

LIBERTY THEATRE

WEEKLY PROGRAM

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 5 - 6
Charles Bickford in "SCANDAL FOR SALE"

SUNDAY, MONDAY AND TUESDAY, AUGUST 7 - 8 - 9
Fannie Hurst's

"Symphony of Six Million"

With Irene Dunne and Ricardo Cortez

This is one of Fannie Hurst's infrequent but always outstanding film dramatizations of understandable men and women. Laying bare the soul of a people, this great human document paints in direct, sure strokes, the lives of the simple men and women who inhabit New York's teeming Ghetto.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, AUGUST 10 - 11

Warner Baxter in
"MAN ABOUT TOWN"

With Karen Morley and Conway Tearle. Washington—city of magnificent distances—of silken diplomacy and confidential treaties—of concealed politics, secret service, foreign spies and glittering ambassadors—of intrigue, adventure and romance—is the background of this film.

Don't forget "Pal Night" Wednesday and Thursday—two adults for the price of one.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 12 - 13

Tallulah Bankhead in
"THUNDER BELOW"

With Charles Bickford and Paul Lukas. One woman in a tropical jungle—among many men! Four men—Charles Bickford, Paul Lukas, Eugene Pallette and Ralph Forbes—in her life. One Woman—with a husband she doesn't love. Price of Admission 35c & 10c

Coming—John Barrymore in "STATE'S ATTORNEY"
Don't Forget "PAL NIGHT"

Co. Agent Jenkins Comments on Increasing Coos Activity

With the opening of mills and other industry which is providing employment for more than 500 workers who have previously been unemployed, nearly one hundred more are finding gainful occupation on eight farms in the Coquille valley where 125 acres of peas will be grown on a commercial scale. This crop is being grown under contract with the Ray-Maling Cannery company of Hillsboro and it is expected that it will be harvested largely during the month of September. The peas will be frozen, packed in cartons and shipped to eastern centers of population where they will be sold and used on tables during the winter months as fresh green peas.

On visiting the J. E. Ford farm below Cedar Point where approximately 50 acres of this crop is being grown, one will find some 30 persons busy tying strings to train the vines, operating sprayers for the control of aphids and other insects and doing other types of work. Similar operations may be found on the farm of W. A. Tway and Son and the Ross Company. Other farmers who are growing limited acreage this year in an effort to determine its value in different communities are W. E. Cross and J. N. Jacobsen, Coquille; G. A. Collier, George Hampton and John D. Carl, of Arago, and the Brownson Bros. at Bridge.

Although this section has been thought to be adapted to the production of peas this is the first time it has been attempted on a commercial scale. Seed, twine, and insecticide are being advanced to these growers by the Ray-Maling Company and are distributed by the county agent who has been working closely with this project.

It is felt by many that the production of peas in this section may prove to be one of the important types of farming in the future. Indications are that other companies are watching the development and will be in the field to bid for peas growing here during future years if this year's project is a success. One of the most important angles of the project from the standpoint of the county at large is through the work afforded to many who would otherwise be unemployed. During September when the crop will be harvested a large amount of help will be necessary and the growers are requesting persons who will be interested in picking peas at that time to register at the county agent's office. An effort will be made to give work to those who are most in need of it and by this procedure the matter of securing help will be facilitated for each grower.

Steiner's Accomplishments Reported from Washington

The records of candidates for public office are being more carefully scrutinized this year than ever before. Voters are tired of oratory and fancy phrases. They want to know just exactly how well the candidate has done the job for which he was elected. This scrutiny is centered on candidates for the United States Senate and members of the house of representatives because these legislative bodies contain the law-makers of the Nation. The voters of Oregon are naturally interested in the activities of Senator Frederick Steiner, and while it is not possible, owing to lack of space, to chronicle all the achievements of Steiner, it may be of interest to note a few of the more outstanding achievements to his credit. Steiner was instrumental in securing amendments to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Bill which made it possible for livestock, poultry, dairy farming, crop planning and crop cultivation, including summer fallowing, to be assisted, also loans for crop production during the year 1932.

