Coquille's New Publication

The "Foursquare Gospel Lighthouse Echoes" is the name of a new publication which makes its appearance in Coquille and Coos county this week. It is edited by Rev. Luther G. Broiles, of the local Foursquare church, and was issued from the Sentinel office.

It is liberally patronized by advertising, and besides the church news it contains, is also a booster publication for Coos county.

McKinley Notes

The high-powered electric line from Roseburg to Coos Bay over the general route of the Coos Bay Wagon road seems to be going to follow an airline over the shortest route possible. The men mapping out the probable route are going over mountains, through forest and tilled fields, rather than following the winding of the road in order to seek a grade, as it must. There will be a wide forest trail where it is necessary to cut through to shorten the distance. There will be no immediate chance to have it stepped down enough for any community use, the route man said. The from Dora to McKinley over the proposed route will be only two miles but it is about four by the road.

The McKinley Grange Home Economics committee are planning on furnishing a hope chest by the members making articles for same and the chest is to be raffled off by selling tickets at a nominal price, the winner to receive the hope chest. The date of the raffle has not yet been decided as there is so much to attend to before the State Grange comes to Marshfield.

Miss Shone will go to Sitkum Wednesday night with the members of the drill team from McKinley.

Mrs. Chas. Freeman and children, Hazel, Ruby and Emmett, are down with the measles. It was hoped they would escape at this particular time as it was so long since they were exposed and both Hazel and Ruby are on the drill team. It will be very difficult to replace them and the time is limited. An older son, Jay, has just about recovered from his attack of measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson, who were at R. N. McCarthy's camp last winter, have moved to the state of Washington.

Mrs. Sparks, of Oakland, Oregon, has spent a good deal of her time since coming for a stay with her grand daughter, Rosabel Shone, in visiting the Lawhorn, Myers, Hensen, A. L. Brown, Glenn and Loshbaugh families. She will go to Marshfield for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Crow, before returning to Oakland.

Mrs. Body, of Newberg, Oregon, has arrived for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Taylor, and family.

There has been quite a great deal of interest shown in certain circles over the Hearst $25,000 prize to draw out a plan to really promote temperance in the United States. It is to be hoped some one will find a working solution or at least some way will be found to enforce what has been called "a noble experiment" in some other than an ignoble and infamous way.

Tin Cans Kept Him Busy

Marshal Wm. Howell was a busy man last Sunday morning, from two o'clock on. Of automobile traffic or pedestrians there was practically none, but the high wind had the trash cans rolling all over the streets, and there was something doing every minute until he went off duty at seven o'clock.
