WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Place: City Hall.
Time: 8:00 p. m.
When: First and Third Tuesdays.
President—Geo. W. Taylor, Sr.
Secy.—Mrs. Inez Chase
Treas.—Mrs. John A. Martin
Cor. Sec'y.—Mrs. Nellie Whereat.

An extra good meeting was held by the Flower Lovers' Club Tuesday evening. Mixed bouquets were entered in the cup contest, there being nine entries, besides baskets brought by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Cooper, who do not compete. Mr. Grimes had a large handsome basket of tall French marigolds in various shades. Mrs. Geo. Leach had a large basket with a very beautiful bouquet of mixed varieties—she carried off the cup. Mrs. Owen brought a large basket of pink amaryllis, pink anemone Japonica and clematis. It was beautiful. Mrs. Dimick entered a very large basket with a beautiful mixed bouquet. Mrs. Sloan's entry of a vase of mixed dahlias attracted a good deal of attention. Mrs. Wheeler had a lovely mixed bouquet in a handsome black bowl. Ruth Pettingill brought a lovely mixed bouquet in a large vase, as did Mrs. Clifford Kern. Mr. Taylor had a beautiful basket of mixed varieties.

Mr. Cooper brought two baskets, one very large one contained a collection of gladioli, 25 varieties, no two alike, and the other was composed of zinnias, two types and several shades, and tall African marigolds in two shades, orange and yellow. Both were very beautiful and needless to say attracted a great deal of favorable comment.

The contest for the next meeting, Sept. 1, is to be a basket or vase of a single variety of flower without a filler.

Our slogan contest was another interesting part of the evening's program, there being ten entries submitted and three were alike. Mr. Taylor's slogan, "Coquille, the City for Better Homes and Gardens," received the most votes and it is to be used on our club stationery and club work generally in the future. Mrs. Bayers, as chairman of the research committee, gave a talk on the programs lined out for Tuesday night and the meeting of Sept. 1 and then passed out questionnaires which she had prepared. The questionnaires contained a list of 25 subjects, with one to be "written in." The members were asked to check the subjects in which they were most interested, this information to be used by the committee in arranging future programs. These were checked and returned to Mrs. Bayers Tuesday evening.

An article from the "Flower Grower" for August, 1931, on "Roadside Beauty," was then read by Mrs. Bennett. It was doubly interesting as it told how the State Federation of Women's Clubs in conjunction with the state highway commission has cleaned the Oregon highways of disfiguring signs and rubbish.

A general discussion on what can be done in the garden now was next on the program and most of the members present took part. The publicity committee displayed two large posters as samples of work to be done for advertising the flower show next year. The posters will be very attractive and are to be made by the committee with the aid of girls interested in the work. They received very favorable comment and the committee received a vote of thanks from Mr. Taylor. At our next meeting we will have something on pools and rock gardens which we hope will be of interest to all. Be sure to come, everybody.

B. P. W. Enjoy Beach Picnic

The Business and Professional Women's Club held the annual picnic at Bandon on Monday night. The group met at the James Richmond cabin where a club supper was served by a committee headed by Mrs. Jennie Price.

An informal evening of swimming and playing games followed the supper. During the evening the president called attention to the district meeting which will be held at Coquille on September 19th and 20th, at which time there will be present the state president and delegates who attended the national convention at Richmond, Virginia, in July. The club will be informed of details later.

The committee on departmental work are preparing questionnaires to be distributed among the members at the next meeting and ask that each member come with ideas as to activities to be taken up by the club during the coming year.

Club members and guests motoring to Bandon for the picnic were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bosserman, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Knife, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Newton, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Leach, Mrs. Jas. Richmond, Mrs. Geo. Unsoeld, Mrs. J. E. Norton, Mrs. S. L. DeLong, Mrs. Jennie Price, Mrs. Louis Baker, Mrs. Isaac Shelley, Mrs. Bertha Smith, Mrs. Sadie Jayes, Mrs. Leona Bryant, Mr. G. C. Caughell and Misses Blythe Cousins, Edna Robison, Edith Scott, Ida Oerding, Mary Greiner, Marguerite Agostino, Jennie Lindros, Myrtle DeLong and Saima Lindros.

McKinley Notes

Charles Heller and crew started out Tuesday on his fifty-fourth annual trip with his threshes. He has been on the job since 1877 and never missed a season in all that time. We doubt if that record could be broken in any of the far western states at least, as they have not had threshers much longer than that. Mr. Heller seems to be almost as full of pep and vim as he did when the writer as a small child remembers him threshing on Middle Creek before there was a postoffice at McKinley. He had a lot of horses then that went around in a circle instead of using a tractor for power as is now the case.

The whole neighborhood went from farm to farm and while the women prepared regular banquets for each meal the men helped with the other work and visited in between times. But as the old saying goes, "them days are gone forever." Now it is just a short stop at the scattering places that still thresh. Any one woman is able to prepare a meal for the small crew but it isn't the yearly event it used to be.

Lyndon Jenkins has been laid up with a spell of tonsillitis for several days but is about well at this writing.

There were twelve men from here who went on a night march to the Tloga country when the word was sent out that a large fire had broken out on the Four Mile ridge. They hurried ahead of the supply train with just enough rations to do until the pack train could overtake them but in that immense country it did not locate them and when it was found the fire was not where reported they went on with just the scanty rations they started with and that is all they had until Sunday when they got into the Brewster Valley country. Food for what was expected to last for two good meals had to last from Thursday until Sunday. They travelled over the roughest country imaginable and had the fire surrounded before they went to the food base. It was not a case of being lost because they never were. The fire was not where it was reported and the orders were to "go to the fire."

The fire warden who was in charge had an infected foot and stayed on the job as long as he could walk. He came out alone Friday and that's when Hugh and Walter Lawhorn with Fred Mast and one of the Weathers

A Savings Account Will Build Your Home

Recently a statistical organization published the results of an investigation in several American cities on home ownership. Of approximately 12,000 families interviewed 70 per cent owned their own homes. Are you living in your own home? If not we can help you. The start, of course, is a savings account. Open it today.

went into the mountains with pack-loads of supplies. One of them was seen on a distant ridge but it wasn't possible to get into any closer touch in that locality. Few on the outside realize the impossibility of fighting fire in such a country and the danger to human life if they did try to go where ordered. Kenneth Hansen acted as timekeeper when "Scotty" had to come in and on the way out Sunday night he had the misfortune to get an ax stuck into his leg but walked about nine miles after that. The doctor sewed up the wound but it is still bad enough.

Not very many went to the Farmers picnic Sunday from here but those who did reported a good crowd and a good time.

Margaret Beyers, daughter of J. P. Beyers, is in from Portland for a visit at the home of her uncle, R. H. Lawhorn.

Mrs. Chas. Freeman and daughter, Ruby, from Hauser are visiting in McKinley this week at the homes of her son, J. H. Freeman, and daughter, Mrs. T. R. Bennett.

Rex Brown, from Wenatchee, Wash., is expected in for his vacation which he will spend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brown.

A new initiative measure sponsored by H. H. Stallard would fix the maximum license fee for automobiles at $3 a year. Stages, trucks, trailers and semi-trailers would not be included under this low fee.
