M. D. Sherrard left at four o'clock this morning for Orland, Calif., where he has a fruit ranch. He expects to seed 40 acres of it to alfalfa this fall, and did not know when he left whether he would be gone but a few days or three months.

The ladies of the Missionary Society of the Pioneer Church will have charge of the Sunday evening service, beginning at 7:30 p. m. An interesting program has been prepared with special music, etc., and a cordial welcome is extended to the public.

Myrtle Point's mayor, W. W. Baynes, declared a holiday this afternoon from 1:30 until 4 o'clock, on account of the Myrtle Point-Marshfield football game being played there.

Coquille's final conference game will be with Myrtle Point here next Saturday, Nov. 22.

Dr. Richard Berg is a guest this week at the home of his brother, J. Arthur Berg. Dr. Berg's residence is in Portland, but he has just returned from New York where he was taking a special medical course. He accompanied Mayor Berg down from Portland Wednesday and expects to leave Sunday for his home.

Mrs. Sadie Jayes returned Tuesday evening from Salem, where she had been visiting two sons, and Portland where she had been taking treatments the past month and also visiting a daughter there. She feels now that she is completely recovered from the ailment which has been troubling her and says she feels better than she has for years.

Mr. and Mrs. John Treickler, residents of Coquille who left here about twelve years ago and for the past eight years have been in Nome, Alaska, were guests at the Fred Belloni home from Saturday until Monday of this week. When Mr. Treickler returns to Alaska early next spring, he will fly from Fairbanks to Nome. Both their daughters are married and live in San Francisco and Oakland, California.

Programs Spoiled by Noise

Both afternoon programs as scheduled for the Community Building during the Corn Show, were carried out on time and before good audiences, but there was so much confusion due to constant travel through the building that no one could get satisfactory reception. And some of the boys seemed to think that no one wanted to hear and spent the hour of the program playing there.

Will Handle Annual Seal Sale

Mrs. W. J. Conrad, county chairman for the 1930 sale of the Christmas Seals to be sponsored by the Coos County Health Association announced yesterday the appointment of her co-workers in the forthcoming sale. They are: Mrs. J. T. Brand, assistant chairman and Mrs. Lynn A. Parr, publicity chairman.

E. F. Grider, president of the Coos County Health Association, points out that this will be the 24th annual sale of the tiny health seals, the first sale having occurred in Delaware in 1907. Since that time the returns have increased in volume until last year over $5,500,000 was raised in the U. S. through this method.

The sale in this county last year was $1496.04, with the state total $58,444, and it is hoped both these figures will be exceeded this year. The disease prevention work of the Association for 1931 will depend largely upon the generous support given the sale which opens the day after Thanksgiving.

Ninety-five per cent of the funds raised in Oregon will stay in the state, only 5 cents out of each dollar contributed going to the National Tuberculosis Association to help finance scientific research and other activities, according to Mr. Grider.

Mrs. Conrad has announced the following as chairmen for the Seal Sale in their respective communities:

Mrs. J. Arthur Berg, Coquille; Mrs. Anne Hicking, Bandon; Mrs. H. G. Dement, Myrtle Point; Mrs. Esther Jones, Powers; Mrs. Verne Lundy, Twin Oaks; Mrs. Earle Steele, Bridge; Mrs. E. L. Clausen, Broadbent; Mrs. J. W. Rable, Coaledo; Mrs. W. J. DeBoer, Gravel Ford; Mrs. H. L. Hefley, Parkersburg; Mrs. Fremont Jeffries, Randolph; Mrs. J. G. Hartwell, Riverton; Mrs. Clarence Schroeder, Arago.

Corn Show Responsible for Crowds—Not for Conduct

Elsewhere in this issue appears an article, signed by five Coquille ministers, deploring the drinking prevalent in Coquille last week end. That there was drinking no one can think of denying, for there was too much of it.

But the point we want to make is that it was in no way connected with the Corn Show, except that the two days' celebration attracted thousands to Coquille and some of the visitors, as well as home folks, made it the occasion for excess.

At the old time dance Saturday evening there was no liquor in evidence, nor were drinkers there, and the same applies to any Corn Show feature. The Corn Show itself was clean, enjoyable, and a complete success. That some abused the carnival idea and spirit is no fault of those in charge of Corn Show affairs. It is a practice that has become altogether too prevalent whenever celebrations are held. To reduce it to a minimum is the duty of those responsible for law enforcement, but it is not fair to those who are working to advertise and boost Coquille to talk of abandoning the Corn Show because a few, comparatively speaking, make it an occasion for excess. The great majority of those here last Saturday evening were law-abiding and law-respecting.

Observed in Schools This Week

National Educational Week has been observed this past week in the Coquille High School by a series of daily assemblies, at which time the students and the High School faculty have joined with outside speakers in observing this occasion.

Bishop W. T. Sumner, Mrs. Inez Chase, of the Coquille Schools, Lyman Carrier of the Coquille school board, and Lynn A. Parr, superintendent of the Marshfield public schools, have addressed the students of the school this week on subjects pertaining to education. Student speakers, the High School orchestra, the mixed chorus, and various faculty members have taken parts in the program to make the series of assemblies a decidedly interesting group of student gatherings.

