

B. P. W. Club Hear a Most Interesting Talk by Mrs. T. R. Jackman at Monday Night's Meeting

The last dinner meeting of the Business Women's Club, for this fiscal year, was prepared and served to the members at the club rooms last Monday evening by Mrs. Georgia Richmond, assisted by Gloria Getz, Myrtle DeLong, Mrs. Jennie Price and Mary Ella Cary. The tables were very effectively decorated with the club colors in green and gold. The club had as their guests at the dinner, Mrs. T. R. Jackman, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin and son, Bruce, and Mr. A. Mackey.

After the dinner, the members enjoyed one of the most interesting programs of the year, with Mrs. T. R. Jackman giving a splendid resume of the Mediterranean Cruise and trip into the Holy Land from which she and Mr. Jackman recently returned. Mrs. Jackman told of the political, economical, religious, domestic and historical situations of each town and country she visited and displayed many beautiful souvenirs from the different countries. Several musical selections were rendered with Mrs. Cora Mackey at the piano, Mr. A. Mackey, the piano accordion, and Mr. John Martin, the banjo. Mr. and Mrs. Martin also favored the club with two Swiss yodeling songs. Mrs. Jennie Price, chairman of the Transportation committee, and other members of her committee, had arranged and were in charge of the program.

Following the program, a short business meeting was held. It was announced that Mrs. Emma Yearian, of Lemhi, Idaho, and a member of the Idaho legislature, would be the national representative at the state convention to be held here on May 19, 20 and 21. Mrs. Yearian is scheduled to speak at the reception on Friday night and at the banquet on Saturday night. Invitations are being issued to the Friday night reception to be held at the Odd Fellows hall.

Another delegate, of distinction at the convention, will be Mrs. Dorothy McCulloch Lee, senator from Multnomah county. Mrs. Lee is to speak at the banquet on Friday night and at the business session Saturday forenoon.

The entire convention program was read and every minute is taken up for the entertainment and business sessions of the convention members and delegates that will be here for that event.

Mrs. Leona Bryant, Mrs. Inez Chase and Blythe Cousins were appointed delegates to the convention from the local club, and Ida Oerding, Edna Robinson and Salma Lindros as alternates.

"State Fair," Featuring Will Rogers and Other Movie Stars Coming to Liberty Theatre Sunday

Four of the stars in Fox Film's all-star production, "State Fair," who, read in the usual order, are Sally Eilers, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres and Janet Gaynor.

More than 100,000 people, among them eight of the screen's leading stars, appear in "State Fair," coming on Sunday for three days to the Liberty Theatre.

The stars of the mammoth production are Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Frank Craven and Victor Jory. Miss Gaynor, Rogers, Foster and Miss Dresser are seen as members of a Midwest farm family enjoying their annual outing at the state fair. Ayres plays a newspaper reporter who covers the fair for his paper. Miss Eilers portrays a carnival performer. Craven characterizes a country storekeeper and Jory appears as a Barker.

Henry King, who directed "State Fair," asserts that every man, woman and child who sees the picture will recognize a friend in it.

"The characters of 'State Fair' are the most human I've ever seen in a picture," declares King. "And that goes with out reservations. They are the sort of people we meet and talk with every day."

"Furthermore, there is at least one in the group that every person will understand particularly well. It may be the pretty farm girl played by Janet Gaynor, the farmer portrayed by Will Rogers or the carnival girl that Sally Eilers characterizes. Or perhaps it will be the newspaper reporter Lew Ayres plays, the matron played by Louise Dresser, or the country storekeeper portrayed by Frank Craven. Somewhere along the line, every person who sees the picture will recognize an especially kindred spirit.

"It is characterization of this type," continued the director, "that makes a story an ideal screen vehicle."

For the Kiddies Matinee Saturday afternoon Zane Grey's "Mysterious Rider" will be shown.

Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante operate a genuine brewery in their new comedy, "What! No Beer?"

A burlesque on the beer problem, which will be seen tonight and Saturday night at the Liberty Theatre. The two comedians sought to persuade the technical expert who supervised the operation of the brewery to let them make "just one glass of real beer."

Because of the failure of the "Beer by Christmas" movement, however, they had to content themselves with making "near-beer."

The preview Saturday night will be Zane Grey's "The Mysterious Rider."

Card Party Well Attended

The public card party, given by the Social Club of the Eastern Star in Masonic Temple, Wednesday evening, was largely attended, more than 150 being present for the very pleasant evening and enjoyable party.

