Haynes Inlet
The people of Haynes Inlet district have recently provided the children with a playground. The men of the district each donated a day which was spent in grading a part of the hillside on which the school house is located. Within a few days they expect to enclose same with a fence.

The teacher, Inez Lundstrom, and pupils of this school are donating their time for the janitor work and are using the money which the board provides for this service to furnish the school with some materials which are necessary. This shows a splendid attitude on the part of the school.

Frances E. Willard Day
The office of the County School Superintendent is in receipt of program material for Frances E. Willard Day. This day falls this year on October 28th and no doubt will be celebrated in every school.

Is a Practice Teacher

Miss Harriet Gould, of Coquille, has been selected from the school of education of the University of Oregon as a practice teacher in the University High School, it is announced by R. U. Moore, principal of the school.

A total of 35 seniors in the University are now doing practice teaching. Actual experience in teaching is gained in this way, and the graduates of the school of education go forth to positions next year fully prepared for their work.

The school of education also maintains an appointment bureau, where schools throughout the state can apply for experienced teachers. More than 200 teachers were placed by the bureau this year.

Knockdown Fight at Bridge

Earl Steele, clerk of the Bridge school district, is confined to his home at Bridge, suffering from a fractured rib, five cuts and severe bruises following an altercation with H. A. Hatfield there.

The men had been on opposing sides in the Bridge water-works case but the altercation is said to have resulted from another matter. People of Bridge had difficulty in separating the two.

No arrests have been made yet although it was reported that Steele would file charges against Hatfield, claiming Hatfield had a hammer when he attacked him.—Times.

BE TRUE TO THE FACTS

To gain a point we cannot be false to the facts we know; Hopeless the mariner on storm-tossed sea,

When his compass be not true, More hopeless he, when the soul's fine sense

Of truth be warped askew, The waterfowl wings through trackless sky,

His way to his Summer home; Innerring instinct makes him fly Direct where others roam,

Deep in the soul is the sense of truth, That leads to a happier day; If we follow the gleam, we'll reach forsooth

The joy that lasts for aye. —Bobbette.
