Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis English, last Friday, at the home of the mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fieh, at Fiehrap, an eight pound baby daughter who has been named Ruth Louise. Mr. English is the Coquille day officer and until we heard that he had become a father we did not know why he was carrying his head so high.

H. A. Bender left Tuesday morning for Portland to attend a convention of Kelvinator dealers on Wednesday. Mr. Bender, who conducts the Refrigeration Sales and Service here, has three counties in his district—Coos, Curry and Douglas—and reports that he has just made installation or sales of refrigeration equipment in Reedsport and Drain.

Several Royal Neighbors from here attended the pep meeting in Myrtle Point Monday night, namely: Mesdames Geo. Burr, Joe Stankewitz, Jack Leach, Wm. Peart, Al Burch, Robt. Waggoner and Ella Sheehan. A minuet put on by the Powers Camp was greatly enjoyed as well as an interesting talk given by Mrs. Ida Hamblin, state supervisor, of Portland.

R. B. Miller, accompanied by his wife and daughter were Coquille visitors this week from Medford, coming over Saturday and returning Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Miller was formerly a teacher in the Coquille schools. Mr. Miller is now selling Fords for the "Pop" Gates agency in Medford, but says the selling is not so hot this winter. They were guests at the F. C. Hudson home while here.

J. H. Dalen, who was here from Bandon yesterday, denied the report in circulation here, that he had been notified to hold himself in readiness for military duty. He is a member of the army Reserve Officers Corps. He also stated that it will be August before Mrs. Dalen and their two children return from their year in France. The children were put in school there for a year to compel them to speak French, and a letter from Mrs. Dalen says they sometimes call her down for speaking English.

Says "Doc" Will Return

In a letter received in Coquille Tuesday from Miss M. Fischbach the information is given that "Doc" Fitz Gerald has not been in jail in San Francisco since Jan. 3; that the judge before whom he was on trial for defrauding Albert Kroll out of some thousands of dollars had advised Doc to go and demonstrate the success of his So-zo-zone amalgamation process during the next 90 days, and that it was Doc's intention to come up here and do that just as soon as he is freed from the court's jurisdiction. Another case was filed against him in Oakland for receiving money from Eli Punshon, the same kind of a charge as Kroll's, and while it is pending he cannot return to Oregon.

To Have Pioneer Tea Monday

The George Washington Tea at the home of Mrs. J. E. Paulson Monday afternoon of next week, from 2 till 6 p. m., by the Woman's Club will be of special interest to the pioneers of the community. There will be a large display of old quilts from all over the county and old-fashioned dresses, dolls and treasures of our grand-mother's days will be in evidence.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged, the proceeds of which will go to the library fund for the club's monthly payment to the library. Everyone is cordially invited and urged to attend and help make this the affair of the season.

Lose Daughter and Father

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Creager returned Wednesday evening from San Francisco, to which place they had taken their ten-months old daughter three weeks ago for medical attention. The little one passed away on February 8, the specialists there declaring her trouble to be mastoid. Before Mr. and Mrs. Creager left the city, her father, Dr. C. A. Winans, 66, also passed away, death coming unexpectedly last Friday. Mr. Winans practiced medicine in Alaska for 21 years, and had more recently been living in Medford. From there he and his wife moved to San Francisco last year.

"Curses, What a Night!"

"Curses, What a Night!" Not last night nor tonight, but the evenings of March 2 and 3. That is the title of one of the one-act skits which members of the Junior class of C. H. S. will present in connection with the talking picture, "Heaven on Earth," at the Liberty theatre. The other comedy-skits is "Burglar-Proof."

The Junior class started yesterday selling tickets for this show, the proceeds of which are to finance the annual Senior-Junior banquet in May. They will receive a percentage of the advance ticket sale.