The recent allotments for expenditures on improvement of Rivers and Harbors discloses that Steiner secured for Oregon the following amounts: Columbia river, at mouth, Oregon and Washington, $700,000; Columbia and lower Willamette, below Vancouver, Washington, and Portland, $525,000; examinations, surveys and contingencies in the Portland district, $20,000; Snake River survey, $7,000; Coos Bay, $82,000; Yaquina Bay and Harbor, $110,000; Tillamook Bay and Harbor, $110,000; Willamette River above Portland, and Yamhill River, $55,000. While Steiner has been a consistent advocate of economies, he has not overlooked the necessity of appropriations where essential services are rendered. Under the bill supported by Senator Steiner, Oregon will be able to borrow, if necessary, up to 15 per cent of the amount set aside for the relief of those in need, and will be able to secure loans for self-liquidating projects. Oregon will be materially benefitted in those loans which are made for the construction of bridges, tunnels, docks, viaducts, water works, canals and markets. According to estimates 15,000,000 board feet of Douglas fir will be needed in the construction of a bridge at New Orleans, while the bridge at San Francisco will call for 50,000,000 feet. Two hundred million dollars of the R. F. C. funds may be used for the relief of banks, while Oregon's share in the Federal Aid for Highways, approximately $2,000,000, and the sums allotted for forest roads and trails totals, $1,275,000. Oregon will also participate in the appropriations for Federal Buildings. Steiner has long been a strong advocate for the canalization of the Willamette River for the benefit of the shippers in the Willamette Valley. More than ten years ago Steiner started his fight in behalf of the Columbia River development and his efforts have borne fruit. Largely due to his efforts a duty was placed on lumber. Steiner has vehemently protested against the foreclosures of Federal Loan Banks.

When Steiner came to the United States Senate he brought with him a reputation for being earnest in his work. He has that reputation, too, in Washington, and has combined with it the reputation of being an honest, conscientious, indefatigable worker for the people of his state. The brave and hardy pioneers mentioned in "The Oregon Trail" fought for the rights of a then new section of our country. The fight begun by these courageous men and women is being carried on successfully in Congress by Steiner and others, who are determined that the people within the confines of Oregon shall be given that which is rightfully their due.

Geo. W. Moore Buried at Bandon

George W. Moore, 73, ex-Michigan state senator and pioneer lumberman of Bandon, died at Petaluma, Calif., last Friday night of pneumonia following a general breakdown.

Moore also served Michigan four years as banking commissioner. He was born in Port Huron, April 12, 1859. His widow, four sons and a daughter survive.

Mr. Moore was the founder and head of the Moore Mill & Lumber company, which company operates a large mill at Bandon and two coast-wise boats operating between Bandon and Southern California.

Funeral services were held at Bandon Monday at 2:00 o'clock with Rev. D. J. Henry, of Bandon, and Rev. W. S. Smith, of Coquille, officiating, and interment was in the family plot in the K. P. cemetery. Burial services were conducted by the Masons.

As He Ranked Them

To show his idea of the relative importance of beings and things in the Ivory coast of Africa, a bushman artist living in a bush village painted a series of paintings in which the government officer comes first, the hunter second and the coco farmer third.

SOCIAL NOTES

A. O. Walker was the inspiration for a pleasant gathering Sunday evening. The affair was a surprise and no-host picnic supper given in honor of his birthday. Mr. Walker owns a tract of land on the hillside at the east end of town, where the guests all gathered and enjoyed the meal together. The evening was spent in conversation and singing around a large bonfire. Present were Messrs. and Mesdames A. O. Walker, C. P. Zumwalt, Fred McNelly, James Brady, A. B. Collier, Richard Barnes, W. H. Mansell, Hal W. Pierce, E. M. Kay, T. B. Currie, Newdall and Jas. Collier, of Powers.

