Mrs. Barbara Ellen Beyers

Mrs. Barbara Ellen Beyers, mother of J. P. Beyers and Mrs. A. A. Selander, of this city, passed away last Friday night at one o'clock. The immediate cause of her passing was pneumonia. She suffered a fall two weeks before her death, and a fractured hip, and the end was hastened by that accident.

The funeral services were held at the Groskopf-Ellingson Chapel at Marshfield at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. S. D. Walters of this city.

In compliance with her request, the remains were taken to Portland Monday morning for cremation.

Barbara Ellen Weaver was born April 17, 1844, at Navarre, Stark county, Ohio, and was five months and eight days past 82 years of age. She was married in 1862 to E. H. Beyers, who passed away 20 years ago at their Sumner home.

The same year the young couple left their native state for the far west, coming with a mule train of 36 wagons, as far as Des Moines, Iowa, and continuing to California in 1863. From 1870 until 1883 they resided in Elko, Nevada. In the latter year they came to Coos county, settling at Sumner, and were one of the pioneer settlers of the county.

About two years ago Mrs. Beyers came to Coquille to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Selander.

Several years ago she received injuries when the hand car on which she was riding jumped the track, and had been required to walk with stooped posture since.

Of the nine children born to Mr. and Mrs. Beyers, six are still living: Mrs. Laura Boutell, of Morgan Hill, Calif.; Mrs. Alice Black, of San Jose, Calif.; J. P. Beyers, of Coquille; Mrs. Josephine Brizee, of Twin Falls, Idaho; Mrs. Millie Sanford, of Marshfield; and Mrs. Nettie Selander, of Coquille.

An old friend and neighbor paid her the following tribute on hearing of her death:

"She was truly a brave pioneer; always kind and loving, her home was ever open to all; a tireless, industrious worker, laboring for the good of others. She was loved by all; a splendid neighbor, and loving, devoted mother. She lived only to bless; her Christian character sustained her and others about her. She was anxious and ready to go to her heavenly home."

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the dear friends for their many deeds of kindness, their sympathy and flowers. It was all very helpful and comforting during the sickness and after the death of our dear mother.

Shingle Mill on Hall's Creek

John Dornath, the Comstock man who is going to put a shingle mill and box factory on Halls creek, was in the district the latter part of the week looking over the field and situation preparatory to beginning operations. He was accompanied by Fred Lockwood, of Roseburg, the dealer in Ford products in that city, who will be interested with him.

Mr. Dornath stated he was ready to bring in his machinery just as soon as he could see enough belts in sight to warrant. He says the timber owners who have signed up to supply the mill with raw material are about ready to begin operations. After a second cruise of the timber Mr. Dornath is certain there is enough raw material on Halls creek to keep him running for ten years.—Myrtle Point American.

Killed in Auto Accident

Arthur G. Anderson, of Wedderburn, known throughout Curry county under the name of "Tuffy" Anderson, was instantly killed in an automobile accident which occurred at about 6:30 Sunday evening on the Roosevelt highway grade a few hundred yards north of the Elk River bridge in northern Curry.

He was driving home from Marshfield and was alone in the car. Marks on the highway showed where he had skidded a considerable distance before going over the grade and down a sloping embankment for a distance of about 50 feet. Anderson was pinned beneath the car when it turned over and his neck was broken. He had a long gash cut across the forehead.—Bandon World.

No more cranking your car when you have your battery repaired at Coquille Service Station. All work guaranteed.

Sunday dinner at the Coquille Hotel means a day of rest for the housewife; no worry, no drudgery. Service is unexcelled.

DAIRY

WHEN TO CUT FOR SUCCULENT SILAGE

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Almost any forage crop has all the chemical requirements to make a good silage. The only requirement, therefore, says the United States Department of Agriculture, for a palatable forage crop to make succulent silage is that it be cut when the moisture content is right. If cut when the moisture content is too high the silage will be water-logged and the soluble feed materials will be lost by drainage. If the moisture content is too low and water is not added, the silage will not be succulent and will not pack well enough to prevent the inflow of air and the growth of molds.

This general conclusion is the result of experiments conducted in the laboratory by chemists of the bureau of dairying in which corn, sunflowers and sudan grass, all cut at various periods of growth, were ensiled in tubs 2 feet in diameter and 4 feet deep. The investigations included a study of the chemical composition, keeping quality, changes during fermentation, and losses in feed materials while in the laboratory silos.

Corn for the test was cut at four different stages of maturity—(1) when 20 per cent of the ears were in the dough stage and 80 per cent in the milk stage, (2) when 40 per cent were in dough and 60 per cent in milk, (3) when 60 per cent were in dough and 40 per cent in milk, and (4) when 80 per cent were in dough and 20 per cent in milk. Study of the resulting silage showed the fourth stage to be the best time to cut corn for silage. At this stage there was the least loss of feed constituents in the test silos. This fact, coupled with the good score made when the fourth-stage silage was opened, indicated that the best corn silage results if cut when the ears are 80 per cent in the dough stage and 20 per cent in the milk stage.

Sunflowers are generally cut when too immature, according to the results of this study. These tests indicated that any stage between the time when all plants are in flower and before the petals fall is equally good for this crop.

A study of the growing plant and the resulting silage showed that sudan grass cut either at the early blooming stage or at the middle to late blooming stage makes very satisfactory silage.

Food Value of Sugar

It has been shown by experiments that, as a part of a simple mixed diet, five ounces of sugar a day can be consumed by a healthy adult and 98.9 per cent of its total energy becomes available in the body. The main function of the sugar is to furnish heat and energy.

Drops on Water Make Music

Splashes of water are said to form small pockets in the water surfaces on which they fall, and these pockets act as resonating chambers, making a musical note whose pitch depends on the size of the pocket.
