Calling cards 100 for $1.50.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS

The Lions club is planning a dance for May 14. This dance will be given for several purposes. They will use the money for a tennis court and buy glasses for some children who have no money. It will also serve as a bon voyage party for Herman Tesson, who will leave some time in May for Germany to visit his mother.

The Auto Park Service Station, owned by Broaderrick & Albee, was practically demolished by flames Sunday morning.

The telephone operators and some of their close friends celebrated a double birthday last Wednesday evening at the Kelly home. It was in honor of the birthday of Miss Wilda Barker and Elsie Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Garrett and daughter, Margaret, spent the weekend in Salem, visiting with Mr. Garrett's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Folsom.

At a meeting of the Chautauqua association held at the Henry Schroeder home last week the question of having a Chautauqua this year was discussed. A three-day program may be presented.

"The Wasp's Nest," the senior play, will be given Friday, May 6th. One hundred seats are reserved at no extra charge at Harlocker's Drug Store. The price of admission has been lowered to thirty-five for adults and twenty cents for students. The members of the cast are: Roger McDowell, a young man of twenty-one, Andy Newhouse; Steve Nelson, his pal, Jean Prossler; Henry Fifield, trustee of the McDowell estate, Walter Feleher; Lufe Curtis, his "catpaw," Austin Hall; Ben Hickman, a neighbor, Harold Endicott; Reid Carson, a smooth highwayman, Lyle Carver; Hank, his partner, Donald Druliner; Nancy Merrivale, a clever Southern girl, Lois Porterfield; Myrtle, the grey enigma, Dulcie Foote; Mrs. Neely Mc-Dowell, Roger's mother, Frances Fearnley; Lillie, colored servant, Priscilla Deyoe; Mrs. Emmeline Jessup, Nancy's aunt, Genevieve Knight. The play will start at eight o'clock sharp.

Rev. Henry Carver left Friday for Ashland to be with his wife when she is operated on in that city.

J. L. Larson, R. C. A. Photophone service man, was down from Portland last week checking over the Hiland theatre equipment in this city. Mrs. Larson accompanied her husband on this trip.

Jack Beatty, of Powers, is stopping at the Hazelton hotel. He is conferring with G. A. Sirginson, who recently took over the Ed Brain pool room.

Lyle Bishop, recently returned from Los Angeles, where he has been visiting relatives since December. At present he is staying at Hazelton Hotel, but expects to return to his home on Myrtle Creek soon.

The house, which Mrs. John Lewellen has been building about a mile below town on the old river road, has been completed. Glenn Neideigh will move his family in soon. He has leased a 20-acre farm along with it and intends to run a dairy farm.

Six of the Smith-Hughes boys and their instructor, Mr. Sawyer, left Thursday for Corvallis to attend the F. F. A. convention. They will return Saturday.

It was decided at a meeting of the Junior class that there will be no Junior-Senior banquet this year. Previously this has been an event given the Seniors by members of the Junior class and has been a main feature on the social calendar of the year. This action was taken on account of shortage of funds.

A. M. Cooper, proprietor of the Myrtle Greenhouses, set aside last Sunday for visitors' day at his place of business. People called there from early morning till late at night and each visitor, upon registering, received a souvenir and was escorted through the gardens. There were about 400 visitors.

Although Myrtle Point high school lost the cup in the state typing contest this year, the team felt very proud at having one of its members, Eloise Crowley, place first. She typed at the rate of 75 net words a minute. Myrtle Point has had her name on the cup for two years but lost that honor this year. Those who made the trip to Corvallis Friday to compete in the contest Saturday were Eloise Crowley and Julia Myrl Leatherman; second division, Selma Latham and Marguerite Sunstrup. They were accompanied by Miss Alice Alverdes, instructor, and L. P. Linn, principal.

The girls' glee club at the Junior high school, accompanied by Miss Charlotte Brosius, sang at the grade school spelling contest in Coquille Saturday. There were thirty-three girls who participated.

"Emma" Coming to Hiland

In "Emma," which opens Sunday at the Hiland Theatre in Myrtle Point, Marie Dressler gives to the screen another of those brilliant dramatic characterizations which first surprised filmgoers when she deserted comedy to play Martha in "Anna Christie," and which in "Min and Bill" won her the Academy award for the outstanding performance of the year.

Miss Dressler is given a unique dramatic situation in "Emma," and she handles it with all the skill, the sympathy and the adroit combination of humor and pathos which audiences have come to expect of this distinguished actress. The story places her as the housekeeper in the home of a millionaire inventor whose wife has died and whose children have come to look upon Emma as a second mother. When, however, the millionaire marries her and she becomes their mother legally, the children take a different view of the woman who has worked all her life for them. For how can they introduce their former servant to their friends as their stepmother?

Things reach an even more bitter climax when the father dies, leaving all his money to Emma. The devoted and harmless Emma is now accused of having contributed to the death of the millionaire for the sake of his wealth and the result is a notorious will contest and the ultimate trial of Emma for murder. It may easily be seen what the accomplished Miss Dressler can do with a situation like this.

Bands at Legion Convention

To date, seventy drum corps and thirty-two bands are scheduled to compete at the 1932 Legion Convention in Portland, with only thirty of the states having thus far sent in their estimates. The estimates are conceded to be conservative and several of the larger states are yet to be heard from.

The drum corps and band competition, nowhere approached for colorful martial display, will be ideally staged in one of the country's finest stadia. The Multnomah Civic Stadium seats 30,000 and has a beautiful field. It is located but a few blocks from all of the principal convention hotels.

Eye Doctor Coming

Dr. Clarke, of the Clarke Optical Co., Portland, Ore., Eye Specialists, will be in Coquille, all day and evening, on his regular monthly trip, Saturday, April 30th, at the Hotel Coquille. See him about your eyes.
