Coquille Flower Lovers Club Notes

Regular Meetings
First and third Tuesday.
7:30 City Hall.
President, C. T. Skeels.
Secretary, Miss Maymie DeLong.

Membership
Any person is eligible for membership in this club who is a cultivator or lover of flowers, and who has been recommended by a member of the club.

Purpose of This Club
The purpose of this club is to encourage the cultivation and study of plant life; to beautify our homes and the city in general and to sponsor one or more annual flower shows in Coquille.

Items
Mr. Geo. Taylor has devoted a great many years to the study of plant and insect life, and is a naturalist of high authority regarding plants, shrubs, trees, soil, insects, climate, etc. Next Tuesday evening Mr. Taylor will address the Flower Lovers Club on the subject of Roses. Every one loves the perfect rose but we cannot say so much for the poorly developed, dwarfed type. Mr. Taylor is glad to list the best varieties of roses to cultivate in Coos county that will withstand the extreme dampness of this climate.

It is hoped that lovers of roses will show their appreciation of this occasion by coming out to the meeting of the club on Jan. 17th.

We are indebted to Mrs. Wm. Candlin for the interesting and informative article on Bulbs published in our last issue. Anyone having additional information or having had different experience is welcome to space in our column. Our aim is to make this department an educational feature of the Sentinel and we solicit your assistance whether you are a member of this club or not.

Children's Book League

Nine of the rural schools have become members of the Book League through the Oregon State Library. This is the first year that boys and girls have been able to receive state certificates for reading and in this, the experimental state, the Oregon State Librarian is allowing only children in rural schools to sign up but she hopes in time to allow other schools this privilege. The schools which are carrying on this work are District 74 Pleasant Hill, District 45 New Lake, District 22 Riverside, District 26 Haynes Inlet, District 65 Sitkum, District 28 Gravel Ford, District 51 Delmar. Several other schools have traveling libraries.

The Oregon Farmer can now be secured in connection with the Sentinel for 25 cents a year; 25 copies a year.

Old Paper—5 cents a bundle at the Sentinel office.

Coquille Stands 41st in Libraries

Out of 69 libraries in the state, Coquille stands 41st in size, which is about as it should be, as there appear to be at least 40 cities in Oregon larger than Coquille. But our library received, in 1926, only 22 cents per capita whereas 38 libraries received more than that and 23 of them over twice as much. We are told that a model library has a minimum income per capita of $1.00. So we are actually holding our own with less than the average income. Last year will make a better showing than 1926 and we expect 1928 to advance our standing considerably.

Some new features have been added to the library recently which are of much interest and should be noted. First, we have acquired an Encyclopaedia Britannica! Portland's Public Library very kindly gave us this set at the earnest solicitation of our librarian and we are sure the high school pupils will give her and them a vote of thanks. We are also now receiving the daily congressional records, which will prove useful to the students. And another addition which should prove of much interest to us all is the 1927-28 Oregon Blue Book.

The new feature most likely to attract the reading public is the fact that we have joined the "Literary Guild of America." This organization sends us a new book the first of each month, which, in the minds of a group of widely known literary critics is the best of all the books published the preceding month. These books are proving to be the books everybody is reading and discussing and a great boon to those who wish to be absolutely up to date in their reading.

We have received three of these books thus far: "That Man Heine," a remarkable biography of a remarkable man. "A Short History of Woman," a surprising book to say the least. And a very unusual story, by Arnold Bennett, for those who like fiction, called "The Vanguard."

Imagine a man trying to get the best of his wife! You will sit up half the night to see it—and how he does it—once you get your hands on this book. The school children are flocking back to the library now that vacation is over and this is at least one place in town where business is good and getting better.

Other Creeds Than Ours

It is well sometimes to recognize the beautiful teachings of other creeds and races than our own. In the current issue of The Outlook is an interesting article by Adachi Kinoshita. As a small boy he was surprised that his mother neglected her morning devotions to attend to a puppy's hurt paw. He quotes his mother's words of explanation and goes on to expound a theology simple in its precepts and beautiful when lived by its followers. His mother said:

"There is something else, too, in the puppy. There lies in that hurt paw the path to the Pure Land of Extreme Bliss—did you know it? There are many, many trails to the top of Mount Fuji, as you may have heard. And there are many, many ways to the Pure Land of Extreme Bliss. One of them lies through wherever pain and suffering are. And I don't know of any better short cut to the Jodo, the Pure Land, than doing something to ease or take away the pain in anything. So, you see, that hurt paw of your little puppy is a sort of mile-post to paradise."

And here, incidentally, is the key to one of the outstanding human miracles in the world—the Japanese woman.

Lafcadio Hearn could not understand how in the name of all that is sacred the monstrous crimes, cruelties, abuses, heaped upon the gentle heads of Japanese women for centuries and centuries on end have actually produced such perfection of human devotion as seen among the upper-class women of Japan.

"How sweet," he once wrote, "Japanese woman is! All the possibilities for good seem to be concentrated in her. It shakes one's faith in some Occidental doctrines. If this be the result of suppression and oppression, then these are not altogether bad. On the other hand, how diamond-hard the character of the American woman becomes under the idolatry of which she is the object."

It was not the crude male "suppression and oppression" that wrought the gentle miracle, of course. That short cut to the Pure Land of Extreme Bliss mother mentioned—that is the real answer. That flaming aspiration of the Nippon woman to walk into the kingdom of grace by battling against and taking away pain and suffering wherever found is the real explanation. It made her forget such petty emotions as anger and thirst for revenge. It made her quite absent-minded about the very wrongs she was suffering. She was too busy thinking of pain and sufferings she should be removing to bother much about her own wrongs.

Ford Found in Middle Fork

A Ford coupe was discovered in the Middle Fork Monday which belonged to Tom Cribbins, son of Dan Cribbins, who resides near Bridge. The coupe had gone down a 200-foot embankment into the river and was submerged. Young Cribbins says that the coupe was stolen. Marks on the car and a tire on the bank above indicated that a tire had been removed before the Ford took its plunge.

Nu-Way Oil Burner

The Coquille Machine Shop is local agent for this most efficient oil burning heating plant. They will be pleased to demonstrate it with the new plant just installed at the Hotel Coquille

A Size For Every Heating Job

The Nu-Way Corporation has always realized the necessity of having a variety of sizes of oil burners, so that the size most adaptable to the particular job of installation is available.

It is an economic waste to install a burner larger than is required for the job, and a burner too small for the job means unsatisfactory heat.

With this in mind, they have developed six sizes of burners. A size suitable for every heating job—from a small filling station to a large hotel or office building.

The tanks are made in Coquille of heavy sheet iron.
