News from Powers

Leo Gianella, of Chico, California, spent a couple of days in and near the Fish & Gage mines on Iron mountain. M. O. Hawkins and W. T. Kerr, former residents of Coquille, gave him such glowing accounts of this country that he came in to see for himself.

Miss Helen Wright, who has taught for several successful years in the kindergarten of Powers school, has resigned and will be in Portland this winter where she can continue her music.

The Parent-Teacher association held its first meeting Friday, August 15, at the Fellowship Hall, with Mrs. Fred Stock and Mrs. Allan I. King as hostesses. The teachers' reception will be on September 13th. The P. T. A. will have a booth at the fair next month. Miss Cecil McCready played two numbers, "Dying Moments" and "The Rosary," which were much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Ray Brown passed away Sunday evening of pneumonia, following a paralytic stroke. Marie Brown was born at Provo, Utah, and would have been 73 years of age in September. She is survived by the following children: Floy McDonald, of Richmond, Calif.; Edna Auguston, of Berkeley, Calif.; and Bert Hooper, Los Angeles. Mrs. McDonald left Tuesday with the body for Richmond, where the funeral will take place.

Monday evening the Chaparral Rebekahs of Powers gave a dinner party at the Bungalow in honor of Leone Thiel, president of the Rebekah assembly. Covers were laid for the following: Leone Thiel, Astoria; Jennie Bennett, Marshfield, and from the Powers lodge: Ida May Mathews, Minnie King, John Widmark, Della Tanner, Clara Lapp, Anne Payne, Zenobi Widmark, Chas. Fensler, Pearl Robinson, Ray Storer, Mae Langston, Rossie Murdock and Nellie Lewis. Later in the evening Mrs. Thiel paid an official visit to the lodge. The Coos Bay Lumber Co. has moved its camp to Doe swamp, in the heart of the Eden ridge forest. Kenneth Murdock is in charge of this part of the work.

Ida May Mathews, Anna Payne, Della Tanner, Rossie Murdock, Minnie King and Mr. and Mrs. John Widmark represented the Chapparral Rebekah lodge at the county convention on Tuesday at North Bend. They report a large crowd and a splendid convention. All are loud in their praise of the banquet served by the Bayside Grange. Leone Thiel went on to Mapleton Wednesday and will attend the Florence convention there. She was accompanied by Jennie Bennett.

Camp Fire Girls Notes

The older Camp Fire group enjoyed a swim at Norway Tuesday evening. Miss Kathrine Nelson has given the girls swimming instructions which have been very helpful to the girls. Two of the girls passed their first swimming test at Norway.

Field Meetings Next Week

Alfalfa and Ladino clover plantings in different parts of the county are showing very decided results at the present time where irrigation is used. Six thousand, two hundred and fifty-seven (6,257) pounds of Atlacide has been applied to patches of Canadian thistles and Evergreen blackberries which are also showing a splendid result well worth your time to witness.

George H. Jenkins, county agent, is providing an opportunity for persons interested to see alfalfa plantings in different parts of the county, to see Ladino clover plantings where irrigation is being used and also where it is not, and to visit weed control plots where Canadian thistles and blackberries have been treated in various ways for their control; some field meetings will be held next week.

If not possible for you to attend these meetings, it will be time well spent to attend those that you can. Other field meetings will be held in various parts of the county soon and will be announced, either by letter or in newspapers of the county.

Schedule for Thursday, August 28:
10 a. m.—Smith & Kay farm, North Bank road. Ladino clover, irrigated and non-irrigated.

1 p. m.—Joe Seolari's farm, Fairview road. Weed control.

2 p. m.—G. M. Parker, north of Myrtle Point, Lee road. Alfalfa and Ladino clover irrigation.

3 p. m.—Frank Harnish farm, Gravel Ford. Pasture land irrigation.

4 p. m.—C. S. Webb farm, Gravel Ford. Effect of lime on alfalfa.
