County School Affairs

(By County Supt. Mulkey)

Numerous school affairs have been and will be presented in the near future. On Friday, May 6th, the 4-H club of each Gravel Ford and Sitkum served a Mother's Tea. Also on the same day Wanda Houdyshell, teacher of Gravel Ford, was surprised when she dismissed for noon to find that the ladies of the community had silently placed tables in the school yard and were ready to serve the teacher and pupils a real banquet. After dinner the parents looked over the display of school and 4-H work.

On Sunday, May 8th, Genevieve Crowley, leader of the Sitkum club, and Wanda Houdyshell, leader of the Gravel Ford club, entertained the 4-H clubs by taking the members to Bandon for a club picnic. Parents also assisted in this.

The children of the McKinley school with their teacher, Verna Finley, and some of their parents spent Tuesday, May 10th, at Bandon Beach. The McKinley school closed Monday. The 4-H achievement day for the McKinley club was held Friday, May 6th.

Coaled school is not superstitious as to Friday, the 13th. Today is the big day there. The 4-H sewing club will exhibit a display of their work, a program will be presented by the school and 8th grade diplomas for graduates and Palmer awards will be handed those who have earned them. Those expecting Palmer awards are as follows: Ole Chard and Monroe Spurgeon will receive their final Palmer certificates. Dorothy Klien and Maxine Martin will receive Improvement certificates. Dollie Spurgeon will be presented with a progress pin. Lilly Abbott, Nora Abbott, Elsie Yoakum, John Langenberg and Gilbert Spurgeon will receive Merit buttons. Palmer buttons will be awarded to Archie Spurgeon, Ellen Abbott and Cleo Langenberg. To complete the day the Myrtle Club will follow their custom of treating the children.

Three hundred and fifty persons gathered at Coos River on Friday, May 6th, to witness the high school and grade track meet. They enjoyed a basket luncheon at noon.

The Parkersburg school gave for the Riverton Grange a program on last Friday. It was greatly enjoyed by Grangers.

Broadbent and Gaylord 8th grade graduates were awarded diplomas Thursday evening at the Gaylord school.

Next Week at the Liberty

A recent poll of motion picture notables reveals the surprising fact that very few of the screen celebrities set out with an early ambition to become actors. However, four of Paramount's feminine players admit they had been "stage struck" since early childhood. They are Nancy Carroll, Sylvia Sydney, Claudette Colbert and Tallulah Bankhead.

Maurice Chevalier's first job was painting dolls in a toy shop. It was here his desire to be an entertainer was born.

Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald, who head the cast of Chevalier's "One Hour With You," became set in their dramatic careers much earlier than the average artist of present day screen prominence. Chevalier was in his late teens, while Jeanette made her first public appearance at the age of three in a charity play and was also professionally engaged at the age of eight and definitely set in a dramatic career at fourteen.

"One Hour With You" is the Liberty theatre's feature for the first three days of next week. This is the second time these prominent screen stars have headed the cast of a major screen production.

At Christian Science Church

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 8.

The Golden Text was, "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not." (Job 14: 1, 2.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion . . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." (Gen. 1:26, 27.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is not matter; he is not made up of brain, blood, bones, and other material elements. The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God. Matter is not that likeness. The likeness of Spirit cannot be so unlike Spirit. Man is spiritual and perfect; and because he is spiritual and perfect, he must be so understood in Christian Science." (p. 475.)

Drunks a Menace to Children

Although we have laws in this state to curb drunken drivers, lack of enforcement has made them all but dead letters. Day after day we read in the papers of accidents growing out of bad liquor at the wheel, but how seldom do we read of conviction?

We have seen elderly people, and we have seen little children, run down, crushed and mangled by drunken and reckless drivers, but how few of the guilty have we seen pay the penalty intended by the law? One runs a risk when he shoots another, but, if he is wise enough to run him down with an automobile, it is ten to one that he will get off with a slap on the wrist.

It is sad to see elderly people—those who, perhaps, have lived their time, struck down by an automobile driven by some drunken fool, but it is hell to see a little child, with its whole life before it, dashed to the pavement and later carried, a mangled corpse, to a weeping mother.

It has been said by someone, some time, somewhere, that:

"In every heart that is not a dead heart, calloused to all joy or sorrow, some little child is enshrined—either dead or living—and so child-love is the one universal emotion."

