A bulkhead is being driven below the fill on the Fishtrap road between Elmer Shull's residence and the foot-hill. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in holding the fill at this place during high water as the current runs very strong due to the low river bank. It is hoped that this bulk-head will hold the water back so that the fill will be protected.

Arago School and Community

(By Bobbette)

Charivaries are the order of the day around Arago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Root, from Granada, Calif., are visiting old friends in Arago.

Sam Root, Deloris Root and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Edson, of Granada, accompanied their parents back to Arago and are visiting relatives and friends here. Mrs. Edson was formerly Mary Root, of this place.

Effort was made to improve the appearance of the school ground last week. The boys of the high school contributed several hours of hard labor and the pupils of the grades followed the next day with their contribution. Many unsightly weeds and dead grass were removed. Considerable work still needs to be done.

A considerable number of Arago people heard Rev. J. E. Ladd's lecture on Evolution at the Church of Christ in Coquille last week. Many pronounced it the most satisfactory presentation of the subject that they had ever heard.

Quite a number of the boys and girls are playing tennis. This is certainly a noble game and ought to be encouraged by everyone. Several hope to get in condition for a real match before the season closes.

Nile Miller had what might well be called a very narrow escape from death last week. The gravel truck which he was driving on the north bank road, while rounding a curve, slipped off the road and went down an embankment forty or fifty feet. When the thing stopped Mr. Miller was still at the wheel but the truck was bottom side up. Mr. Miller's face and hands were slightly scratched and several ribs cracked or broken. Nile is still rather stiff and lame but is mending rapidly.

The Arago Cheese factory is putting out about 800 pounds of cheese a day. They have a ready market for their entire output.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore visited Marshfield Monday evening of this week.

Our Sunday school and church attendance is not what it ought to be. Everybody come out and see what it ought to be.

Rev. W. S. Smith, of Coquille, preached last Sunday. In the evening Uncle John Root gave us one of his unique messages. Brother Root always keeps to the simple essentials. Points of controversy do not interest him.

Ethel Clemens recently had her tonsils removed. Last Friday she came to school but conversation brought on a hemorrhage and Mr. Sevy was compelled to hasten with her to the doctor. She stayed a couple of days in the hospital but is now back home much improved. She will probably be ready for school next Monday.

Harvey Hale, county agent, visited the school last week. He advertised the club work. On Saturday Mr. Wertman, of Corvallis, took the stock judging team out for practice.

Mr. DeLong of this community reports the sale of the Community Hospital of Myrtle Point. He has desired to sell this property as he was not situated so as to use it to any advantage.

Pearl and Alden Paull were new pupils this week.

Several teams have organized for playing volleyball.

Ray Barklow trimmed Mr. Lever Jr., of Myrtle Point, in a fast game of tennis on the local court.

Apson Culbertson, of Coquille, is visiting at the Keller home.

May Keltner, Evelyn Woodward, Irene Schroeder, Harvey Meyers, Milo Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, and Mrs. Keller, are all working in the veneer plant.

Iva Miller was married to Clifford Summerlin, a rancher near Coquille, last week. A big crowd of friends surprised them with a friendly charivari Tuesday night.

The Rich creek branch of Hall's creek has been the scene of a destructive forest fire for several days.

Mr. Ellis has secured the necessary timbers and progress will now be made on the big irrigation ditch at lower Fishtrap.

Mr. Paull is improving the conditions of the school very much by slating the blackboards. This will mean much relief to the eyes of the children.

The display of flowers at the Sunday services is certainly a very splendid contribution to our services. Last Sunday fresh bouquets of delphiniums, gladioli, aster and baby breath made the rooms very pleasing indeed.

A big reunion of the entire Robison family took place at the old Robison homestead last Sunday. Over one hundred representatives of the family were in attendance.

The Root family gathered at the home of Uncle Joe Root last Sunday for a reunion.

The high school grades of Frank

Burbank and Mrs. Frank Burbank (Irma Schroeder), were sent to the Oregon Southern Normal School at Ashland. Frank and Irma have already secured a cottage and will enter school about Sept. 20.

Forrest-Walker

A wedding occurred last Friday evening at the home of the groom on North Coulter street when James R. Forrest and Amanda Walker were united in marriage. Rev. Walter L. Shrock, minister of the Church of God, performed the ceremony. There were about a dozen guests present to witness the happy event.

Calling cards 100 for $1.50.
