One Daily Trip for Oil Trucks

In the past it appears that oil tank trucks of the Standard, Union and Shell Oil companies have been transported across Coos Bay every day.

It is against the law and rules and regulations of the War Department to convey such trucks at the same time other vehicles or persons are being transported. Due to this fact these trucks have been requiring a special voyage and at no set hour.

It is the opinion of the County Court that all oil trucks can be transported at the same time, thus reducing the expense to the county in operating the ferry. After interviewing the officials of these oil companies and finding them all agreeable to the plan it was decided by the court to set 8:30 a. m. of each week day for a special voyage for such accommodation.

This order is to become effective Monday morning, October 24th, and to be in effect until such time as the court names.
