruth Philpott.
 Running Center—Esther Tucker.
 Guards—Agnes Scorby, Julia Ham-block.
- Boys
 Forwards—Neil Jenkins, Lyle Smith.
 Center—Ronald Ward.
 Guards—Fred Clifton, Fred Watson.

The Women's Conference

The Women's Conference held here Monday and Tuesday this week was not very largely attended but considerable interest was manifested in the talks and demonstrations by the three ladies from O. A. C. These latter were Mrs. Jessie McComb, state home demonstration leader; Miss Esther Cooley, clothing specialist, and Miss Lucy Case, dietitian. While Mrs. McComb was here, Mrs. A. Y. Myers, of Marshfield, desired her to meet with the Federated Women's Club of Coos County, and there were 80 or more in attendance at the session held in the Masonic Temple Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Myers is county chairman.

Paul Griffon Acquitted

The jury which heard the case against Paul Griffon, of Coaledo, for larceny of a cow, acquitted him very quickly Monday when given the chance. Perjured testimony on the part of the complaining witnesses was the opinion of those who heard the trial. Character witnesses for Mr. Griffon were also instrumental in helping to clear him of the charge. The animus back of the persecution of Mr. Griffon did not become apparent but that there was considerable feeling against him on the part of the state's witnesses was evident.

Auto Burned Tuesday Night

Fire, about nine o'clock Tuesday night, practically destroyed the Durant sport roadster of Ralph Walker, and the garage adjoining his house, which is across the street from the J. W. Laird residence in the north part of town. How the fire started is unknown, unless it was from a short in the car's wiring for Mr. Walker had put the car away three or four hours previously and had been in bed an hour. The department answered the summons promptly but the interior was nearly all ruined before the blaze was extinguished. Mr. Walker carried no insurance on the roadster.

One Divorce Granted

Judge Kendall granted a divorce Wednesday to Beaula C. Price, separating her from Floyd C. Price, and giving her the custody of the two minor children. The defendant must pay $100 for expense of the suit, $30 for November and $40 a month thereafter for the support of the children.