"A child's soul is such a small thing, and the world and the systems of worlds, and the infinite stretches of illimitable space, are so wide for a child's soul to wander in, that, sane as we may be, stolid as we may try to be, we think in imagery, and the figure of the little feet setting off on the far track to the end of things, hunting God, wrings our heart-strings and makes our throats grip and our eyelids quiver."

"And then a child dying, leaving this world of ours, seems to have had so small a chance for itself. There is something in all of us struggling against oblivion, striving vainly to make a real impress on the current of time, and a child, dying, can only clutch the hands about it and go down—forever. It seems so merciless, so unfair. Perhaps that is why, all over the world, the little graves are cared for best. It is to the little graves that we turn, and not to the larger mounds, in our keenest anguish; to the little graves that our hearts are drawn in our hours of triumph. And so the child, though dead, lives its appointed time and dies only in the fullness of its years. The little shoes, the little dresses, the little tin soldiers, covered with rust, and the memories sweeter than dreams of a honeymoon, these are life's immortelles that never fade."

If this state is to be run by drunken drivers, for God's sake let us repeal the fool law against one carrying a six-shooter. Let us load them to the muzzle and proceed to increase the population of hell.

We provide public funds to have hunters kill varmints. Why not spend money to clear our highways of drunken drivers?

I have not yet figured out whether life is a joke or a tragedy.

Robert R. Watson Is An Efficient County Clerk

In considering for whom to vote for County Clerk of Coos County it is well to bear in mind the qualities needed in such officer, and also in his employees in such office.

They should possess ability, and knowledge of the work, which can not be attained without considerable experience. They should be industrious and turn out a day's work in a day's time. And they should be of unquestioned integrity. The quality and quantity of service rendered the public by the office force as a whole is perhaps the best test of fitness for this office.

In all these above respects, it is the general opinion of those who are best acquainted with the office that Robert R. Watson and his office force are greatly superior, and the best that can be chosen for the benefit of the public.

The entire absence of any question of the integrity of these officers has continued so long that many people fail to realize that this position is one of great responsibility, but such is the case. Absolute personal integrity, and strict requirement from his employees of a high standard of work, have long been part and parcel of Robert R. Watson and his incumbency of this office.

In these times we can ill afford to supplant a man of such ability and experience by any one of lesser experience and ability. The truest economy dictates the re-election of Robert R. Watson to the office of County Clerk.

Methodist Ladies Meet

The tri-monthly meeting of Methodist church ladies' societies was held in the Pioneer church here last Thursday, with 150 representatives from all Methodist churches in the county present. After the registration the visitors sat down to lunch in Pioneer

Hall, and the afternoon was devoted to singing, receiving reports from the various societies, and attending to business. The next session will be held in Bandon in August.

BATHS AND CARE OF THE SKIN

A GENERAL bath should be taken daily. The water for this should not be too warm. The temperature of tepid baths should be between 90 degrees and 95 degrees. The temperature for cold baths for adults is usually about 65 degrees. Warm baths vary from 90 degrees to 100 degrees and it is well to follow such a bath with a cold shower.

In addition, the face and hands should be washed frequently during the day. The hands particularly should always be washed before meals and after going to the lavatory. The use of a nail brush helps to remove dirt and germs from around the large nails.

The skin needs this daily cleansing because of its own daily excretion. Breasting is going on all the time and the watery part of perspiration evaporates, leaving a residue which becomes. This causes disagreeable body odors and also weakens the skin so that it becomes susceptible to the development of pimples and boils. A brisk and thorough cleansing of the skin with soap and water removes this waste material and stimulates the skin to renewed activity, thus lightening the load of the kidneys and other excretory organs.

TENET AND GUIDES
The teeth should be brushed morning

ing and evening and after each meal. Use a vertical up and down motion, rather than a side to side, as this cross motion does not clean the spaces between the teeth. Rinsing the mouth daily with a weak solution of common salt helps to keep the gums hard and firm. A visit to the dentist twice a year is as much a matter of health insurance as is a yearly examination by the family physician.

QUESTIONS:

All wives and mothers should be able to answer these questions:
1. How warm should bath be?
2. When should face and hands be washed?
3. How should teeth be brushed and how often daily?

This is the third of a series of 12 articles on Health in the Home. The fourth will be on Exercise, Sleep and Diet.
