SOCIAL NOTES

The Good Samaritan class of the Pioneer church enjoyed Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. A. Davis. During the business meeting which was conducted in the early hours, election of officers was held, with Mrs. Chris Terres chosen president, Mrs. C. L. Willey vice president and Mrs. J. S. Houck secretary and treasurer. When time for refreshments, the ladies were invited over to the home of Mrs. Frank F. Schram, daughter of Mrs. Davis, who lives nearby and a delicious lunch was served them. Enjoying the afternoon were Mesdames J. S. Houck, M. W. Way, Chris Terres, Allen McLeod, P. D. Hartman, Margaret Brown, C. L. Willey, F. F. Schram and the hostess, Mrs. Davis.

On Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. W. Pierce, Mrs. R. F. Miller entertained the members of the Monday night bridge club. High score prize went to Mrs. Pettit and consolation to Mrs. Young. Present were Mesdames J. L. Smith, H. A. Young, George Lorenz, Bert Folsom, Edw. W. Lorenz, Muri Pettit, J. A. Lamb and H. W. Pierce.

The basketball boys of the Coquille high school, who have just finished a very successful season, placing second in the county tournament, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Hartley at a party at their home on East 1st street Monday evening. Mr. Hartley has been the athletic coach in the high school for the past four years. Mrs. Hartley was assisted in serving the dinner by Miss Marjorie Knight. Those present at the affair were Morris Stonecypher, Delos Shinn, Jack McCue, Tom Stevens, John Cary, Linus Seeley, Alvin Shaver, Earl Morris, Jack McCarthy, Bob Collier and Glue Gould.

Mrs. E. A. Walker was hostess to the Eadrien club ladies Monday for luncheon, with sewing following. Mrs. Walker had as extra guests that day her mother, Mrs. Mary Meagher, Mrs. W. H. Mansell and Mrs. Tracy Leach, besides the regular members: Mesdames J. E. Axtell, Willard Boeserman, Earl Nosler, Geo. Johnson and Roy Neal.

A few guests were entertained Monday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Paul Van Scoy at 433 Knowlton Ave., with the following being included: Mesdames G. R. Wickham, Emma Lyons, Lloyd Rosa, O. W. Oddy, Lyman Carrier, C. J. Fuhrman, J. A. Lamb, Nels Osmundson and Annie Robinson.

A splendid attendance of ladies was present at the weekly meeting of the St. James Episcopal Guild, which met Wednesday afternoon at their Parish house, with Mrs. George Taylor, Sr., and Mrs. Nels Osmundson serving tea around four o'clock. Present were Mesdames George Lorenz, L. H. Hazard, Edward W. Lorenz, Bert Folsom, W. H. Mansell, E. L. Vinton, C. T. Selbig, James Watson, Annie Robinson, Chas. Hodgdon, R. L. Stewart, G. R. Wickham, Ray Thomas, E. A. Woodyard, C. J. Fuhrman, Muri Pettit and Lloyd Rosa.

The Mothers' Club of the Roy district met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Avery with Mrs. Chas. Kime giving a splendid talk on "Mothers' Duty toward a School." For their next meeting which will be March 29th each member will be asked to give a short talk on something of interest or for the good of the club. These programs have made their club meetings very interesting and well attended. Present were Mesdames Aurora Willard, Frank Lane, John McNair, Rock Robinson, Jr., Cora Mackey, W. E. Cross, Chas. Kime, Allie Miller, Ed Detlefsen, Milton Mast, Roy Tennant, Fishbacker, Stanley Stevens, George Burr, I. S. Robinson, J. D. Bailey, Robert Embury and the hostess, Mrs. Avery.

On Wednesday a group for two tables of contract bridge were guests of Mrs. J. E. Axtell at her home on East First street for dessert luncheon. In cards Mrs. Walker won the high score prize. The following enjoyed the afternoon: Mesdames Geo. Johnson, Roy Neal, D. D. Dale, J. L. Aasen, R. E. Boober, Tracy Leach, C. K. Norcott and E. A. Walker.

