McKinley Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Robinson and two sons, of Astoria, spent a few days last week visiting at the Geo. Glenn home. Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Glenn are sisters. Mr. Robinson is district manager of the Union Oil Co. for that district. Wednesday Mrs. Glenn prepared a dinner for her guests. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and two sons; Mr. and Mrs. Ivyl Frye, of Coquille; Miss Norma Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn and Helen and Harold. Mr. Frye is a brother of Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Glenn. Helen, daughter of the Glenn's is home for the summer. She attended the Ashland Normal school last winter and spring.

Miss Alice Jenkins is attending summer school at Ashland. She taught a successful term of school at Shiloh last winter and is under contract to teach at Fairview this coming term.

Miss Alice Mast returned to Ashland after a four-day vacation. She intends to take the teachers' training course until she graduates rather than teach a while as many do.

Miss Bessie Brown, of Camas Valley, was in for a few days' visit with McKinley relatives and her brother, Alva Brown, who has been so seriously ill at the Knife hospital since May 22. The last reports from Mr. Brown were that he might be brought home about the 29th of this month, although it is expected that it will still be some time before he is able to be about much.

It seems at present that the hay on the R. H. Lawhorn place that was cut just before the rains will be a total loss. There probably will be hay ruined on several other farms also.

The women and children of the community are "making hay while the sun shines" and getting in a supply of the little wild blackberries, or Dew berries we call them. There is an abundant crop this year.

The cherry crop on the Cecil Dugger place went to waste. Many gallons fell and rotted under the trees. Years ago when the W. H. Bunch family had the place that was the finest cherry orchard in the district. I believe there were 52 giant trees of many varieties.

Mrs. Holmstrom and Anna and Rolf are spending part of this week in Coquille.

Lovers Block Traffic

A big sedan automobile passed down Spruce street Monday morning at a speed so slow that it attracted the attention of people along the street. In the car were a young man and young lady. The girl was sitting at the wheel and the young chap had both arms around her and holding her tight to the danger point. In front of the Hotel Myrtle the car came to a stop. A Union oil truck was close behind and before the driver of that machine could apply the brakes his truck had jammed into the car occupied by the lovers. After a pause the sedan continued on its way at about the same rate of slowness as before and a block farther turned south on Sixth street.

Of course, the world still loves a lover, but when they are travelling main highways in incorporated towns they ought to make room for people who start out for a destination and want to get there. — Myrtle Point Herald.