For the pleasure of her house guest, Miss Lucille Summerlin, of Powers, Miss Barbara Richmond entertained Wednesday evening at her home with "Gauge." Miss Summerlin received a lovely guest prize and in Gauge Elda Gilman won high and Helen Belloni consolation. Included were Misses Lucille Summerlin, Katherine Jane Hassler, Wilma Davis, Helen Belloni, Elda Gilman, Mildred Slater, Gweneth Waters, Bernice and Frances Eggleston, Florence and Dorothy Cary, Ruth Brant and Laura McLeod.

A few of the neighbor boys surprised John Cary Tuesday afternoon at his home in honor of his 15th birthday. The boys arranged the entire affair, having saved and gathered bread wrappers from the Ideal Bakery for which they received a lovely decorated birthday cake. The party consisted of John Cary, Dick Stacer, Jimmy Richmond, Pat McKeown, Billy and Richard Walker.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Chaney invited a number of their friends to enjoy dinner with them on their yacht, "Marguerite," which was launched on the Coquille river about a half mile below town. The evening afterwards was spent looking over the many interesting things about the yacht. Those provided for were Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Rietman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. C. Weldon Kline, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Berg, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Hall Chaney, of Portland.

This afternoon Mrs. Joe Knight is entertaining for her daughter, Maxine, who is observing her twelfth birthday today. Invited are Gretchen Clinton, Rheo Walker, Bonnie Gage, Leah Rover, Patricia and Doris Chapman, Wanda Bell, Joan Knight, Phyllis Belloni, and Lucille Sherwood.

Mrs. E. L. Wilson is entertaining her bridge club this afternoon at her home on Spurgeon hill. The members of the club are Mesdames Henry Detlefsen, Herman, Detlefsen, of Norway, Mrs. Ray Rickman, of Myrtle Point, Mesdames Theodore Clinton, Joe Knight, C. P. Zumwalt, Geo. Johnson and Guy Bell.

Today at the Lyman Carrier Bandon beach cottage, members of the J. G. W. club are enjoying an all-day picnic. For the evening meal the husbands plan to motor down and join the ladies.

The regular meeting of the B. P. W. club was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Georgia Richmond. The club members decided upon October 15th as the date for their Autumn Festival and Dance, funds received from same to be used toward convention expenses in 1933 when Coquille entertains the other clubs of the state.

Finance committee requested the members present to remind others that our birthday party is to be held in the Pioneer hall tonight, price 15c each. An interesting program has been prepared, which will start promptly at 8 p. m. Birthday cake, punch, ice cream and coffee is to be served.

A contest among club members has been started for the best slogan for the 1933 state convention. Slogans are to be turned in at our next meeting on August 15.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, president, announced that she was giving a prize to the standing committee which made the most money during the year; however, the amount made must be over $7.50. The attendance prize for the evening was won by Viola Newton.

After carrying on other regular business, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Leona G. Bryant.

Knife Hospital Notes

Dismissals from the Knife Hospital the past week were Mrs. Esther Dales, of Powers, and Harold Shull, on Friday evening; Miss Alta Brant on Saturday; and Jos. Boutin, Sr., of Powers, on Monday.

C. H. Lucia, of Remote, who was in the hospital some time ago, after being mistaken for a deer and shot in the arm, underwent a major operation, Monday.

Ethel Collier, of Arago, also underwent a major operation, Monday. Mrs. T. S. Stevens, whose husband is manager of the local Safeway store,

His Out-of-Doors Stuff will continue its weekly appearance in the Sentinel, for he prepared matter for two weeks before the operation.

Coal Formation

Coal is not a rock. It is a black or brownish black solid combustible mineral substance formed by the partial decomposition of vegetable matter, without free access of air, under the influence of moisture and, in many cases, of increased pressure and temperature.