Mrs. Frank L. Greenough entertained her contract club with dessert luncheon yesterday afternoon at her home on the Marshfield highway. Attending were Mrs. A. E. Bradford, who was a guest at the gathering, and Mesdames R. L. Stewart, F. S. Emery, L. H. Hazard, J. A. Lamb, W. S. Sickels, Geo. A. Ulett and Paul Van Scoy.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ulett were honor guests at a reception held last Thursday evening at the regular meeting of Beulah Chapter, O. E. S. It was a delightful evening, at which an interesting program was given. Mrs. R. E. Boober gave a self-composed reading prepared especially for the honored guests who have recently returned from a ten weeks' trip to Europe. Mrs. Lyman Carrier and Mrs. H. W. Covalt, with Mrs. C. A.

Rietman accompanying them, each sang two solos, after which Mr. Ulett told of interesting things he saw in London and Mrs. Ulett talked of things that impressed her, mostly in and around Paris. The pleasant evening was closed with refreshments served by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neal and Mrs. Ruble.

A potluck dinner was enjoyed by a group of Sophomore girls of the Coquille high school last Friday evening at the home of Audrey Kendall on Spurgeon Hill. Attending were Misses Gretchen Neal, Harriet Webb, Maxine Johnson, Faye Hurrell, Anne Van Scoy, Alfreda Harry, Jeanne Barbour and Janie Ferbrache, who was a guest at the affair.

Yesterday the La-f-a-lot club ladies spent a pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Bonniksen on the Fishtrap road. Mrs. Bonniksen served a delicious lunch to the ladies late in the afternoon. The following were present: Mesdames Chas. Kime, Ed Detlefsen, W. E. Cross, Arthur Ellingsen, Wm. Myers, Geo. Gilman, P. J. Jacobsen, W. D. Simmons and Misses Edith Jacobsen and Lodema Cross.

Mrs. W. D. Simmons, who celebrated a birthday anniversary Monday, March 13th, was given two hearty surprise parties in honor of the occasion.

On Sunday evening a group of friends walked in upon her with a potluck dinner which they quickly spread and afterwards cards were played. The following attended: Messrs. and Mesdames Chas. Kolkmort, Drew Cunningham, Ralph Taylor, Ray Simpson, John Thompson, Mrs. E. C. Yarbrough and Miss Edith Hall. On Monday while Mrs. Simmons was tidying up her home from the party given her the previous evening, much to her surprise, she discovered several of the Needleworkers club members walking in upon her with baskets ready to spread a noonday luncheon. When they left late in the afternoon Mrs. Simmons felt that her birthday had been one of the most delightful she had had for some years. In this party were Mesdames Frank Pook, Josh Ruble, E. C. Yarbrough, Ralph Taylor, Frank F. Schram, W. E. Cross, C. C. Bonniksen, Ray Simpson, Jack Arnold.

The monthly tea and program of the woman's missionary society of the Pioneer church was given at the home of Mrs. B. C. Minard on the Marshfield highway Thursday afternoon. A hint of spring was recognized in the beautiful blooms about the house.

Mrs. Chris Terres led the devotions in a very impressive manner. Mrs. P. D. Hartman offered prayer and Mrs. Houck read a paper on stewardship. Mrs. Hartman sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mrs. F. G. Leslie. Mrs. Henry Ellis read a description of the leaflet topic, "Deaconess," and Mrs. Alex Peterson read a paper on deaconess work in the Methodist church South. Mrs. Ellis, superintendent of social service work, gave a very gratifying report of what her department is accomplishing. She also stated that they would aid in every way possible the children's playground project which the Woman's Club is considering.

