day. "There is not much profit at the present prices we have to take," said Mr. Hubbard, "but it means a pay roll and will help the town." The company received a telegram Tuesday forenoon telling them that their bid had been accepted on 400,000 feet of lumber for the U. S. Navy department.

McKinley Notes

McKinley Grange No. 582 held one of the most enjoyable meetings that has been held for some time Saturday night at the local hall. After the relief measures under consideration by county authorities were discussed, a committee composed of the following Grange members was appointed by Master K. E. Marcy to obtain data on local needs: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lawhorn, McKinley; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gearhart, Dora; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Benham, Sitkum; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Leatherman, Coquille address, but who reside in lower Lee valley. Julius Benham, who was master of this Grange for two years, 1930-1931, was presented with a past master's pin in token of faithful service. There were present 25 members and as many visitors to enjoy the program presented by Mrs. R. H. Lawhorn, the H. E. C. chairman, as follows: "America," by the audience; tableau, "Stars and Stripes," Miss Helen Glenn and Miss Alice Mast, accompanying reading "American Creed," by Miss Jessie Lawhorn; "American Ideals," reading, by Ivan Mast; piano solo, "Shooting Stars," Julia Myrle Leatherman. "The Jokes Column," by Miss Alice Mast, kept the audience in a constant uproar of laughter. Songs, "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day" and "Love Letters in the Sand" were sung by Elinor Maiden. A short history of the postal service was given by H. L. Hansen in taking note of Postoffice Day, July 26th, as requested by the George Washington bicentennial commission. Other numbers on the program were: piano solo, "Ben-Hur's Charlot Race, Helen Glenn; reading, "The Cremation of Sam Magee," Anna Holmstrom; vocal duet, "Sing Me the Rosary," Mrs. C. O. King and Miss Jessie Lawhorn. A quartet from Coquille, J. L. Smith, John Martin, Aaron Wilson and H. S. Cadman, entertained for some time with a large variety of songs, minstrels, yodels, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson at the piano and Mr. Martin with the banjo. Mr. and Mrs. Martin favored with some fine yodeling. The heartiness of the applause testified to the real enjoyment of the music.

County Agent Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobsen from Coquille were some of the other visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Mast and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kline were dinner guests at the R. H. Lawhorn home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Krewson, of Sitkum, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Chandler and Maxine Ingraham, of Lee, were visitors at the Lee Mast home Saturday and Sunday and visitors to the Grange.

Mrs. Charles Heller and Clara and Frank were calling on McKinley friends a few days ago. It seems good to see Clara around again after so long an illness. Chas. Heller is preparing to start on his annual threshing trip Thursday. This will be several more than fifty consecutive trips for him.

McKinley had one exciting day on the home diamond when "Dutch met Dutch." The regulars were divided as evenly as nine men could be and the Yinnigans as they were dubbed "played ball." However the umpire umped is a mystery but the final score showed that one team accidentally scored two more runs than the other one did. Every one played as well as every one else "and better too," as the Irishman said.

Reuben Brown, who pitched for side, starred in his first appearance in the box in a game. His father, the late A. L. Brown, used to pitch a mean ball to hit and we hope it's going to be "like father like son" in this case. The barn being built on the Brown place is nearly ready for the shingles now.

Mrs. Theron Loshbaugh and daughter, Ollie Ellen, of Azalea, are visiting at the Brown home while Mr. Loshbaugh returned to Bridge on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Parry took in the Coquille Loggers' game Sunday while Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mast went to Gravel Ford for the delayed game with Broadbent. Mrs. Mast's brother, Walter Felsner, played on the Broadbent team all season.

Mrs. White, who lived on the W. H. Bunch place two years ago, is out from Coquille visiting at the Owen Wilson home. She lost her husband about fifteen months ago, after a long illness in Coquille.

The school board held the budget meeting August 2nd. The main question up now is to decide some means, if possible, to secure transportation for the pupils who have partially completed high school. The budget has been pared to the limit and some hope is entertained that some way may be opened for transportation and not increase the district taxes much more than was the rate before the depression.

The monthly weather summary gives the month's precipitation as only .64, bringing the total since last September to 72.72. The maximum temperature was 84 on July 6. The minimum was 36, also on the July 6. That seems incredible, as the daily range was 49 degrees.

Lee Mast returned to his home after a much needed vacation. He reports a very enjoyable visit with friends in Marshfield, North Bend, Lakeside, Myrtle Point and Coquille. He was gone about two weeks.

Radio Singer Coming to Coquille

As a result of an accident suffered on the Oregon Coast highway, Jack Barber, known as "the Singing Butcher," was delayed in Gold Beach for several days last week. Barber, accompanied by his daughter, was enroute from Coquille to Los Angeles, when his car was struck by a machine driven by William Randolph, of Agness. Barber's car was badly damaged. Barber, who has many friends in Gold Beach, is well known in southwestern Oregon. He was formerly in the meat business in this section, but has more recently been a resident of Los Angeles, where he has become well known by his radio singing. Barber stated that this country has so much appeal for him that he has decided to move back here again. He was on the way to Los Angeles in order that he might see to shipping of his furniture to Coquille. — Curry County Reporter.

For Killing Deer

T. C. Griffith and his son, T. P. Griffith, of Bandon, were the two men with E. M. Beckham when Sergeant C. A. Hearing found them with portions of two deer in their car as they were returning from Eckley mountain. The elder Griffith was fined $100 and costs by Justice E. A. Dodge at Myrtle Point, and the son, who is 18 years of age, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. He was paroled.

Cecil Arneson, of Coquille, was sentenced to six months in jail by Justice Stanley last Saturday, when he pleaded guilty to possession of deer which he had killed just north of town. He is to be paroled after 30 days for a two year period.

Sergeant Hearing was assisted in the cases by Fred Watson, Harry Perrott and Francis Ball.
