The "gadget" is a little machine that shows the difference between ordinary cord, used in other tires, and Super-swist cord, used in Goodyears. . . That difference is in the stretch and come-back—you can see how Super-swist cord stretches and comes back, how the cord in other tires loses its life and elasticity. . . It takes about 3 minutes to tell the story—but as this customer said—"If every car owner could see that demonstration, there wouldn't be anything used but Goodyear Tires."

Baptists Enjoy Social Evening

It was one of the best social evenings which the Baptist church has held for some time and was enjoyed by a large company Wednesday evening at the church. A little after six they sat down together as one big family to eat supper and the people remained at the tables for over two hours. An impromptu program was given and it was surprising how everyone enjoyed participating. Even the smallest had some offerings, and the older ones did not hesitate to entertain others. Rev. Mr. Wunvig was present and delighted all by vocal solos accompanied on his harp which he carries in his car. He is from Roseburg and will conduct the services next Sunday morning at the church.

The occasion was to bid farewell to Captain G. L. Hall who has been temporarily supplying the pulpit and preaching at many outlying points tributary to Coquille. All personally extended their appreciation to him for his services while here. This is not the first time the Rev. Mr. Hall has been in Coquille and helped with the church work. He is a missionary and travels out over the whole state going to places where there are small fields and preaching where there are no ministers.

Christian Endeavor Banquet

The Intermediate Christian Endeavors enjoyed a banquet in the Church of Christ dining room last Tuesday evening. The table was decorated with spring flowers and a bounteous feed was spread on the table. Gladys Williams was toast mistress. Talks were given by those who recently returned from the state Christian Endeavor convention in Eugene. Everyone had a good time and resolved to attend the next state convention. After the banquet a business meeting was held. Those attending were Gladys Williams, Margaret Staninger, Barbara Kelley, Dorothy Yarbrough, June Hickam, Vera Gaslin, Geneva Agostino, Maxine Simpson, Vada Swinney, Everett Seeley, Avery Corbs, Bob Bailey and Earl Shinn.

Coos County Fox Breeders to Meet Sunday

An all-day meeting of Coos county's fur breeders and their wives will be held on Sunday, May 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Barrows, whose fox farm is above Bullard's ferry on the north bank road. The regular monthly business of the local fur breeders association will be transacted. Speeches and discussions will be taken part in by many of the local breeders. In addition to this, several speakers from the outside, who are actively interested in a big way in the business of producing and breeding fur bearing animals, will be present. Among these will be E. N. Walker, president of the Oregon Fox Breeders Assn., who has a big farm at Gresham, Oregon. Eugene Finlay, secretary and treasurer of the state association, who owns and operates the biggest fox farm at or near Jefferson, Oregon, will also speak. There will be others from Portland and Salem, who will give interesting talks; one of whom, Geo. P. Williams, of Portland, is also well known in these parts. He owns and operates, together with his mother, the McKenzie Fox Farm, located on the McKenzie river. He also is manufacturer and sole distributor of the "Marvel" fox feed, with headquarters in Portland.

The officers of the local association are: Josh Rubie, president, of Coquille, C. M. Hartwell, Riverton, vice president; and Irene G. Hartwell, of Riverton, secretary and treasurer.

Anyone interested in Coos county's new industry is invited to attend the meeting at the Barrows' farm Sunday. Picnic dinner at noon, so bring your baskets.

Next Week at the Liberty

Deep into the animal infested jungles of the darkest of the dark belts in Africa tread the famous comedians, Bert Wheeler and Bob Woolsey, in their latest film comedy, "So This Is Africa!" coming to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday for three days.

Not merely one, but one hundred iron-muscled Tarzans, garbed in the characteristic lion skins give these comedians pause for thought and many ridiculous incidents as the story of "So This Is Africa!" unfolds.

Bert Wheeler and Bob Woolsey in "So This Is Africa!" — A Columbia Picture

And not one, but one hundred beautiful, stalwart and blonde Amazon women give evidence of the power of their breed and their deep and strong-flowing passionate instincts much to the embarrassment and suffering of the intrepid explorers, Wheeler and Woolsey, when they brave the terrors of the undiscovered interior of the darkest of continents.

"The Son-Daughter," colorful drama of San Francisco's Chinatown, with Helen Hayes and Ramon Novarro in the principal roles, is the talk attraction at the Liberty Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, pal nights. The picture, a dramatic romance of Chinese revolutionists and royalists in America, is based on the well known David Belasco stage hit in which Lenore Ulric created one of her most successful roles.

The plot of "The Son-Daughter" deals with a Chinese girl in love with a Chinese prince who is in America incognito. As a result of political intrigue, she is auctioned into marriage in order to raise funds for the Chinese revolution. Royalist spies learn of the proceedings, and the highbinder to whom the girl is sold kills her father and wounds her lover. She, however, proves herself more than a match for the plotters, and an ingenious twist in the drama enables her to slay the highbinder and to rescue the prince. In the end they make their escape together to China.

Emanon Club Notes

The Emanon club met last week in the Nosler Apartments with Mrs. Mildred McCune. Sewing was the regular pastime. A couple of our members are following the seeming trend of the rest of the world—going to the dogs. Dogs of any kind are finding a permanent place on their guest towels. Later in the evening refreshments were served to Misses Agnes Newton, Gertrude Tway, Gertrude Lambrecht, Lena Williams, Edna Robison, Mrs. Maybelle Loveland and the hostess.
