News from Powers

The Powers Commercial Club are certainly to be congratulated on the fine condition of our street. Last Saturday about 45 men and 6 trucks put 150 loads of gravel on the streets and this week they are oiling them. There are about three miles of streets in Powers and they are rather expensive to keep up by the present system.

Mrs. Bill Marsee entertained the quilting bee at her home last Thursday. A delicious lunch was enjoyed at the close of a busy afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hanson moved to Portland last week. We were all sorry to see them go.

The P. T. A. had a very good meeting Friday, March 21st, at the Fellowship Hall. The first grade under the direction of their teacher, Miss Morris, gave three songs. Bessie Payne and Wanda Brown, of the Campfire Girls, who are working for the Second or Fire Maker rank, gave very interesting talks on Campfire. The rest of the program was as follows: "Why Every Child Needs an Allowance," by Bernice Hillia. "Experience with Her Own Children's Allowances," Mrs. Olive Lay. "The Purpose of an Allowance," Helen Gamwell. "Benefits for Both Parents and Children from an Allowance," Emily Purvis. "Old Iron Sides," by Clare Marsee. The attendance banner went to the first grade in the Primary school house and to the seventh grade in the high school building. At the close of the afternoon cake and coffee were served by the following hostesses: Miss Wisely, Mrs. Gladys Morrell and Miss McMullen. The Woman's Club had a very successful bulb show during the afternoon. There were 52 exhibits, which certainly did credit to the growers. The bulb display was in charge of Helen K. Gamwell. And was very much enjoyed by all.

Bessie Johnston is back in Coquille this week as night operator. Here's hoping her good health continues.

Marie McGilvery, chief operator of Powers, spent the week end in Coquille.

Monday evening the Camp Fire organization enjoyed a ceremonial in observance of the 18th birthday of Camp Fire. The following took the first or Woodgatherers' rank: Alyce Kay Roberts, Ruth Ann Crawford, Helen Rovang, Kathryn Quillow, Patsy Truine, Etha Durham, Jean McAdams, Ileen Shephard, Altha

Walker with Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Gamwell as guardians. The Indian exhibit and their own handwork made a very interesting exhibit.

L. J. Cooper, local forest ranger, who is leaving the last of the week for Alameda is spend a few days in Powers acquainting Arthur Borigo with the people and country. Mr. Borigo and his mother are getting settled at the Ranger Station. Mrs. Borigo Jr. will be here later.
