

CLEANLINESS WITH MILK IS ESSENTIAL

In order to prevent the contamination of milk and cream with foreign odors and flavors it is necessary to start with the milking operation. The successful producer of good-quality cream develops a system of handling cream develops a system of handling cream develops a system of handling cream...

The cow must be healthy, free from tuberculosis and udder diseases. She must be kept in clean surroundings.

The dairy barn should be so constructed that it can be thoroughly cleaned.

The udder should be removed at least once each day, and it should be carried to the fields direct or to a manure pit some distance from the barn.

The cow should be groomed before each milking in order to prevent any loose hair, manure, or foreign material from falling into the milk pail at milking time.

The udder should be washed with clean water and dried before milking begins.

The milker should wear clean clothing and should wash his hands thoroughly with soap before starting to milk.

Milking should be done with dry hands. The habit of wet-hand milking does not make it easier and certainly is a filthy habit.

Milking should be done in small-top pails, which will greatly reduce the possibility of foreign material getting into the milk at milking time.

As soon as each cow is milked, the milk should be carried to the milk room, where it should be weighed and strained through a suitable cloth strainer.

The ordinary wire strainer is not effective in removing dirt from milk. A strainer using two or more thicknesses of filter cloth is much more efficient.

The cloth used should be clean and sterilized with live steam.

Milk as it comes from the cow's udder is free from dirt. Any hair, bedding, particles of manure or dust that are subsequently found in the milk come from careless milking practice, dirty cows or careless handling of the milk after it is produced.

This foreign matter when once it gains entrance into milk carries quantities of bacteria and many toxins and bad odors which cannot be removed. The only method to use to prevent such effects is to produce the milk clean, keep it or the cream produced from it clean, cool immediately and thoroughly, then keep cool.

Any foreign matter that may get into the milk, and it is a fact that some will even with skillful handling, should be strained out immediately to prevent as many of the bad effects as possible.

Electrical Discharges Cause Souring of Milk?

Do you believe that thunderstorms cause milk to sour? It is generally believed they do. The souring of the milk is generally attributed to the electrical action between clouds, which is responsible for the lightning associated with thunderstorms.

There is no relationship between these electrical discharges and the souring of milk. Some authorities report that electricity will destroy bacteria or retard their growth. In such cases electrical action would cause the milk to keep longer.

Souring of milk is caused by a growth of bacteria which feed upon the milk sugar and convert it into an acid when the milk is held at a warm temperature. The acid sours the milk.

It is believed that the temperature conditions immediately preceding a thunderstorm cause the souring of milk. Thunderstorms usually follow a period of hot, humid weather. The heat and humidity cause the refrigerators, coolers and cooling tanks to warm up. The milk is also warmed up, stimulating a rapid growth of bacteria, which really causes the milk to sour.—E. H. Parfitt, Purdue University.

Water for Calves

The importance of watering calves is emphasized by a recent test. Two lots of calves were fed liberal allowances of skim milk, clover hay and the grain mixture of corn, oats, bran and oil meal. One lot was given all the water it would drink twice daily, while the other had no water. The calves given the additional water gained at the rate of 1.95 pounds per head daily, while those given no extra water gained but 1.32 pounds daily.

Cause of Stringy Milk

Stringy milk is caused by inflamed glands in the udder. Incomplete milking is one of the most common causes. The udder must be milked clean regularly and then the danger of inflammation will be greatly reduced. Inflammation may also be caused by injury and sometimes it occurs without any noticeable cause. Treatment consists of removing the inflammation and his is done by gently massaging the udder and the application of hot cloths is also beneficial.

Broadbent Notes

The Ladies' Aid met last Thursday with Mrs. Newhouse and quilted her quilt. Those present were Mesdames Rosell, Hoffman, Price, Frank True, Robertson and Newhouse.

We wish to make a correction in our report of last week: Story Munsie was in the crowd who went with Fred True to Klamath county in his Essex coach for geese and ducks.

The county health nurses examined the children last week and found them in better condition than any previous year. A greater interest has been shown by the parents in having teeth fixed, tonsils and adenoids removed and eyes corrected.

Etta Whobrey who is attending high school in Coquille has come home to spend Christmas vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harry and Joanne spent Friday of last week here visiting.

The following program was given by the school Tuesday evening:

EAST FORK NOTES

The Steel Creek Logging Co. crew, Cecil Dugger, manager, has commenced to put logs in the river from near the Dora cemetery.

Last week part of the time they were taking the benefit of a rise in the river and by splashing worked the logs down towards the lower East Fork.

The clouds have been drippy for several days. This morning—Tuesday—the stars are shining and the thermometer says 54 degrees.

In the Youth's Companion of Dec. 10, page 884, are fact and comment worth reading. Seven hundred years ago Roger Bacon predicted:

"cars without horses or other animals. Flying machines may also be made, the man seated in the center and by means of certain contrivances beating the air with artificial wings."

It is a long trail from Roger Bacon's thought of 700 years ago to today but his thought, like yeast, working in the right material of men's brains raised the dough.

A tablet discovered 30 years ago in the Peninsula of Sinai has been translated: "I, Manasse, mountain chief and high priest of the temple, thank the Pharaoh Hiasip for having drawn me out of the Nile and helped me to attain high distinction."

Manasse, is another name for Moses, and there was a daughter of the Pharaohs who became a ruling monarch. Moses' thanks were not just for being drawn out of the water, but for the help rendered. If Moses had only been "drawn out of the Nile," the world would never have known there was a Moses "drawn out of the Nile."

There never was a time in my life when I have been so thoroughly convinced that the Almighty has ruled men's lives through all the ages past and that he is on the job today with advanced work on hand.

And the angels' song is nearer, clearer, more triumphant than ever before. "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace and good will among men." R. A. Easton.