For Oregon's L. A. Office

E. G. Harlan and W. C. Harding, secretaries respectively of the Eugene and Roesburg Chambers of Commerce, were in Coquille this morning, endeavoring to raise funds for the State Chamber of Commerce to insure a continuance of the Oregon tourist bureau in Los Angeles. Most worthy as that project is and producer of great good for Oregon, it is doubtful that the county can see a way to appropriate a portion of the $200 desired from Coos county.

Lee Goodman Confined to Bed

Lee Goodman, suffered a heart attack at the Odd Fellows Hall, Tuesday evening, which affected his leg so that he was unable to walk, and he has been confined to his bed since with a nurse in attendance. Dr. Jas. Richmond, who was called, said it was not in the nature of a paralytic stroke, but due to poor circulation. In his younger days Mr. Goodman lost a leg and underwent a severe operation and has been subject to these heart attacks for a number of years.

Chamber of Commerce Drive to Start Feb. 23

Congressman Hawley, urging the practice of rigid economy in governmental affairs all down the line, and that the County Chamber and other chambers in the county be requested to take the same action.

The publicity committee was requested to attend a meeting at the Chandler Hotel in Marshfield next Wednesday, called by the American Legion, to formulate plans for securing the maximum amount of travel over the Coast Highway by Legion members from California, Nevada, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas, who will be going to Portland for the national Legion convention in September.

J. E. Norton and Geo. R. Dickinson reported on the largely attended County Chamber of Commerce meeting in Bandon, Monday evening. One request presented by Gold Beach was for a $300 contribution by Coos county to aid in financing the Rogue river bridge dedication in May. The request was referred to the several chambers in the county for individual contributions.

The county chamber was also requested to co-operate in the efforts to secure a Grants Pass to Illabe to Powers road, with another branch continuing down the Rogue from Illabe to Gold Beach. It was not expected the road could be started this year, but with forest funds entering largely into the construction costs when it is built, it is desirable to get the proposition lined up as soon as possible and have the project included in the state's future road program.

Whether the several chambers of commerce desire to finance the publication of another agricultural booklet was also referred by the county chamber. The last issue has been exhausted and another would cost $300 to $400.

Following the business session the directors, of whom 16 out of the 20 were present, listened to a very interesting talk on the geology of Coos county by J. Ellis Loreman, and finished the evening in a social way, over coffee and sandwiches.

Brand Files for Supreme Court

Coos county's loss will be the state's gain if Judge Jas. T. Brand is successful in winning the nomination and election as justice on the Oregon supreme court bench this year. He filed notice of his candidacy with Secretary of State Hoss last Saturday, and will oppose Justice Bean in the May primaries. There are other candidates for the same position, Roy B. Hewitt, dean of the Willamette university law school, and J. W. McCulloch, assistant U. S. attorney.

Judge Brand has been frequently called by the supreme court to sit on the bench in other counties, and his legal ability is universally recognized.

Judge Brand has been a resident of Marshfield since 1914. He served ten years as city attorney of that city, and since September, 1927, has been circuit judge of Coos county. He served first by appointment from Gov. Patterson, and was elected in 1930, without opposition. He has been prominent in Coos county affairs since he graduated from the Harvard law school in 1914 and hung out his first shingle in Marshfield. If comparisons are permitted, it could be said that Judge Brand brings to mind the martyred president whose birthday was celebrated last Friday, more than any other man we ever knew.

Hawkins Not a Candidate

The Oregonian would do well to look to the reliability of the news emanating from Coquille. In last Sunday's issue it stated that M. O. Hawkins was thinking of becoming a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk. Mr. Hawkins said this week that the idea had not occurred to him, that the mention he saw in the Oregonian was the first he had had, and that he was not considering it. "I think we can leave well enough alone," was his comment. "Pete Watson makes a good clerk."

Right of Way Suit Is On

After hearing two Curry county cases here on Monday and Tuesday, Judge Brand began Wednesday on the case of Kenneth Laird vs. the California-Oregon Power Co. for damages for trespass and cutting of timber. The case is a result of the building of the power line across the Coast range from the Pacific highway to Brewster valley. It will probably not be finished until tomorrow.

