THE CITY CLEANERS

Had Two Methods

Mrs. Smith had inserted an advertisement in the papers for a new nurse maid and was interviewing the first applicant. "And what," said she, "is your attitude on corporal punishment?"

The applicant thought for a while and then replied, "Generally, I take 'em across my knee, but I can smack 'em standing up if necessary."

Names of Colors Rare

Names for colors are comparatively rare in early writings; even in the Bible, the sky, though frequently mentioned, is not stated to be blue.

EAST FORK NOTES

Ed Abernethy has a beautiful holly tree. The berries as well as the clusters are large, the bright red color making a sharp contrast among the smooth velvety green of the leaves. He and Ethel have been generous in distributing the Christmas cheer of the holly.

Something more than a week ago Dale Marcy, who is working in Cecil Dugger's camp, put on the high climbing rigging and went up a tree to get a line clear. One of the climbers on his feet gave way, and he took a quick fall. All that he had to save himself was the safety belt and the rope around the tree. He fell about 50 feet before he got enough grip on the rope against the tree to stop his fall but he lost much of the skin from the palms of his hands by the friction of the rope. After he got to the ground he made the spurs fast to his feet and went back up the tree and finished his job. He had to lay off to give his hands a chance to heal, so his brother, Lyle, took his place for a while.

The afternoon of Wednesday, Mrs. Roy Luttrell, the teacher of the Dora school, and the pupils gave a Christmas entertainment. A number of visitors were present and each one knew that the children had done well. Not one of them fell down on the job in the Christmas plays or songs.

Lester Mayne was up this way Saturday looking for beef cattle. They furnish meat to some of the logging camps.

Cecil Carter, of Myrtle Point, was on the East Fork Monday looking over timber.

Christmas Cheer was not scanty on the East Fork. I got a mustache cup from the California children. That is the thing I have been wanting. The one I had got broken a few years ago. Inez tried in two of the big stores in Portland, they had shaving mugs but no mustache cup. The other store insisted that a shaving mug was a mustache cup. I drank my chocolate out of the shaving mug for a couple of years, that got broken. Marshfield was tried out for a mustache cup, but nothing doing. So I am real thankful that Santa Claus remembered that there are some yet who need a mustache cup instead of a shaving mug.

Christmas morning we heard the Christmas songs broadcast by KGO, Oakland, and sung by the California mixed quartette, Zilpha Ruggles Jenkins, soprano; Ruth Waterman, contralto; Carl Anderson, tenor; Albert Gillette, bass. The music and songs came in clear and distinct from beautiful voices.

A letter of Dec. 1 from Mr. A. J. Sherwood says: "We took judgment today for the possession of the cattle and for costs. The defendants, Everett Howe and Sherman Bayler, have paid the costs."

Everett Howe and Sherman Bayler did not get $25 out of us, nor their bargain counter offer of $10—nor $2.50 a day for the time they held the stock—not one cent for tribute. What our own grievances may have been, we have no means of knowing. When Everett was asked whether our cattle broke through the fence, or Mr. Bayler knocked a board off and let them in, he replied: "I don't know. I wasn't there."

I thank Messrs. Lorenz, Moulton, Harrison and Gould for going on my head so that I could wear out the writ of replevin.

Why should a man who is not a moonshiner or a bootlegger or a combination of the two object to a "federal officer coming in" to his neighborhood? When Everett Howe and Sherman Bayler came over to tell me that they had some of our cattle in Everett Howe's barn, one of the grievances cited: that I got a "federal officer" in here. As a matter of fact that was news to me for I did not know a federal officer had been in the East Fork and Elk Creek.

R. A. Easton.