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Julius Ruble, Jennie Adams, B. A. Davis and S. M. Nosler, to the following: Mesdames I. C. Drew, D. D. Dale, G. H. Tillman, Birdie Skeels, F. G. Leslie, Margaret Brown, M. W. Way, Lyman Carrier, R. E. Boober, W. A. Ireland, Chris Terres, J. S. Houck, Ballanger, Jas. Richmond, Orvil Haga, C. W. Gano, Chas. Oerding, Geo. Wilkins, Alex Peterson, Lee Neely, Henry Ellis, Clyde Minard, Leland Peterson, E. Purvance, M. O. Hawkins, P. D. Hartman, Henry H. Hartley, R. B. Rogers, Jas. Wheeler, Miss Ula Minard and the hostess, Mrs. Minard.

Next Week at the Liberty

"No Man of Her Own," a dramatic story of a gambler and his women, starring Clarke Gable and featuring Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackall, will be the attraction at the Liberty Theatre beginning Sunday and running three days.

The story, from an original by Edmund Goulding and Benjamin Glazer, translated to the screen by Maurine Watkins, deals with the adventures of Babe Stewart, card-sharp and confidence-man. With the aid of Dorothy Mackall, Grant Mitchell and Paul Ellis, he lures wealthy men into poker games and easily trims them of their bank-rolls. But this hard, love-em-and-leave-em gambler, gets himself into trouble when he tries to walk out on Dorothy as he has walked out on countless women before her. She threatens to go to the police, and Gable leaves town.

He happens to go to a small town called Glendale and there meets Carole Lombard. On a gambler's chance, he marries her and takes her back to New York with him, intending to give her a good time and then send her home. But he falls in love with her—a situation which seriously complicates his mode of living.

An unusual feature of this coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday program is that Phil Harris hit, "So This is Harris." It is the performance presented by Harris and supporting cast at the opening of the R-K-O in the Rockefeller Radio City center in New York. Harris, one of the big shots of the air, is at his best in this performance.

A lovely birthday party was given at the A. O. Culbertson home in honor of their daughter, Juanita's seventh birthday. The afternoon was spent playing various games. Later all the little guests gathered around the table where a lovely birthday cake with seven tiny candles graced the center. At each plate stood a dainty little candy doll with frilly pink skirt; at the end of a streamer was caught a tiny white hat with the name of a guest on it. Those who enjoyed the party were Jane Oerding, Vereen Bailey, Nyra Coy, Mary Alice Nosler, Maxine Wigan, Bernice and Patricia Stearns, Avis Ricketts, Jerry Hurl, Bobby Medley, Buddy Aasen, David and Bruce Bishop, Wayne and Duane Perry, Jimmy and Clinton Pearl, Louise Terry, Marcia Jean and Barbara Ann Cox, of Bandon, and Harold and Juanita Culbertson. Mrs. Bill Pearl, Mrs. W. O. Terry and Mrs. W. E. Cox, of Bandon, assisted.

To Examine C.M.T.C. Applicants

Rendering important service, five Coos county physicians have volunteered to examine applicants from this county for admission to the 1933 Citizens' Military Training Camp at Vancouver, it is announced by camp authorities who work under the direction of Brigadier-General Stanley H. Ford. They are: Dr. H. L. Houston, Bandon; Dr. M. Earl Wilson, Coquille; Dr. J. D. Rankin, Marshfield; Dr. R. Harrison Mast, Myrtle Point and Dr. Dena P. Crowell, North Bend, Oregon.

The Coos county doctors are among 116 physicians who have agreed to help this year. So general and hearty was the response that there are some examining physicians in every county in Oregon and the five southwestern Washington counties which comprise the camp area; and the medical men named here as well as the others have been complimented by the authorities for their willingness to aid in this national defense work. Without their cooperation, it was explained by Lieutenant Thomas J. Cross, camp adjutant, Coos county boys would be greatly inconvenienced in getting their preliminary physical examinations and often might be sent home after coming to camp for want of examination in the beginning. The physicians are serving without compensation.
