A Stranger Notices

That our idea of one very sure way to waste time is to try to argue a government employee into doing something that the rules and regulations say must not be done.

That the lady in mannish disguise—evidently a tourist—who tried to get a registered letter out of the postoffice, without a personal identification, would not agree with us.

That we think that postoffice employees must be blessed with a saving sense of humor else they would never be able to survive the examples of human ignorance, know-it-all-ness and just general unreasonableness with which they must come in daily.

That we like the window display in a small restaurant on W. Front St. There is never much of it but it looks so very appetizing that some day we are going in there to eat just to see if it's as good as it looks.

That the grocery store on the corner of the same street has a most attractive display of fresh vegetables since they have fixed their window so the contents can be kept moist and cool.

That we realize that the "cut" in last week's "Notices" was no doubt for the best—some one might have been shocked. It is also true, however, that the facts remain as disgustingly ugly as ever. To ignore an evil doesn't cure it.

A Stranger.

May, the Banner Hupp Month

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation did the largest volume of business in its entire history during the month of May. Its shipments of cars during that period surpassed those for its largest previous month—March, 1926—by more than $500,000. May 24 was the biggest single day in the 18 years the company has been producing motor cars.

Shipments of Hupmobiles for the first five months of 1926 were 44 per cent larger than those for the corresponding period in 1925, reports O. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager. Retail sales throughout the world to date this year are estimated as being between 45 and 50 per cent greater than a year ago. May shipments were 89 per cent higher than those for May, 1925.

Despite its record business, the company, on June 1, carried unfilled orders for more than $2,800,000 worth of cars.

EAST FORK NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John Luttrell, daughter, Elizabeth, and niece, are stopping with the Roy Luttrell family on the old Stemmler place.

There was quite a population at the club grounds Sunday. It was our good fortune to see Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood and daughter, Delia, for a few minutes. If there is any thing that puts more song in the heart and gives more spring to the steps than meeting old friends, I don't know what it is.

Perry Lawrence and Keith Leslie were among those who were trying to catch fish.

The rock work on the East Fork road is being rushed. Three trucks are running, each making 11 trips a day. The county court did a wise thing when they let that contract.

It makes folks glad to know that Mrs. Ivan Laird (Daisy) is improving in health and strength at the Keizer hospital.

It is a very weather and lots of hay is going into the barns. Mr. Marcy has a big crop.

Senator is doing his country good now when he stands for the constitution of the United States and against the constitution of the moonshiner, the bootlegger and their friends in the United States senate and elsewhere. The constitution of the United States shall not be drowned by the booze makers and the boozers.

Father's Day Next Sunday

With Christmas day, Thanksgiving day, Mother's day, Armistice day, Pay day, Judgment day, Children's day, Labor day and heyday all occupying well established positions in society's calendar, another one, the day of days for the chap who has made the one and many other days possible, has dawned.

It is Father's day.

And this year it will be celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the U. S. A. on June 20.

Even though in the last analysis he will have to pay the cost of such an observance, "dad" will reign supreme on Father's day. If ordered to do this or that, he will assume the look of injured dignity and nonchalantly aver:

"Why, you forget yourself—this is father's day."

Seeking D'Autremonts Again

Coincident with the new posters and offers of reward for the capture of the D'Autremont brothers, who have been sought for the past two years in connection with the mail robbery and murder in the Siskiyou two years ago, three men answering the description were seen in a restaurant near Portland, and within a day or two of that, two men were arrested at Juneau, Alaska, as suspects. The third one of the trio escaped. It hardly seems possible that the three brothers, if they are the guilty parties, would hang together for this length of time.

While it was said at the time of the robbery that nothing of value was secured, reports have sifted in ever since that the robbers knew of valuable mail being carried on that train, and that they found what they were looking for.

Kohler Sole Owner of The Hub

After fourteen years as part owner of The Hub store at Marshfield, A. S. Kohler this week became sole proprietor when he purchased from the heirs of the late F. A. Laise all their interest in the store. From a small beginning in 1912, the Hub now employs between 35 and 40 clerks. Advertising had much to do with the Hub's success.