Prize award was made to Mrs. E. L. Vinton for scoring the first grand slam of the evening. In contract bridge, of which there were a few tables played, Mrs. M. Earl Wilson held high score for the ladies, with 3080, and C. D. Walker for the men, 3220. Mrs. Bert Kay and W. E. Bosserman held low score. In auction bridge J. E. Norton, with 2280, was high for the men, and Mrs. Karl Kaufman, of Myrtle Point, scored 2309 to win high prize among the ladies. Mrs. Ed McKeown and H. H. Hartley received low score prizes.

Mrs. S. L. Fitzgerald and J. D. Gillespie, with 2270 and 1360 scores respectively were high at "500," while Mrs. Gillespie and Mr. Fitzgerald were low.

Jigsaw puzzles and "pedro" occupied the attention of a portion of the crowd, which included visitors from Myrtle Point, Bandon and Marshfield.

Light refreshments were served in the banquet hall just before midnight to close a most enjoyable party.

SOCIAL NOTES

In observing their twelfth wedding anniversary, which was on Friday, April 28th, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Martin entertained a number of friends that evening at an interesting bridge party at their home on Coquille Heights. Attractive bouquets of purple iris and yellow doricums were used about the room, where also refreshments were served following several hands of contract. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roy, of Marshfield, carried away both the ladies' and gentlemen's prizes for highest score. Included at this delightful occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames C. D. Walker, R. L. Stewart, Louis Charneski, D. E. Rackleff, E. L. Vinton, Kenneth Medford and J. E. Roy and Mrs. M. Earl Wilson.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Kenneth Kistner entertained for dinner dessert the members of the Entre Nous Club and a few additional guests. Much to the hostess' surprise, the ladies arranged for a shower which they gave her that evening. Mrs. Thrift and Mrs. Vinton were high score holders and were each given a prize gift. Extra guests that evening were Mesdames Marie McGilvery, Hal W. Pierce, E. R. Barnes, George Anderson, Frank Thrift and E. A. Walker. Members were Mesdames E. L. Vinton, Julius Ruble, C. D. Walker, Harry H. Oerding, Donald Estes, Walter Litzenger and F. C. Hudson.

On Wednesday afternoon at the Episcopal Parish house the Woman's Guild met for their regular weekly meeting with Mrs. C. T. Selbig and Mrs. Muri Pettit as hostesses. Attending were Mesdames Geo. Lorenz, E. L. Vinton, W. H. Mansell, J. W. Laird, E. A. Woodard, Annie J. Robinson, Nels Osmundson, Charles Hodgdon, Geo. W. Taylor, Sr. and C. K. Norcott.

Last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Martin, their neighborhood contract club members enjoyed a few hours together. The club members are Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Rackleff and the hosts of that evening.

This afternoon Mrs. Lee Hand is entertaining the O. D. O. Club ladies at her home on Taylor street. During the late afternoon hours the hostess will serve refreshments to the following members: Mesdames L. A. Christensen, Guss Tillman, H. G. Prey, B. B. Sanders, Fred Kunz, C. W. Gane, John-Jayes, Geo. Sherwood and Grant Wilcox.

Yesterday at the home of Mrs. Lyman Carrier, several of the Just-amere club ladies entertained the other members at a delicious luncheon which was followed by the afternoon spent in sewing and conversation. Bouquets of mixed spring flowers were used about the rooms and on the luncheon table where covers were laid for Mesdames J. A. Lamb, Bert Folsom, H. A. Young, C. J. Fuhrman, Nels Osmundson, W. S. Sickles, M. O. Hawkins, J. L. Smith, Paul Van Scoy, F. L. Greenough, R. A. Wernich, Hal W. Pierce, O. C. Sanford and Lyman Carrier.

Members of the Needle Workers club enjoyed Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Wimer on South Henry street. Coral bells were used in decorating the home for the occasion. Refreshments were served to the following ladies: Mesdames Fred Hickok, W. E. Cross, C. C. Bonniksen, Joe Ruble, Frank Pook, E. C. Yarbrough, George Gilman, Frank F. Schram, Jack Arndt and Ed Detlefson. At this meeting Mrs. Pook invited the ladies to meet at her home in two weeks.

As usual May, 1933, is proving to be one of the most disappointing months of the year. The blossom month in most parts of the country produces beautiful weather, but rain is the rule in western Oregon, and there has been more than a week of it. In fact the fine days since last fall could all be crowded into a three weeks' period. Total rainfall since Sept. 1, has now reached 64 inches, an increase of 1.5 over the 1931-32 season's total of 62.5.

To Wed Next Month

The engagement of Miss Hazel Davis to Mr. Osborn Nulf was very cleverly announced by her sister, Miss Ethel Davis, at a social gathering this week. Miss Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davis. Mr. Nulf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nulf, of Lefevre. He is employed by Swift & Co. at the present time. The young couple expect to be married some time in June.