C. E. Convention at North Bend

The county convention of Myrtle Union Christian Endeavor, opens in the Church of Christ at North Bend this evening. The sessions will be presided over by Miss Aida Sloan, of Coquille, who is president of the Union. There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

A Protest Against Drinking At Annual Celebration

We believe in the community in which we live. We have a climate and a country that cannot be surpassed. We believe in every legitimate form of advertising our community. The original purpose of the Corn Show was and is yet a good one. This year the Corn Show committee is to be commended for their splendid work. The exhibits were excellent; the parade, program, band, etc., were very good, perhaps, better than usual. Those who were responsible are to be congratulated and their efforts are greatly appreciated by the community.

But why is it that we let a group who do not particularly care about the community or the Corn Show spoil the good that the Show might accomplish, by their drinking and disorderly conduct? Both nights during the show our city was wide open. Drinking men and women were on every street. If a man should have been in our city at that time looking for a place for a home for himself and family, he would have moved on. If we are to have a wide open city with our Corn Show, we are better off without the Show. It loses its usefulness when the rough element is permitted to destroy all the good that it might accomplish. Have we had our last Corn Show? We believe that we have if it means a license for every hoodlum to do as he pleases. We believe that we have unless the officials can assure us law and order; for a number of those who have worked hardest for the success of the Show have said that they are through unless they can have this assurance.

We not only believe in our country, but we believe in the people of this community. And we are voicing the sentiment of those law-abiding citizens who have their homes, their children, and their interest here and who care for the finer things of life.

National Grange Convention

Members of the Grange and those who are interested in the workings of the Grange will be interesting in knowing something about the National Grange Session now being held in Rochester, New York. It is a ten-day session beginning November 12 and lasting until the 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hulet are the delegates from Oregon. Mrs. George A. Palmier, wife of the former State Mast r, is a national officer and will be in attendance.

The only election of officers in the National Grange this year is one member of the executive committee and one member of the board of managers of the National Grange Monthly.

The business sessions of the National Grange will be held in the ball room of Hotel Seneca this year. The seventh degree will be conferred on perhaps the largest class of candidates ever to receive this degree and perhaps the largest class to receive a degree in any secret order. This degree will be conferred Friday, November 14; the first class of 2500 candidates will begin taking the Seventh degree at 9 a. m. in the Masonic Temple, the second class at high noon, the third at 2:30 p. m., fourth at 5 p. m. and the fifth at 7:30. The sixth group will begin at 10 p. m. and if necessary a class at midnight. This day is expected to be the big day of the session and plans are being made to entertain 20,000 visitors in the city of Rochester.

The national lecturers' conference will be held in the City Armory at 10 a. m., November 14. Mr. Hulet, State Master of Oregon, is to be one of the speakers and will speak on "Why a balanced program is necessary in every Grange." There will be addresses by Alexander Legge, of the Federal Farm Board; Arthur Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, and others.

KEEPING WELL

SHINGLES

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
DOCTOR OF "HEALTH"

SHINGLES is a remarkable disease both by name and by nature. It is evidently an old disease, since its popular name as well as its scientific name both go back into antiquity.

Its popular name of shingles is a corruption of the Latin word, cingulum or girdle, while its scientific name, herpes zoster, is from the Greek word which means the same thing; so it is clear that the thing about this peculiar disease that impressed these ancient people was the same that strikes the observer today, namely, the girdle or belt-like eruption running around the body.

Shingles is a comparatively common condition. It occurs rarely in children, most commonly in persons under twenty-five. It is also common among those over sixty. It is most prevalent in the spring and fall.

Its cause is in doubt. Many authorities regard it as a specific infection, like smallpox, measles or scarlet fever.

In some cases, an attack follows injury or exposure, as a broken leg or exposure to cold or wet. Others regard it as resulting from some form of poisoning, either from a center of infection as a boil, or from absorption of poison from the bowels.

The peculiarity about shingles is that the eruption always follows the course of a nerve. The most common form is that which follows one or two of the intercostal nerves, which run below the lower border of the ribs; usually only one side, the right, is affected, rarely the eruption is on both sides, forming a true girdle or belt.

Other nerves involved may be the facial, the ophthalmic, when the eyeball is involved, the temporal, in the forehead, the crural in the thigh, and the sciatic in the back of the leg. The attack generally begins with a neuralgia in the nerve involved. In a few days the eruption appears on the skin on the line of the nerve. The skin is bright red with little pimples scattered along the line of the nerve. There is burning, itching, and dull throbbing pain. Mild cases last for a week to ten days. More severe cases may run a month or six weeks. The eruption generally disappears without leaving any scars. The pain is controlled by morphine, if necessary. The eruption is treated with zinc and boric acid dusting powder and cooling washes.

Maidenhair Tree Exhibited

The ginkgo or maidenhair tree, of Japan, the only modern survivor of a tree family of which ten fossil species are known, is represented by an exhibit in the hall of plant life at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, which includes a branch in full flower, seeds, fruits and wood.

Shifting Man

David's mother gave a man soliciting work a task for the day. After a weary time trying to keep the laborer on the job she called him a shiftless man. A few days later a stranger called and the five-year-old lad said: "If you are a shifting man, mother'll not give you a job."

District's Claims Allowed

The District of Columbia was not originally considered in the appointment of Rhodes scholarships. After years of consideration it was ruled that the district be treated as part of Maryland, and the first election under this arrangement was held in December, 1924.

Social Division

The "Four Hundred" is a phrase coined in the gay nineties which referred to the relatively small number of New York society people who were deemed eligible to be guests of prominent hostesses. The phrase has become a figure of speech.