There will be a Missionary Program at the Church of Christ on Fourth street Sunday, February 21st, at 2:30 p. m. The program will consist of a playlet to be given by Myrtle Point Christian Endeavorers and special music and talks by other Christian Endeavorers of Myrtle Union.

"Red-Headed Stepchild" Was Well Presented

"The Red-Headed Stepchild" was presented in a most creditable way by the Monotony Killers cast at the Liberty Theatre last evening, before an audience which filled nearly all the seats on the lower floor.

The actors themselves were excellent in their several parts, there being practically no forgetting of lines, and the manner in which the scenes were presented was more professional than amateur. Mrs. W. E. Bosserman who conducted rehearsals, should be proud of the way in which the three acts were given.

Mrs. Ula Leach, the unwanted stepchild from Montana, had a fund of philosophy and an inherent goodness that endeared her to the audience and prejudiced them against her stepmother, and half-sister, parts played by Mrs. Maxine Jeub and Miss Saina Lindros respectively. But the prejudice was against their treatment of "Bess" only; as actresses they were superb, the hauteur and snobbishness of society being fully exemplified in their manner.

A new appearance with the Monotony Killer was George Tracy Leach, who from his initial appearance, bids fair to equal the reputation made by his grandfather, Geo. Leach, as an amateur actor.

Ray Jeub, whose part as accepted suitor of the daughter of the house and later as lover of the stepchild, was second only to Mrs. Leach in importance, presented the same ready wit and assurance that he has shown in previous performances and he carried the part off exceedingly well.

LeNorme Pownder, the butler, was dignity personified, his lines were few but his carriage was everything.

The society characters, Mrs. Florabelle Boober, Mrs. Geo. R. Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Zosel and Miss Blythe Cousins, most handsomely gowned, had the savoir faire so necessary to a good interpretation of their parts, while Tracy Leach, the father of the two half-sisters, caught in the stock market crash and saved by "Bess," was never in better form than he has last evening.

Miss Jennie Lindros, the 17-year old inamorata, of "Dudley," the son,—George Tracy Leach—was the loveliest girl to perfection. Her appearances were few, but showed what the reading of too many love stories does to girls of the impressionable age.

Arrivals at County Jail

New names on the blotter at the sheriff's office this week include the following:

Innes Houser, arrested yesterday for possession of a still which Officers Hedges and Williams found 150 feet from his house ten miles up Rock creek from Bridge.

Fred Taylor, Melvin Mesa and Sam Renek, who took a demonstration car from Marshfield, were arrested at Eureka, California, and brought back by members of the sheriff's force. Their bail was set at $700 each by Justice Bolt.

Three were brought to jail here after being sentenced by Justice E. A. Dodge at Myrtle Point—Ted Houser, Feb. 15, larceny, fine of $20 and six months' sentence, to be paroled after 15 days; Wayne Franklin Endicot, Monday, carrying concealed weapons, $10 fine and 30 day sentence, to be paroled after fine payment; and Jack Perry, possession of liquor, Tuesday, fine $25.

Another fine assessed in Justice Dodge's court yesterday was $10 against Mrs. Houser for using profane and indecent language to the officers who arrested her husband, Innes Houser.

A. Isler Buys on Front St.

Adolph Isler, proprietor of the Coquille Sheet Metal Works, has made a deal with C. A. Gage for the purchase of the old Knowlton Drug Store frame building on Front street, and moved into it last Saturday from the Paulson building on Front, next to the City Cleaners.

Frank A. Rowe has rented the building just vacated by Mr. Isler and will occupy it with a wood working plant.

"Bo" Johnson Back in U. S.

"Bo" Johnson arrived in San Francisco this week and it is uncertain yet whether his leg will heal without further operation. It was 17 days after the leg was broken when a huge wave hit him on the deck of his steamer before he reached a doctor to have it set, and it had begun to knit in the meantime. It has been re-set two or three times since but whether it is a satisfactory job is not yet known.
